L. PATRICK GRAY NAMED ACTING FBI DIRECTOR

PRESIDENT NIXON withdrew the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be deputy attorney general Wednesday and named him instead as acting FBI director until a successor to J. Edgar Hoover is chosen after the November elections. The White House made the President's intentions known as Hoover's body lay in state under the great dome of the Capitol, where he was acclaimed as a man "who would not sacrifice honor to the public clamor." White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon wanted to remove the politically sensitive matter of a new FBI director from this year's "partisan debate" and thus would wait until after the November 7 elections before announcing his choice. Gray, an assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's civil division, was nominated in February to move up to the No. 2 position in the department occupied by Richard Kleindienst, whose companion nomination to be attorney general has been stalled in the Senate for more than two months. Nixon thus decided to avert tying up the Senate in yet another prolonged and divisive debate at a time when he has yet to win Senate confirmation of Kleindienst.

7 SCALDED TO DEATH ON 36TH FLOOR OF SKYSCRAPER

A 14-INCH high pressure steam pipe shattered with explosive force in a wall on the 36th floor of a Wall Street, New York City, skyscraper Wednesday, scalding to death seven office workers, including three women, in 500 degree steam. The victims were trapped in the spewing steam while working in three partitioned offices next to the wall. The force of the blast ripped out the wall, shattered windows, toppled filing cabinets and knocked loose parts of the ceiling soundproofing. Two of the victims were found pinned behind their desks in the duplicating room of the office of General Public Utilities Service Corp. The others were killed in adjacent rooms next to the wall. The cause of the blast was under investigation. A fire official said the pipe, transporting steam to the roof of the building where it was used to power air conditioners, normally carried 155 pounds of pressure heat: to 360 degrees. "Obviously there was higher pressure and temperature at the time," the fire spokesman said. None of the other 30 office employees on the floor was caught in the steam.

RESCUERS SEARCH IDAHO MINE FOR 53 MISSING MEN

RESCUE WORKERS with gas masks and air compressors inched through the nation's largest silver mine in Kellogg, Idaho, Wednesday, searching for 53 men trapped or dead in a fire hidden in its 100 miles of shafts and chambers. A spokesman for Gov. Cecil Andrus said at least 29 miners were already dead in the 88-year old Sunshine Mine in the worst mine disaster in Idaho history. Another 108 escaped when the fire broke out Tuesday. The fire poured smoke and poison gas throughout the Sunshine's No. 10 shaft, overcoming miners without warning. Five bodies were brought out Tuesday night and 19 early Wednesday to be taken away in trucks.

ASTRONAUT TERMS MOON MISSION "CLIFF HANGER"

APOLLO 16 was a "cliff hanger" mission turned to triumph by the efforts of men on Earth, and its record 218 pounds of treasure contain "a mighty complicated story to unravel," astronaut John W. Young said Wednesday at Space Center in Houston. Young, Charles M. Duke and Thomas K. Mattingly — holding their post-flight news conference — told the story of the $445 million voyage in pictures and words like happy tourists narrating their vacation slides and home movies for neighbors.

PRICE BOARD CUTS MACY'S PRICES, RESCINDS ORDERS

THE PRICE COMMISSION Wednesday ordered Macy's of New York, one of the nation's largest retailers, to reduce prices, then rescinded the order a few hours later "because of additional data which altered the picture on their profit margin." The original order said the store should reduce prices because its profit margin was greater than that allowed under the government's economic controls. Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson told reporters about the rescind order at a midafternoon news conference. The original rollback order had appeared on the regular list of companies with asserted excessive profit margins issued earlier in the day.

U.S. SOVIET AGREE TO SOME ARMAMENTS POSITIONS

THE SOVIET UNION has agreed to drop its opposition to including limitations on submarine-carried offensive missiles in any eventual U.S.-Soviet agreement to limit strategic armaments, administration officials said Wednesday in Washington. The United States, on the other hand, has agreed to revise its position and to permit numerical parity for both the United States and the Soviet Union in their defensive rocket systems, the officials indicated. This compromise, worked out in an understanding announced Monday between President Nixon and Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, is now generally expected within the administration to give a new boost to the strategic arms limitations talks in Helsinki, Finland.

BEATEN SOUTH VIETNAMESE SOLDIERS RAVAGE HUE

THE BEATEN, ragtag soldiers who survived the long 35-mile march from besieged Quang Tri-City vent on a rampage in Hue Wednesday, looting stores and burning a marketplace and cement plant. Hungry, drunk and angered by their devastating loss to overwhelming North Vietnamese armor and troops last week-end, the soldiers roamed the streets of Hue, harassing residents and setting fires. The old imperial capital, already swollen to more than twice its size by the flood of refugees and leaderless soldiers from the north, was a madhouse Wednesday. The soldiers, many of them members of the 3rd Division under the former command of Brig. Gen. Vu Van Giai who was fired and held in Phu Bai Wednesday for investigation of his loss of Quang Tri. Set fire to the big Dong Ba marketplace and held firemen off at gunpoint. A cement plant built with American aid was burned to the ground and police said the drunken troops, most without food or money, were responsible. Loudspeakers blaring from military patrol vans ordered the soldiers to regroup and said that beginning today they would be picked up as deserters.

BOMB BLASTS FRONT OF BELFAST FLOUR MILL

A bomb exploded Wednesday and blew in the front of a flour mill near Belfast city hall, smashing windows over a two-block area but causing no casualties. British soldiers exchanged fire with gunmen in Belfast and Londonderry, Northern Ireland. A militant Irish Republican Army leader said his faction might accept a cease-fire in the province if Britain pledged it would not use the truce to arrest IRA members. The attack on the flour mill was the second such bombing of a major factory in Northern Ireland in the past three days.

Beginning New Dormitory

Major Clean-Up Campaign At Charles River May 6th

"The revitalization of a potentially prime recreational area and returning the Charles River to its intrinsic beauty," are the motivating factors behind this Saturday's "Operation Charles III Clean-up" in Newton, according to John Galla, co-chairman of this Spring's operation in Newton. Galla, along with George Meade, are coordinating Newton's role in the massive river clean-up slated for this Saturday, May 6.

On that day, citizens from Newton will join those from other communities along the "Charles" in one of the biggest protest demonstrations in Massachusetts history.

Target of the massive protest... junk, debris and rubbish in and alongside the river.

In Newton, itself many groups have volunteered for the task. Among the volunteer groups are the American Legion Post 440, Army

He served as Assistant Pastor in Blessed Sacrament Parish in Walpole and St. John's in Roxbury. Since 1947 he has been on the faculty at St. Sebastian's Country Day School.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

McGovern Seeks Support Of Labor and Party's Old Pros

Senator George McGovern of South Dakota, who left the Democratic establishment in Massachusetts in a shambles, now tacitly concedes that his bid for the Democratic nomination for President depends upon the labor leaders and the Old Guard chieftains in the Democratic party.

McGovern probably will find it much more difficult to sell his candidacy to the old pols and the labor bosses than he did to young voters in Massachusetts.

Up to now they have wanted no part of McGovern. They believe he is too far to the left and that he could not defeat President Nixon in a year when Nixon may be beatable by the right candidate.

Firemen Get 42 Hour Week

The 42 hour work week for firefighters, originally negotiated during contract talks in 1970, was approved by the Board of Aldermen Monday night without discussion.

The new work schedule, to begin May 1, would involve a 10 per cent increase in the number of men employed at a cost of over $200,000 per year. Approximately 28 men would be added to the department.

Firefighters have been working 45-46 hours per week this year.

Local 800 Rejects Two-Year Contract

By CYNTHIA BLACK

The third negotiating session between Local 800 and the city ended Wednesday with the union flatly rejecting a new city offer of a two-year contract.

The union's chief negotiator, William Carman, said Wednesday that other proposals had not been resolved and the latest offer, the two-year contract, was "rejected out of hand."

Newton's contract with Local 800 of State, County and Municipal Employees, expired April 30. Three bargaining sessions were held and a fourth, Carman said, is set for May 12.

Louis J. Rufo, the local's president, said workers were not expected to strike or stage a work slowdown. Picketing, he said, was a possibility and would be considered at a meeting of the union executive committee that was to be held later Wednesday.

At press conferences Tuesday, both sides discussed the current negotiations.

Carmen said Tuesday the union was now asking for an increase in the graduated pay increase, as opposed to the city's 2.5 per cent across the board raise offer, and a hike in the city's percentage of Blue Cross payments from 75 to 99 per cent.

MBTA Budget Axed On Motion By Mann

On a motion made by Newton's Mayor Theodore D. Mann, The MBTA Advisory Board, in an unprecedented action, rejected the Authority's request of a supplementary budget of 8.8 million dollars. Mayor Mann's move received overwhelming support by the Board's members and designees.

McGovern's City Margin Overwhelming

All Newton is still talking about the tremendous victory won in the city last week by both Senator George McGovern and his delegate slate headed by Congressman Robert F. Drinan.

The slate of delegates pledged to Senator Edmund Muskie and led by Boston Mayor Kevin H. White, failed in Newton to collect even one third the number of votes of the lowest man on the slate pledged to McGovern.

Countryside Pupils Conduct Book Review

Six Countryside School children, ages 10 and 11, recently reviewed one book apiece as part of their fifth grade Individualized Reading Program. They all are "doing a wonderful piece of work with their books," according to their teacher, Mrs. Carolyn P. Mellor.

The children asked The Graphic to publish their reviews, with the following explanation: "We tried to write them the way professional book reviewers do. If people want to buy books as gifts for children, we think they might be interested in our opinion of these books."

"The Shades," by Betty Brock, published by Harper and Row, was reviewed by Rebecca Chasan, 10, as follows:

"This book is a fantasy about a boy named Hollis who can see the magical shadows that live in his garden. He plays with them and rescues Carl Shade. He gets the Dolphin Fountain, which makes him see the shades, to stay in the garden."

"I think a girl, aged 8-10, might enjoy this book. I think the pictures were very well done, and the author wrote well, although at times I was bored, and the book dragged on and on."

"Trapped," by Roderick Jeffries, published by Harper and Row, was reviewed by Edward M. Levin, Jr., 11, who offered this summary:

"Trapped" is an adventure story. It takes place in southeast England. It's about two boys who go out illegally to duck shoot on some mudflats in the middle of a river. They cannot get back because of a blizzard, and the police must find them with almost no clues. A boy would like this book, especially ages 9-14.

"The book is a great credit to author. I liked it quite a bit. Lock all doors, and put on earmuffs when you start this great book. You might have trouble getting the story, but once you do, you can't put it down."

Another book reviewed was "Incident at Hawk's Hill," by Allen W. Eckert, Little, Brown, publishers, Dorothea Iannuzzi, 10, writes of it:

"This book is about a boy who is six years old. He has a deep love for animals. One day he runs away because one of his pets is killed. The story tells how he survived in the forest alone."

"I think both girls and boys would like this book, and anyone who loves animals would like it. It was very well written. I thoroughly enjoyed the book. I found it a little hard to get into, but in the middle I couldn't put it down. I recommend this book for children 10-12 years old."

Barbara Brenner's "A Year in the Life of Rosie Bernard," published by Harper and Row, reviewed by Mavis M. Heuer, 10:

"This is a book of fiction. Something was happening all the time. It is about a girl whose mother dies. She goes to live with relatives whom she has never met."

"It was very well written and had excellent pictures. I could not put the book down once I started it. I thoroughly enjoyed it, though it was fairly easy. Girls 8-11 would like to read it."

"The Untold Tale," by Erik C. Haugaard, and published by Houghton Mifflin Co., fell under the scrutiny of Richard Maier, 10:

"This book is full of adventure. It takes place in Denmark in the 17th century. It is about a boy whose parents die from starvation during the winter. He decides to go to the king, and tell him of their misery, but he never gets there because he is adopted by a hunter."

"Afterwards, he goes to live with the hunter's sister, and travels with her and a girl."

"Mr. Haugaard is a good author. He writes very interesting sentences. Some parts were boring, but most of the chapters kept me interested. I liked it a great deal."

"Anybody would like it from ages 7-14, and from grades 4-8."

The sixth book reviewed by the Countryside pupils was "By the Highway Home," authored by Mary Stolz, and

REAR ADMIRAL Paul E. Pugh, right, Commander of Naval Forces in the Marianas, was both pleased and proud when his staff reached its goal of $1,000 in the annual Boy Scouts of America fund-raising drive on Guam. Over a month ago, the admiral kicked off the local drive with a $100 donation and then challenged the staff by saying he would pledge an additional 10 per cent of whatever the staff donated. At left is Lt. j.g. James Wolbarsht of Newton, the Staff Chairman of the drive.

Catholic Women Convene 36th Congress May 9th

A number of local residents are participating in the 36th Diocesan Congress by the League of Catholic Women which is being held at the Hotel Statler Hilton in Boston next Tuesday (May 9th).

Key-noting the Congress is His Excellency Humberto S. Medeiros, Archbishop of Boston, who is sharing the speakers platform with Rev. James J. Haddad, Director of the Pastoral Institute in Brighton and the Rev. William J. O'Halloran S.J., chairman of the Department of Psychology, Holy Cross College. Theme of this year's discussion is "What Happened to the Old Time Religion?" and the ecumenism which has pervaded the Catholic Church has brought about changes in form and attitudes which will be explored by the speakers.

The afternoon session will cover discussion on the new methods in the teaching of religion for the young and will be entitled, "Who Closed the Catechism?" with panel participation by Sr. Mary O'Rourke, C.S.J. Our Lady Help of Christians Convent, Newton; and Miss Theresa Hanley, Master Teacher, Belmont Middle School with Rev. Nancy Wolff, 11, offers this commentary:

"By the Highway Home," a fiction book, takes place in New England. It is about a family that leads a very busy life. They have lots of money, and live a typical city life.

"The father loses his job with the newspaper, and they are forced to move to Vermont to run an inn with some relatives. The story is about a family's adjustment to a new way of life, and how they handle it."

"I think mostly girls would like it, for it is about girls. The book is for an age group of about 12 and up, and I agree with that. I liked the way the book was written, and I enjoyed most of it."

Spring Fling Held by Club
The auburndale Women's Club held its annual Spring Fling yesterday afternoon at the clubhouse on Melrose St. Mrs. James I. Glaser, head of the ways and means committee, served as chairman of the fund-raising event. The club members and executive board had prepared a smorgasbord luncheon, which was followed by an afternoon of bridge. Table decorations were done by Mrs. James Glaser and Mrs. LeRoy Faulkner. A table of craft work was displayed under the chairmanship of Miss Lillian Birrell, and door and table prizes were awarded.

Navy Lt. Chairs BSA Fund Drive

Naval Reserve Lieutenant (junior grade) James L. Wolbarsht, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Wolbarsht of 125 Winslow Road, Waban, took part in the presentation of a large personal contribution to the Boy Scouts of America by Rear Admiral Paul E. Pugh, Commander Naval Forces Marianas.

At the onset of the fund drive, the admiral had pledged $100 plus ten percent of all contributions solicited from his staff.

Lt. Wolbarsht, who serves on the staff, was selected as chairman for this year's fund drive. Lt. Wolbarsht was rewarded for his diligent efforts by contributions amounting to $1,004 from the admiral and his staff.

The chairman of the Chamorro Council of Boy Scouts of America, Roger Pelz, was on hand to receive the contribution from the admiral. Lt. Wolbarsht, a 1969 graduate of Harvard College, served as a Presidential Executive Intern in the office of the Secretary of Defense before entering the Navy in November, 1969. His first duty aboard the cruiser USS Columbus (CG-12) saw him served in the Deck Division and Engineering Department with collateral duties as the Public Affairs Officer. His tour with that ship included a seven month deployment through the Mediterranean Sea.

Then in August, 1971, Lt. Wolbarsht was transferred to the staff of COMNAV-MARIANAS where he is presently serving as Drug Programs Officer. In this capacity, his duties include the supervising of drug education and rehabilitation programs, awareness workshops, and the Navy exemption program and surveillance and detection of drug usage.

Parishes throughout the Archdiocese will send delegates to attend the discussions. Local residents serving on the Board Committees include Mrs. Angelo Traniello, Membership Chairman, of Waban; Mrs. Peter Reuter, Newton Centre; Mrs. George Shannon, formerly of Newton Centre and now Hyannisport; Miss Eleanor Murphy; Miss Florence and Miss Reubenna Hickey of Newtonville.

Mayor Vetoes Design Review

Due to portions he considered "unclear," Mayor Theodore D. Mann has vetoed the Designer Selection and Review ordinance that was approved by the Board of Aldermen last month.

The mayor pointed out that the problems he saw were in the Designer Selection Committee provision of the ordinance, and urged that speedy action be taken to implement the Designer Selection Committee, which would aid the mayor in selecting architects for city projects.

Since both provisions were in one ordinance, the mayor had to veto the entire package. His message stated that he felt the Designer Selection proposal was "consistent with good planning" and would "eliminate delays and provide the city with good architects."

In reference to the review committee, Mann asked that safeguards be written in to the ordinance to guard against a conflict of responsibilities between the committee and the public building commissioner. He said a time period should be established in which the review would be conducted, and said he felt it was unnecessary that the city planning director be required to sit on the committee.

The matter was referred to a special subcommittee of the city's Recodification Committee at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen Monday night. At least seven days must elapse before the board can take action on veto.

Auction/Flea Market At Lourdes May 13

Earth Day At Davis School

Ecology became more than just a word at Davis Elementary School last Wednesday; an Earth Day celebration provided the springboard for many environment-oriented projects.

Representatives from each grade level recycled newspaper, scraps of construction paper, and tissue, in a paper-making workshop set up in the Kindergarten.

The sixth grades, with the help of the Newton Forestry Dept. and Superintendent Kuntz, spent their afternoon spreading loam and reseeding the school's front yard.

Fifth graders went on a clean-up campaign and many designed "Keep America Beautiful" posters. Exhibits, discussions, and a movie completed the Earth Day activities.

Population Total Lebanon has a population of about 1,500,000.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton South High

By JANICE E. KAPLAN

Music, drama, and fulfilled insanity will abound next week as the May Arts Festival is once again celebrated. Beginning Tuesday night with the PTSA concert, the Festival will feature a Folk-Rock Night on Wednesday, Film and Dance on Thursday night, and Theatre Arts and Jazz Dance on Friday and Saturday evenings.

Every day from May 9 through May 13 activities such as poetry reading and student concerts will take place after school. Art exhibits will be displayed all week.

The second annual parade will start Saturday, May 13 at 10 a.m. at Newton High. The parade involves student created floats and just about anything that imagination allows.

Jerry Thompson is the year's faculty advisor to the festival. He notes that the spirit which always pervades the festival is once again present. It does promise to be an event not to miss! Week-long tickets are available for two dollars, and individual admissions are $1.50.

Walk for Development
Newton South's Walk for Development is scheduled for Sunday, May 21. The walk is to raise money for projects helping needy people around the world.

Anyone who wishes to walk in the hike receives sponsors why pledge at least a nickel for every mile the individual walks. At the end of the twenty-six mile hike, sponsors pay according to how many miles the individual has walked. Checkpoint stamps along the route assure the sponsor of an accurate check of how far each person has trekked.

The long walk begins early Sunday morning in Newton Centre. Parents are needed to help with registration and to drive supervisory cars which will pick up weary walkers. The increased number of elementary school participants has made this more important than ever.

The Walk for Development is one activity in which everyone can become involved by walking, driving, manning checkpoints, or sponsoring!

DENEBOLE

The 1971-72 Denebola, the Newton South student newspaper, recently received a First Place Award from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The paper was awarded the honor on the basis of excellence in all areas of content, writing, appearance, and general achievement. High school papers throughout the country compete in the CSPA contest, and about one hundred student papers are annually commended with a first place rating.

The editors have now passed the publication responsibilities onto the 1972-73 Denebola staff. Evan Cohen has been selected as Editor-in-Chief of the paper with Mindy Schlakman as Assistant Editor. The new nineteen member editorial staff represents a diversified and exciting group.

News Notes

The Ecology Action Committee is still an active force in the school. The members are working on individual projects including an attempt to plan a New England high school ecology conference.

A black student union has been recently formed at Newton South. The purpose of the Union is to create a focal point for the activities of the Metro students and other black students in the school community. The Union was initially organized by Mrs. Davis, a black English teacher.

A recently held dance of the Black Student Union involved about one hundred students. The group hopes to start a scholarship fund for black students with the proceeds from their activities.

Despite much indifference to this year's mini-courses, the enrichment classes will be continued next year. The program was initiated to provide a way for students to spend the time which Open Campus allows them. The classes meet once weekly, or in response to student demand.

A wide spectrum of subjects has been covered this year—ranging from Rock and Roll to Big Brothers to Organic Gardening. Members of the community are invited to come and teach their specialty.

Adam Birnbaum has been named as the student coordinator of the Open Campus Program. He will be working with Mrs. Phyllis Monderor, Open Campus coordinator.

The track team has a new look this year with the addition of ten distaff members. The girls were enforcing a ruling that allows girls to participate in any non-contact boys sport for which there is no equivalent for girls. This is the first time that Newton South girls will compete with the track team.

MAYOR THEODORE D. MANN, right, signs proclamation designating May 6 as Charles River "3" Clean-Up Day for Newton. With him is George E. Mead, Jr., Newton Co-ordinator of the Clean-Up Committee. The citizens of the Newtons are urged to participate in the third annual program, which covers the banks of the Charles in the Newton area.

Clean-up -

National Guard, Red Cross and its disaster units, Scouts, Newton - Wellesley Hospital, Lasell Junior College's Canoe Squad, Newton's Auxiliary Police Force and countless civic and conservation organizations.

The debris, once collected by the citizen volunteers, will be hauled or pulled away by heavy equipment.

In this stage of the cleanup, trucks will be provided by the City of Newton, the MDC and the Army. The Army alone has pledged six trucks, one crane, a front-end loader and a pick-up truck for Newton's use exclusively.

To aid in the deployment of trucks, manpower or medical assistance, the Newton operational cleanup area has been divided into four sectors. Sector 1 is from the Watertown Dam to Albernmarle Rd.; Sector 2 is the area from Purgatory Cove to Route 9; Sector 3 from Route 9 to Needham Street, and Sector 4 from Needham Street to Nahant Street.

In a joint statement released this week, Meade and Galla reported that "all was in readiness" for this Saturday's Charles River cleanup.

Both Meade and Galla have been planning and organizing the one-day operation for the last five weeks and said that "if the weatherman is good to us, we'll have a good productive day."

George Meade added that the present river level is very low and this is "very good, but also a very bad situation." With the water levels down, much more debris can be spotted for removal by boats or cranes from shore.

The Newton Police will monitor the mud involved.

Meade as well as Galla, urge all Newton residents to take part on this Saturday's clean-up. To sum up, John Galla simply said "we are asking you to come and vote with your presence for a clean river."

The cleanup operation will be held between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Report anywhere along the 14 miles of the river that flows through Newton or stop in at the MDC Riverside Station on Commonwealth Avenue, next to the Marriott to be assigned. "Equip yourselves with boots, gloves and trash bags and have a good time of it," commented Meade, while Galla added "leave the natural debris for the turtles and ducks, just get the manmade junk piled where trucks can carry it away."

LWV Members At National Convention

Four members of the League of Women Voters of Newton are attending the National Convention of the League of Women Voters of the United States in Atlanta, Georgia this week. Representing the Newton League as delegates are Ellen Lipson, President, Miriam Erlich, 1st Vice President, Susan Green, 2nd Vice President, and Priscilla Leith, Recording Secretary.

Delegates to the convention will adopt a national program for the next two years and will also elect members of the national board for the same period.

Among the items which will be considered by the Convention are: admitting men as full voting members to the League, the extension of the League's current program to cover equal rights for women, and studies of solid waste management and international trade problems.

A report on the National Convention will be made to Newton League members at the Annual Meeting by Susan Green. This year's Annual Meeting will be held on Wednesday, May 17, at 6 p.m. at the Newton Highlands Womens Club, 72 Columbus Street, Newton Highlands.

For further information about the Annual Meeting, please contact Ann Donnelly at 332-9349.

Oral Cancer Clinic Here Wednesday

All residents of Newton are offered an oral detection test for cancer, free of charge, next Wednesday (May 10) at the Outpatient Department, Newton-Wellesley Hospital. The hours are 10 to 11:30 a.m., 1 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Call Mrs. Jean Dickson at 235-0135, the Wellesley Board of Health, and make an appointment.

Mrs. Dickson, who is Wellesley's Public Health Nurse, is a member of the Public Education Committee of the Metropolitan Unit of the American Cancer Society, which is sponsoring the test program in cooperation with Dr. J. Henry Stempien, chief of oral surgery at Newton-Wellesley and Miss Elizabeth Porter, Outpatient supervisor.

Oral cancer accounts for 3 per cent of all cancer in men and 2 per cent women. The tragedy is that it occurs at all because it is so easily detectable.

The detection test is a matter of but five minutes for an oral surgeon to examine the mouth and glands in the throat.

In a recent similar community test, one third of those

The Death Penalty

Defendants convicted of murder in Massachusetts by juries which do not recommend clemency are still being sentenced to die in the electric chair. The judges who pass the death sentence merely follow the law.

They know there hasn't been an execution in this State in a quarter of a century and some of them, if asked, might be disposed to express the opinion there'll never be another execution here.

New York State abolished the electric chair in 1965 except for the murder of an on-duty police officer or for a murder committed by a convict serving a life sentence. The other day two men were convicted in New York for the murder of a police officer on duty. The pair were sentenced to death, the first sentence of its kind in New York since 1965.

In California a fight to restore capital punishment won an initial round victory when the State Senate's judiciary committee by a strong margin approved an amendment to the State Constitution. The amendment would reject a State Supreme Court ruling that the death penalty is cruel and unusual punishment, if it is finally approved by the California voters.

This year the New York State Assembly found a bill to restore capital punishment had actually gotten out of committee. Every year a bill of that intent has been introduced since the 1965 law was passed. Every year it has been lost in committee. This year Empire State legislators are finding pressure rising as the number of murders keep mounting.

Eventually, it is hoped, the entire matter of capital punishment will become moot on a decision of the U.S. Supreme Court. The matter has now been before that august body for a long time. Admittedly, it is a difficult decision. Admittedly, it is one of tremendous importance.

Sooner or later, the court must rule. If its nine justices are in any way sensitive to the situation now developing in many states, they must realize that further delay and procrastination serve no good purpose. The sooner it rules, the better it will be for the entire nation.

Screens That Grow

The State Department of Public Works has 29 depots scattered at strategic points across the Commonwealth, most of them just off well-traveled highways. Definitely they are not beauty spots.

However, they are just as necessary as the broom closets in the most meticulously maintained high-priced hotel. Their clutter of snow-plows, sanders, sweepers and work trucks are no more aesthetically appealing than the hotel broom closets with their mops and pails, vacuum cleaners and dusters.

One of the prime supervisory tasks of hotel housekeepers is to impress on their staffs that the storage of the cleaning equipment must be hidden as much as possible from the guests' eyes. "Keep those doors closed," they direct their help.

Now the Public Works Department is adopting the hotel psychology. It can't build high fences around those maintenance depots. They'd be more unsightly than the existing raw view.

Instead, the department will plant evergreen and shade trees around the depots, particularly in the areas open to public view. It's a good idea.

Despite tough State and Federal laws, the war against signboards is still far from won. They are not dying out easily. Like crabgrass and weeds they seem to build a resistance to measures which would destroy them.

DPW Commissioner Bruce Campbell estimates the tree plantings, only part of a program to screen off those eye-sore depots, will cost about $125,000. Even for a State that's supposed to be in a critical financial condition that seems to be a reasonable figure.

Maybe, if it isn't a violation of the law, the same idea could be applied to hastening the disappearance of those hardy signboards that still survive. We don't know how many evergreens or shade trees would be needed to screen off the signboards but they'd be a lot more interesting and easier on the eyes.

MeetWithGBARC Representatives

A group of Newton residents recently met at the Charles River Workshop in Needham with William Perry of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children, Gerald Peterson, Director of Special Education in Newton Public Schools, Mrs. Lucy Chansky, Chairman of the Newton GBARC Division, and Col. Earle Mountain, Director of the Charles River Workshop, to discuss new residential facilities for retarded in Newton.

The parents spoke of the high cost of existing facilities and the severely overcrowded and undesirable conditions in state homes. The spoke of the worries of parents who have kept retarded children at home, and of what becomes of these children if the parents are no longer able to care for them.

During the meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shore and Mrs. Jenny Crowder were appointed Co-Chairman, Mrs. Debby Spitzberg, Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Arline Weyler, Recording Secretary, and Mrs. Corrine DiSabato, Publicity of the new-formed group.

A meeting is planned for next Wednesday (May 11), which is open to the public.

ALMOST INEVITABLE!

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS-

McGovern, in turn, has tried to steamroller the Old Guard and the labor leaders, and he succeeded in Massachusetts and Wisconsin.

Whether the breach has been opened too wide for McGovern to close before the Democratic national convention in Miami in July is a question only time will answer.

Some very seasoned and astute observers predict that an attempt will be made at Miami to draft Senator Edward M. Kennedy and that if it fails, the old pros then will turn to Senator Hubert H. Humphrey and try to give him a second run for the Presidency.

Ted Kennedy is a complete puzzle to the political pundits. One day they believe he would not accept the Presidential nomination under any circumstances and that a draft move would get nowhere. Then there are what appear to be indications that Ted might yield to a draft if he were convinced that no one else would have a chance of recapturing the White House for the Democrats.

To report that the appearance of Kathleen Kennedy on the campaign stump with Senator McGovern caused consternation in the Massachusetts Democratic circles, is one of the under-statements of the ages.

Kathleen is the oldest daughter of the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy and the niece of Senator Edward M. Kennedy. It seems unlikely that she would have campaigned for anybody against the wishes of her Uncle Ted.

One group of political experts argue that it is evidence that Ted favors McGovern for the Democratic Presidential nomination and would not accept a draft. They recall that Ted declined a place on the slate of Bay State Democratic big-wigs several months ago when it was assumed they would form a delegate ticket not pledged to anyone.

Other insist that McGovern actually is a stalking horse for Ted Kennedy and will step aside for Ted when the time comes to do so.

There does not appear to be much evidence to support that latter theory. McGovern, although he has a long way to go to capture the Presidential nomination, may well go to the Miami convention with more delegates than anyone else.

Senator Humphrey was helped substantially when Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine eliminated himself as an active candidate for the Presidential nomination.

Humphrey, in turn, however, is being hurt by the surprising turn being made by Alabama Governor George Wallace.

Wallace, for example, reportedly is the front-runner in Michigan where one writer declared the busing issue is "reaching the point of hysteria." The Alabama Governor is regarded as a "sleeper" in Nebraska, is considered certain to carry Tennessee and Maryland. He soaks up votes which McGovern would have no chance of getting.

McGovern, incidentally, is now considered to be leading in Oregon and New York and gaining ground in California where Humphrey presently is rated the front-runner. Those are important states, and victories in them would strengthen McGovern's position for the convention.

Senator McGovern, of course, has attracted the young voters to his cause and moved up to the point where he is at least in the fight for recognition as the front-runner in the Democratic Presidential race because he is the most dovish of the anti-war candidates.

Now there is conjecture whether it would help or hurt McGovern if the war in Vietnam should be ended before the Democratic convention. It does not seem likely this will happen, but it is within the realm of possibility.

If it should happen, does it leave McGovern without a real issue? Or does it strengthen him as a candidate? There is little doubt that the reaction of many persons to the Communist offensive in South Vietnam and the U.S. bombing attacks on North Vietnam aided McGovern. What if that all ends? What candidates does that help or hurt?

A lot of top-level Democratic politicians in Massachusetts are asking themselves what happened to Senator Muskie and to them.

Maybe, it's just a coincidence, but Muskie's de-

Levy Resigns As Local Bank Head

Allyn L. Levy, President of the Garden City Trust Company of Newton, announced this week that he has resigned with regret, as the President and a Director of the Garden City Trust Company and as a Director of its parent bank holding company, North Atlantic Bancorp., also of Newton.

The resignation was effective April 24. Levy explained that his personal business commitments would be inconsistent with the performance of his duties as President and Director.

"Because of Levy's resignation, he is surrendering warrants which he holds which presently entitle him to purchase 5,116 shares of North Atlantic Bancorp., $1.00 par value Common Stock, and relinquishing all of his rights connected with the warrants.

"North Atlantic Bancorp. has repurchased all of the stock (6,944 shares of $1.00 par value Common Stock) which Capitol Finance Corp., a company controlled by Allyn Levy, owned in North Atlantic Bancorp., at a price of $40 per share. No successor was appointed to Levy's position on the Board of Directors.

John J. Nyhan, Chairman of the Board of Garden City Trust Company, will assume the additional responsibilities of the presidency until further action is taken by the Board of Directors.

cline as a Presidential candidate began on the day he wasted his time by denouncing William Loeb, publisher of the Manchester, N.H., Union Leader.

It wasn't that the average voter really cared whether Muskie or anyone else attacked Loeb. That was evident from the fact that Loeb was unable to deliver any great number of votes to Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, whom he endorsed.

But Muskie's tear-interrupted speech made a poor impression upon most voters. His downslide began then.

Reports Persist Governor Will Accept Federal Post

Reports persist on Beacon Hill that Governor Francis W. Sargent will not serve out his four-year term at the head of the State government but will resign and turn his office over to Lieutenant Governor Donald Dwight who will be the Republican candidate for Governor in 1974.

However, one of three things must happen in order to set the stage for the departure of Governor Sargent from the State House.

1. Senator Edward W. Brooke would accept an appointment by President Nixon, possibly at the United Nations, and resign from his seat in the U.S. Senate. Mr. Sargent then would take over Brooke's seat in the Senate. (That will not happen because Brooke prefers his position in the Senate to any job President Nixon could give him and is a heavy favorite to win reelection next November.)

2. Senator Edward M. Kennedy will be elected President next November, necessitating his resignation from the Senate and causing a vacancy which Governor Sargent would fill either by appointing himself or resigning and having Lieutenant Governor Dwight name him to the Senate. (That is premised on the assumption that Senator Kennedy will yield to a draft and then defeat President Nixon. If that does happen, Mr. Sargent would disappear quickly from Beacon Hill.)

3. President Nixon will be reelected to a second term next November and then name Governor Sargent to a high federal position, possibly of Cabinet rank or close to it. (That is the most likely possibility of all. Political analysts generally agree that Nixon will be difficult to defeat if he ends the war in Vietnam and improves the nation's economy before the November election.)

It is strange that men such as Mr. Sargent fight for election to the Governorship but then weary of the strain imposed by the highest office within the gift of the people of Massachusetts.

That was true of John A. Volpe who battled in 1966 for the distinction of being the first person elected to a four-year term in the Massachusetts Governorship. Volpe then began campaigning for Vice President in 1968, the second year of his four-year term.

In fairness, however, Volpe had served as Governor for four of the preceding six years and had proved himself a truly great GOP vote-getter.

Mr. Sargent seemed to enjoy being Governor more in 1969 and 1970, when he was holding the job on an interim basis after inheriting it from John Volpe, than he has last year and this year after winning election to it.

Perhaps that is because Beacon Hill observers have been much more critical of him since his election than they were when he was adjusting himself to the position and was enjoying what politicians refer to as a political honeymoon.

There seems to be little doubt but that Governor Sargent will relinquish the office he fought so hard to hold if he can swap it for a federal position. Ex-Governor Volpe, of course, took a post in President Nixon's Cabinet which was much less important than the Governorship of Massachusetts.

Lieutenant Governor Dwight is well qualified by experience to serve as Governor. He has been an Associate Public Works Commissioner, Deputy Governor and Commissioner of Administration and Finance and now Lieutenant Governor. He is personable and popular and at the present writing would have a good chance of holding the Governorship for the GOP.

If there is any basis for the reports and Governor Sargent actually does intend to leave before the end of his term, Lieutenant Governor Dwight should try to persuade him to stay on in the Governorship until he gets a tax program approved next year.

Mr. Dwight would take on a tremendous financial problem if he were to assume the Governorship today. The State will be operating in the red starting July 1. The anticipated income for the 12 months beginning then will not be great enough to play the state's bills during that period. New taxes must be enacted or existing ones increased early in 1973.

An attempt already is being made to sell the people of Massachusetts a graduated income tax based on the federal tax, and there is a fair chance enough guileful voters will buy that sales pitch to approve an amendment to the State Constitution next November.

If that proves to be the case, the roars of protest when the voters subsequently discover exactly what they have bought will rock the Commonwealth.

That really will not be the responsibility of the Governor, but if the graduated state income tax is to be utilized in the manner intended, it will be necessary that he make the recommendation to the Legislature and subsequently sign it into law.

One reason Mr. Sargent was elected Governor in 1970 was that in 1969, when he was forced to increase taxes, the Legislature took him off the hook by throwing out his tax program and adopting one of its own. That is not likely to happen again.

Voters To Decide Whether Judges Must Retire at 70

In addition to electing a President, U.S. Senator, 12 Congressmen, State Senators and Representatives, the people of Massachusetts will vote on two proposed amendments to the State Constitution in next November's election.

One question, of course, will concern the adoption or rejection of a graduated state income tax.

A second one, on which there has been much less discussion, would revise the State Constitution so that judges would be forced to retire at the age of 70.

If that amendment is adopted, approximately 50 judges will be forced to retire, and Governor Sargent will hit the political jackpot in the judicial vacancies which will open for him to fill.

As might be expected, some judges over 70 are in a mental condition where they should be forced to quit.

But there are others well over 70 who are sharp mentally, in good physical condition and are still doing an outstanding job in handling the cases before them. Their forced retirement in a body would be a blow to the judicial system in Massachusetts.

The decision made by the voters on this issue will be an important one.

mittee to forego establishing height and weight requirements for prospective members of the Police and Fire departments.

At a meeting of the committee last week, members agreed that setting requirements could be a form of discrimination against members of minority groups that tend to have a smaller body size than departmental restrictions often permit.

Ald. Lois Pines, presenting a report of the Solid Waste Committee, asked that a meeting of the Committee of the Whole (the entire Board of Aldermen) be called to discuss action.

Mrs. Pines reported that the solid waste committee had spoken to a number of experts and concluded that "there is no viable alternative but to repair the incinerator so that it will meet current standards."

She also said that a firm has applied for a $200,000 grant from the Environmental Protection Agency which, if granted, would allow a study to be conducted to test combustible pollutants using the Newton incinerator as a test site. It would take over a year to complete the study, she said, and a "better burn" would probably result in more particulate emissions.

The question before the Solid Waste Committee is whether to await the results of the burning project or immediately proceed with repairs.

The date of the Committee of the Whole meeting to review the question is expected to be set at the next full board meeting.

Guzzi Bills Would Centralize Food Stamp Responsibilities

Representative Paul Guzzi administration there will be of Newton has urged the Committee on Social Welfare "to eliminate the dual administration and inefficient operation of the food stamps and surplus foods program currently in existence in for all eligible people in the Massachusetts." Presently, state;

1. To expand distribution so as to provide sufficient food for all eligible people in the state;

2. To develop information programs to communicate with needy recipients;

3. To implement special services for the elderly and disabled who often don't participate in any program.

Representative Guzzi noted that "neither legislators nor the public can focus attention on these programs until the duplication of administration is ended. By placing responsibility and accountability within one agency greater efficiency and considerable savings should be realized."

Guzzi has co-sponsored two bills designed to centralize the administrative responsibilities of both programs within one department. The Newton legislator stated that with centralized ad-

Area Council On Alcoholism Created Here

Due to the concern about the increasing problem of alcoholism among young people and adults here, a Newton-Wellesley-Weston Council on Alcoholism has been formed and is having its organizational meeting next Wednesday night (May 10) at 7:45 p.m. in the Parish Hall of the Grace Episcopal Church, 76 Eldredge Street, Newton Corner.

By participating in this meeting one can become a Charter Member of the Newton-Wellesley-Weston Council on Alcoholism and help to give it direction.

The Council grew out of an Area Mental Health and Retardation Board Committee organized at the request of the Division of Alcoholism of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health. The Alcoholism Committee was asked to develop a comprehensive plan for the prevention, treatment and control of alcohol abuse problems.

Representatives of agencies involved in the problems of alcoholics and their families, members of the Area Office Staff, and other interested citizens have been meeting together on a weekly basis since early February to discuss current resources for alcoholics in the area, and to fill gaps in present services to the estimated 4,500 alcoholics in the Newton-Wellesley-Weston Area.

Until now there have been very limited services available in this area for alcoholics and their families. The Council has as its immediate goals the establishment of a detoxification service at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, a drop-in counseling and day-care center and a community education and referral service.

Received Service Pins At Newton-Wellesley Hospital

Eleven girls from the Newtons were awarded their 100-hour service pins as Candystripers at Newton-Wellesley Hospital at a reception honoring all the hospital's Candystripers, held last Friday.

Following the presentation and reception at the hospital's Unsen Auditorium, guests were given a special tour, visiting the emergency unit, the hospital laundry and hospital kitchen.

Candystripers, as the youngest volunteers at the hospital, may sign on at age 14 when they act as messengers, delivering flowers and messages to patient floors from the lobby information desk.

Fifteen-year-old girls may become ward helpers, performing small service for patients such as filling water pitchers, arranging flowers and carrying trays.

Since September 1, 81 Candystripers have put in 3,647 hours at the hospital, while last summer 51 added up 1,327 hours of service. Among those volunteering regularly are some who have been giving such service for two and three years and one who has been helping for four.

Contract-

In a letter to the mayor dated April 11, union president Louis J. Rufo said the union was "prepared to be the only group of city employees to accept the same pay for the coming year."

"We ask," the letter said, "only that certain fringe benefits which relate only to matters of health and welfare be improved, and then only to an extent which would reflect a 5.5 per cent increase in our total salary structure."

Mayor Theodore D. Mann said Tuesday the requested increase in Blue Cross payments would cost an additional $200,000 over a $200,000 increase already sustained for the year.

"The cost now to the city is $1.2 million," Mann said. He also noted that if the percentage was changed in one contract, he expected other city workers, also negotiating contracts, to follow suit.

In addition, the union spokesman reported Tuesday that the union now also wanted a 2.5 per cent pay increase on salaries over $10,000, a 3.5 per cent increase on salaries between $9,000 and $10,000, a 4.5 per cent increase on salaries between $8,000 and $9,000 and a 5.5 per cent on salaries under $8,000.

Carmen said the union was also asking for "longevity pay," including a $100 a year pay raise for city workers who have worked over 10 years, $200 for those with more than 15 years and $300 per year for those with over 20 years.

Local 800 of the State, County and Municipal Employees Union, with a membership of 540, represents public works, recreation and water department workers.

Nominated For Post With Museum League

Mrs. John M. Morss of Chestnut Hill has been nominated for the office of Secretary-Treasurer of the Museum of Science Service League in Boston. Officers will be elected at a league meeting next Monday morning (May 1).

"My effort," the Mayor said, "will be to help achieve this relief as well as continuing efforts to secure federal and state revenue sharing with cities. We have to move in several directions if we are to break up what amounts to a syndrome of piling cost upon cost onto our inadequate tax base."

Mayor Mann pointed out that before he relinquished his seat in the House to serve as Mayor of Newton he had filed a House Bill to have the State assume MBTA costs. It lost by a narrow margin and it is coming before the legislature again. The action of the MBTA Advisory Board in rejecting the MBTA Supplementary budget request now heightens interest in the bill.

Mayor Mann indicated that present MBTA service which he considers less than satisfactory in Newton costs local taxpayers more than a million dollars a year.

Pines' Bill Sent To House Ways and Means Committee

The Committee on Taxation of the Massachusetts Legislature has issued a favorable report on House Bill 2909 authored by Newton Alderman Lois G. Pines.

This bill has been sent to the House Committee on Ways and Means for action. If passed by the Legislature, it would reapportion the allocation of county taxes more equitably among the cities and towns in the counties based on equalized property values.

County taxes have been apportioned in recent years on the basis of 75 percent on the 1945 property taxes and 25 percent on the 1961 property taxes. Cities which were established in 1945 would benefit substantially from the reapportionment in accordance with equalized values. School aid is presently apportioned on the basis of equalized property values.

Newton is currently taxed on the basis of $26.77 per thousand rather than the equalized rate of $21.73 per thousand for county costs. Newton's share of county taxes was the highest in Middlesex County last year. Newton's share amounted to approximately $2,384,982. If equalized values had been used for 1971, Newton's share would have been $1,708,938, a savings of almost $700,000.

Attorney Pines stated: "The established cities and towns are currently paying a greater proportion of the county costs than the so-called growing communities. Substantial savings would result for cities like Cambridge, Everett, Lowell, Malden, Medford, Newton and Somerville, whereas the newer towns of Bedford, Burlington, Framingham and Lexington, among others, would pay a fairer proportion of the county taxes. The passage of this legislation would be a significant step toward more fairly allocating the onerous burden of county government."

H. 2909 was introduced for Alderwoman Pines by Cambridge Representative Charles F. Flaherty, Jr., chairman, Committee on Counties, and Newton Representative Paul Guzzi.

Loeb Memorial Fund Sponsors First Lecturer

Dr. David M. Kipnis, a nationally recognized endocrinologist and professor of medicine at Washington University School of Medicine under the aegis of the Martin J. Loeb Memorial Fund.

The fund was established by classmates and friends of the late Dr. Loeb, a 1961 Tufts Medical School graduate and Newton resident, who died in 1968 while a resident in surgery at the University of Minnesota Medical Center.

Dr. Loeb distinguished himself by serving as class president while at Tufts, and before his untimely death from cancer had already published four papers in the medical literature. He also spent a year as a resident at the Boston City Hospital, and had planned to engage in a research and teaching career in surgery.

Dr. Loeb's one regret, he told a classmate shortly before his death, was "not having lived long enough to be remembered." To perpetuate his memory, his classmates have pledged more than $8,000 to date to establish a permanent memorial in the form of a visiting lectureship.

Each year, an outstanding physician will be selected by a faculty committee to serve as a distinguished lecturer at Tufts.

Mrs. Brody emphasized that books can be picked up in all areas of Greater Boston and donors need only call her at 326-3493 or 326-3002 (daytime).

THE TUX SHOP

 By TOM McCULLOUGH
 How about worm fiddling? It's a new sport—it's a bona fide sport. In fact, a man named Robert Taylor won the first annual Worm Fiddling championship before a crowd of 700 by fiddling 21 worms out of the ground. There were 58 people in the field including several ladies one of whom finished third with 19 worms. The bet? You pound a stick into the ground and rub it so that it vibrates. The vibrations bring worms to the surface. Different folks have different strokes, some using an ax handle, some using sticks of wood. Taylor himself used an ax head.
 The difference at THE TUX SHOP, 230 California Street, 527-0459 is service, quality and style. If you are going to the prom, we can outfit you in the very latest in formal attire. Have you considered the Ivory Prince Edward by Lord West? We even have the new black and white ruffled shirt as well as a fine selection of colored shirts. We are wedding specialists too, and will be happy to help you select the attire for your day of days. Open: 8:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., Monday-Friday; 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Saturday.
 HELPFUL HINT: It is best to paint boards of a porch floor with aluminum paint; they last longer that way.

Taxpayers Ass'n Urges An Unpaid Board of Health

The directors of the Newton Taxpayers' Association recently voted to urge that Newton now implement the legislation allowing the city to abolish the post of Public Health Commissioner and establish an unpaid Board of Public Health with an administrative director.
 The action was taken after a poll of the association's membership revealed a sentiment in favor of the proposal in the proportion of 14-1, reported Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., the association's executive director.
 "There would be no loss in quantity or quality of direct service delivered under the proposed change and the city would save not only $150,000 in high priced official salaries but also would not be so subject to departmental pressure for the expensive promotional programs a high powered commissioner would likely want. The administrator, for his part, would gain civil service status since he would not be a department head," Muther summarized.
 The aldermen have been considering the matter since last August.

Keene Officials Meet In Newton

True collective bargaining is the key to achievement of greater productivity by U.S. industry, as well as the way to bulwark and improve the position of the United States in world trade competition.
 That was the gist of a talk delivered recently to manufacturing executives of the Keene Corporation, who held an annual management meeting at the Holiday Inn in Newton.
 Keene Manufacturing executives from its plants in the U.S. and Canada attended the sessions. Represented were top personnel from factories in Chicago; Cookeville, Tenn.; St. Louis; Galt, Ontario; Providence, R.I.; Olive Branch, Miss.; Parkersburg, W. Va.; Sante Fe Springs, Calif.; North Brunswick, N.J.; Greenville, Tenn.; Denver, Wilmington, Mass.; Union, N.J.; Muskegon, Mich., and Aurora, Ill.
 The true productivity bargaining advocate was E.C. Fremont, Jr., chairman of the Emerson Consultants, one of the oldest management consulting firms in the U.S.

Busy Week For Cubs Of Claflin Pack 316

Cub Scouts of Pack No. 316 of the Claflin School had an exciting and busy week. On April 24, the Annual Blue & Gold Banquet was held at the J. T. Steak House in Sudbury. The theme of the event was carried out in napkin rings made by Dens 1 and 2, and place mats made by Dens 6, 7, and 8. Gala pennants decorated each table in blue and gold.

New Group Formed to Oppose Extension of I-95 Into Boston

A new group, the Suburban Southwest Transportation Committee, has been formed by citizens of Canton, Dedham, Milton and Westwood to oppose the extension of Route I-95 South into Boston (the Southwest Expressway).

Although several routes for this road are still being considered by the Boston Transportation Planning Review, the SSTC has adopted a strong anti-highway position with three major goals:

1. Encourage the opposition of any further highway construction within 128.
  2. Urge the Development of other systems as alternatives to the private automobile:
    - a. Public Transportation (including line haul systems, feeder coverage, circumferential service, ferry service, upgraded delivery systems, etc.)
    - b. Commuter Rail (as well as increased use of RR freight service for the movement of goods)
    - c. Sidewalks and bicycle pathways.
  3. Promote a restrictive parking policy for the downtown Boston area.
- Members of the SSTC pointed out that while many American cities are starting from scratch to obtain rights of way, finance and build rail transportation systems (San Francisco authorized a $792 million bond in 1962 to finance a 75-mile electric railroad to connect major East Bay cities)

Following the presentation of Achievement Awards, prizes were awarded to some 20 boys who had outdone themselves in their efforts during the annual Candy Sale held recently. Special recognition was given to: Mark Clark who sold 156 bars; Eddie MacAskill, 100 bars; Jamie Guiney, 72 bars; John Potts, 72 bars; Mike Murphy, 62 bars; and Jon Horlink, 60 bars. A rousing cheer was given to these "super salesmen!"

Douglas Smith, Pack Committee Chairman, spoke briefly to the boys about PROJECT SOAR and Scouting's Keep America Beautiful Day on April 29. He urged boys to meet with Den Mothers on Saturday morning at the wooded corner of Walnut and Commonwealth Ave. to do their part in helping to clean up our community environment.

Charles Baron, Treasurer of the Committee, gave an informal report of the Pack's finances for the benefit of the dads who were present at this Father and Son Banquet which saw a record turnout of some 90 persons.

Cubmaster Ferguson announced that the final Pack Meeting of the season will be held on Tuesday, May 23, at 7 p.m. and the Claflin School, and all 2nd grade boys and their parents are most cordially invited to attend and sign up for the Cub Scout program for next fall when they will be able to join.

The successful evening's program was concluded with sparkling entertainment provided by professional performer, Dave Downs, featuring Magic and Guitar, and ably assisted by some 45 Cub Scouts.

Last Saturday some 20 boys worked together with Den forester, craftsman, scientist, sportsman, showman; Mrs. Hamilton Gilbert, scholar, scientist, traveler; and Mrs. Beverly Smith, to do their part in the spring clean-up. They succeeded in filling 25 large trash bags with the refuse they found in the assigned area.

A comprehensive review and vent of the Health Maintenance Organization, a detailed preview of governmental plans for the improvement and delivery of health care was graphically presented at the Annual Meeting of the 800-member Charles River District Medical Society last week at Sidney Hill Country Club in Newton.

Stuart H. Altman, Deputy Assistant Secretary for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, outlined three areas on which the Administration has focused in its attempt to stem rising medical costs while increasing the quality of medical care.

Dr. Altman listed the three major functional areas as: health care financing, health planning and the provision of health services. He noted that while American health care is the most expensive in the world, "there are nagging doubts that we are not getting the most for our health dollar."

In underscoring the need for increased medical education for the consumer "in order that judicious use of premiums, deductibles, coinsurance and copayments be instituted in any plan for national health insurance, Dr. Altman stated that "the Administration is committed to the inclusion of cost-sharing provisions in its national health insurance system."

He suggested structures for effective health planning. "One way is to provide state and area-wide planning agencies with the resources necessary if they are to carry out the objectives of the Partnership for Health," he said. He indicated that a significant initiative toward the objectives is the trend among the states to enact "certificate of need" legislation.

The ruling prohibits the construction of any health facility without approval of designated health planning agencies. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Dr. Altman noted, recently passed such legislation.

The guest speaker offered that the Health Maintenance Organization concept, an organized system of health care which provides comprehensive health maintenance services and treatment services, "serves as one of the basic components of our fight for quality medical care at reasonable cost."

"The statistics on HMO resource allocation reveal," claimed Dr. Altman, "that HMO's spend less for hospital care, which represents a savings not only in care itself, but in construction costs as well. Clearly, we in Federal government are excited about the ad-tenance Organization." The HEW official cautioned that the Administration does not intend to create a monolithic system of health care delivery. The Administration's policy is simply to provide for a greater element of choice in the type of health care delivery system available to the American public - including the HMO.

"That choice," noted Dr. Altman, "is not now available to most Americans." The featured speaker noted that the Administration's proposals do not preclude the development of Foundations for Medical Care as Health Maintenance Organizations.

"Through the Foundation for Medical Care, the individual physician can devote his attention both to the quality of care, on a more comprehensive basis than previously possible, as well as to its total cost," he said.

"While there is clearly a place for both types of Foundations," suggested Dr. Altman, "I view with greater interest those Foundations which have chosen not only to review but to provide health care services. That experiment is both an intriguing as well as a promising one."

The basic concept of the individual practice remains, Altman pointed out. But physicians making up such practices are at the same time determined to take upon themselves the full responsibility for both the quality and cost of the care they deliver.

"By going on risk through the mechanism of prepayment," asserted the speaker, "they have, as physicians, graphically displayed their own concern for guaranteeing comprehensive, reasonably priced medical care within a system they feel is most conducive to their own professional interests. They intend to take a back seat to nobody in worrying about the macro-level of health care delivery."

It is the success of such groups which will help assure the continued plurality of the nation's medical care system, Dr. Altman told the Charles River District Medical Society audience.

Sounds Warning Against Foreign Oil Dependence

A warning against permitting the United States to become over-dependent on foreign oil has been sounded by a Norwood spokesman for the Massachusetts Petroleum Council.

Addressing the Billerica Rotary Club recently, Alan B. Johnson of 210 Village Road East, said, "Some Americans, including a number in high office, ask why we need to be concerned about a healthy domestic producing industry. They ask - Why not look up our own reserves - saving them for an emergency - while importing more foreign oil?"

Johnson, a Salesman for Phillips Petroleum Company, commented that this proposition may sound logical, but then pointed out that prices of foreign oil "are rising sharply and supply is far from dependable."

He added that recent action by Middle East, North African and South American nations in joining together to demand and obtain higher prices for their oil should provide proof to U.S. consumers that the low cost of foreign oil is on the wane.

"More importantly - cost considerations aside - there's the question of the security and dependability of supply from the Eastern Hemisphere," he maintained. "Since the end of World War II, there have been significant disruptions of oil supplies from the Middle East and North Africa."

Johnson pointed out that if this country did depend on foreign oil during normal times, then "one by one," our domestic producers would be forced to shut down.

"Thousands of highly skilled people, now working in the domestic producing industry would be forced to find new jobs in some other business, much like their counterparts in the shoe and textile industries here in Massachusetts have had to do because of imported goods," he stated. "Then, what if imported oil suppliers were cut off, as they easily could be? Many years and many billions of dollars would have to be spent to recruit and train new U.S. producing industry from the ground up."

Johnson noted that it takes between three and ten years to develop an oil field even after a discovery has been made. "The nation's consumers

The lessons of the war in Vietnam is that physical power has not worked for either side, and it is not going to end the conflict by bombing Hanoi or invading the demilitarized zone, or holding the prisoners for blackmail.

Fuel Supply Crisis Seen By Newtonite

The possibility of a major crisis in this country's fuel supply was discussed Tuesday by a Newton spokesman for the Massachusetts Petroleum Council.

Addressing the Wemouth Kiwanis, Timothy J. Dorsey, Jr., of 227 Jackson road, pointed out that "there is no indicated emergency. You and your neighbors are not threatened with a sudden cut-off of heating oil, gasoline or natural gas. But this doesn't mean there's nothing to be concerned about."

"In fact, if present trends continue, we could move toward a major fuel supply crisis by the end of this decade."

Dorsey, a sales representative for Shell Oil Co., stressed that government policies have played a major role in creating a climate that has discouraged the search for new reserves of oil and natural gas.

The slump in exploratory drilling has led to a drop in the nation's proved petroleum reserves to meet future consumer needs, he said. "In 1960, known reserves of crude oil were equivalent to about a 12-year supply. By the end of 1970, there were only enough known crude oil reserves in the lower 48 states, excluding Alaska, to meet future consumer needs for less than nine years."

Dorsey noted that the U.S. has vast potential reserves of oil and gas, but that huge financial resources will be required to find and develop them.

Much of this investment, he said, will have to come from sources outside the industry itself. "But people will hesitate to invest their money in the risky search for oil and gas unless there is some promise of a fair rate of return. The present economic and policy climate seems, to many, to be less than attractive."

Multi-Service Center To Open Weston Branch Fri.

The Newton-Wellesley Multi-Service Center will be opening its Weston Satellite on May 5. The announced April 1 opening date has been delayed due to the center's change in location. The center will be operating at the Youth Center behind the Chase House.

The Multi-Service Center offers a place where adolescents and their families can go and discuss a variety of problems in a completely confidential atmosphere. Personal and family counseling, drug counseling, emergency housing, v.d. and pregnancy tests, and birth control information are some of the services offered.

Medical problems will be referred to the Newton-Multi-Service Center, with transportation provided if needed.

The people at the multi-service center work on an adult-teenager partnership basis. Center policy cannot be made without agreement between the adults and teenagers. The staff will consist of a social worker, a nurse, and peer counselors. The center will be open Friday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m.

It is the aim of the center to insure the anonymity of the client. A person coming to the Weston center will be seen by a Newton counselor. No name need be given. If desired, the client may be designated by a number only.

An adolescent who comes to the center will first be seen by one of his or her own peers. If the problem cannot be handled at this level, the counselor can call on a backup staff of professionals.

DOLLARS and SENSE

Cavil A. Hill
Vice President

Money management within the family unit should be made as businesslike as possible.

Each member of the family should be given clearly defined set of duties and responsibilities. There should be a bookkeeper, a person who maintains all the financial records, the purchasing agent does the buying, the paymaster pays the bills, writing checks or disbursing cash. The information officer keeps abreast of local sales and "Specials". The Board of Directors — usually the husband and wife acting jointly — is at the top of the pyramid. And young children should definitely be included in the family money management program as apprentices.

Pay yourself first. Put your savings to work at the NEWTON SOUTH CO-OPERATIVE BANK. Inquire about our systematic savings plan at 5 1/4% interest. Our paid-up shares — in $200 increments — earn 5 1/2%. NEWTON SOUTH CO-OPERATIVE BANK, Newton Highlands and Newton Centre, both convenient locations open 'til 3 pm daily. ## Recent Deaths

Laura Ward, Missionary

Memorial services were held last Friday (April 28) for Miss Laura Ward, 85, member of an old Newton family and a missionary for 37 years, who died April 23.
A direct descendant of John Ward, who settled in Newton in 1650 (then part of Cambridge), Miss Ward was born in Newton in 1887, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Langdon S. Ward. Her father was for many years treasurer of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, now the United Church Board for World Ministries.
A graduate of Mount Holyoke College, Miss Ward taught school in Springfield and Medford before going overseas. Between 1914 and 1951 she worked in China under the auspices of the Foreign Missions Board teaching English and music, and engaging in educational and evangelical work with women and children.
In 1927, in an adventure much publicized in the U.S. at the time, she was on a ship that was captured by Chinese pirates while sailing from Shanghai to Foochow. As she had little money and managed to hide her watch in a shoe, she did not suffer any losses. After three days the pirates went ashore and let the ship continue.
Returning home 21 years ago, Miss Ward settled in Newton Highlands, where she worked as a tutor for non-English-speaking students in the Newton schools, and later for the Boston City Missionary Society. More recently she lived in the Walker Missionary Home in Auburndale.
She was a member of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church and the Mount Holyoke Club of Boston. She is survived by one brother, William E. D. Ward of Amherst, and by several nieces and nephews.
Memorial services were conducted at the Newton Cemetery Chapel by the nephew, the Rev. Philip H. Ward of Chicopee, and the Rev. Loy Long of the United Church Board for World Ministries.

He also founded the Congress Insurance Agency, the Safety Finance Corp. and the Motor Club Service Co.
In addition, Mr. Black was the vice president of the Chestnut Hill Co-Operative Bank and the Wilmington Bank and Trust Co.
He also was a commodore of the Bayside Yacht Club in Hull, and a 32nd Degree Mason, vice president of Temple B'nai Moshe in Brighton and a director of the Parker Hill Medical Center in Roxbury.
Mr. Black is survived by his wife, Emma; his daughter, Nancy Simches of Wellesley; his brother, Morris of Brighton; four sisters, Jennie Meilman of Brighton, Sarah Kooris of Sharon, Ida Wallace of Mattapan and Ruth Miller of Hull; and three grandchildren.
Burial is in Sharon Memorial Park.

Alice Olson
Funeral services were held this morning for Mrs. Alice (Anglin) Olson, 58, of 70 Hunnewell Ave., Newton, who died April 29 at University Hospital.
Mrs. Olson was an operating room nurse at Boston City Hospital for 20 years. She graduated from the Boston College School of Nursing and was a Navy Lieutenant in the Nurse Corps during World War II.
Mrs. Olson was a member of the Philomelia Club, a secretary of the Boston City Hospital Nurses' Association, a member of St. Rattigan's Guild and active in work for the mentally retarded.
She is survived by her husband, Arthur H. Olson; two sons, Marc A. of Waltham and Eric D. of Newton; three daughters, Leslie E., Regina M. and Judith T., all of Newton.
In addition, she leaves two brothers, Charles Anglin of Enfield, Conn., and John Anglin of Miami; two sisters, Mrs. Thomas F. Kelley of West Roxbury, and Mrs. Nancy Tymann of Brookline.

GEORGE S. TRETHEWEY

Attends Course Sponsored By Boston Gas

Boston Gas put the men in the field back into the classroom during its 1972 plumbing and heating installers seminar. The four-week program brought together over 200 local plumbers, heating installers and inspectors. Among the men attending was George S. Trethewey of 51 Hawthorne street, Westwood. He is the vice president of the Trethewey Brothers, Roslindale.

For those on the South Shore, the program was held at the company's Braintree office on consecutive Tuesday evenings. Simultaneously, for those in the north and west suburban communities, the program was held at the company's Newton office.

"Boston Gas began the seminars in response to appeals from the men attending them," Joseph E. Burke, director of Boston Gas' plumbing and heating division, stated. "The experts as well as the neophytes wanted the best information available on the best way to do the best job. This program offers that kind of information."

Topics covered during the program ranged from how a forced hot water boiler should be piped and controlled to electronic controls, blowers, thermostats, fan, and limit controls.

Continuing Mr. Burke said, "With the continued help and support of heating equipment manufacturers' representatives, our own sales personnel and the Master Plumbers' Association, we look forward to topping that mark each year. Everyone involved in the program agrees, better training means a better job done for the contractor and better service for our customers. And for us, that's what it's all about."

Silverstein Performs With Newton Symphony on May 7

Joseph Silverstein, world-famed concertmaster of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will be taking time out from his busy schedule of Chamber Players concerts in New York and elsewhere to make an appearance as guest soloist with the Newton Symphony Orchestra this Sunday evening, May 7. In an ambitious and symphonically rich program, Mr. Silverstein will perform two violin concerti.

Though a taxing undertaking for some, Mr. Silverstein's superb mastery of the violin coupled with the genuine enthusiasm he has for the music he will play give him the stamina needed for this auspicious presentation. He will play the very beautiful melodic violin concerto of Antonin Dvorak in the romantic concerto of Mozart, a singing melodic concerto in a more classical style.

Not since David Oistrakh played two concerti several years ago, have local concertgoers had this opportunity to hear a great artist devote so much of himself to a single concert.

Mr. Silverstein, a Newton resident, has been a sponsor of the Newton Symphony since its founding in 1967 attesting to the importance he feels it has in the community.

Michel Sasson, music director and founder of this great cultural asset in Newton, will conduct the orchestra in its performance Sunday evening. In addition to the violin works, the orchestra will play the orchestral fantasy Romeo and Juliet of Tchaikovsky and the spirited Prelude to Die Meistersinger of Wagner.

Some tickets for this concert are still available and may be purchased at the door the evening of the concert. The concert will be held in the auditorium of the Meadowbrook Jr. High School and will begin at 8 p.m. Newton concertgoers should take advantage of this marvelous offering, plus the added advantage of easy parking at the school.

The Symphony will hold a free reception following the concert to which all members of the audience are invited to meet with conductor, soloist and orchestra members. Mrs. Clapper will be glad to provide information and directions if needed. Call 244-0011.

North High Breakfast To Be Held Sunday Morning

The Scholarship Club of Faculty Advisor for the Newton North High School will hold the second annual scholarship breakfast this Sunday (May 7) from 8 to 11 a.m. at the High School cafeteria on Walnut Street, as a major fund-raising effort to assist deserving Newton High seniors.

Richard W. Mechem, NHS Principal, stated that "this particular student activity is highly deserving of wide public support. It is another example of young people and faculty members working hard to benefit their fellow students - the sort of activity we don't always hear enough about these days. I earnestly hope not only the students' parents but the general public will give this breakfast their support. I'm sure they will also enjoy an excellent meal in the bargain."

In the 1970-1971 school year, the Scholarship Club's first year of operation, $2,000 was raised through the efforts of Faculty Advisor Miss Mary Gianferante and the nine student members of the club. Although ill health has prevented Miss Gianferante from participating in various projects of the Club in recent months, her organizational work has been used this year to good advantage by the Club. Valuable continuing assistance has been given by Mrs. Florence Taplin, secretary of Adams House who also worked on the 1971 Breakfast, and Miss Mildred Caram,

The committee had voted to deny the request because of existing conditions of the building, and Alderman Alan Barkin, committee chairman, reported that trustees were "alarmed" by the action and had agreed to correct conditions on the premises immediately.

Barkin described the outside area as a "mini dump" with dumpsters on the premises already overloaded. He said the committee would ask that a private trash collection be made once a week to augment the city pickup.

The circus parade followed the presentation of awards. It included elephants, an ape, clowns, a strong man, a fat man and various stunt artists. Each den then performed its own ring act, which included elephant stunts, high wire walking, stilt walking, snake charming, clown jokes, and capturing a wild ape.

Activities of Newton's Recreation Department

The Mini Bike program sponsored by the Newton Recreation Department is slated to begin operations this Saturday (May 6). The program was offered last Fall on a trial basis and the acceptance by Newton Mini Bike enthusiasts prompted the Recreation Department to offer it again this Summer.

The program is conducted on land off Winchester St., Newton Highlands, at the site of the former City of Newton Infirmary. There are two bike trails, one three-quarters of a mile long and the other a half-mile track. Both can be operated simultaneously, thus allowing two bikes to be used at the same time.

They may register, either at the Newton Recreation Department Office, 70 Crescent St., Auburndale, or Saturdays at the program site.

Parents should accompany their children for the registration and must sign the registration blank. The fee for registering each bike will be $5 and each rider must have a permit, for which the cost will be $1.

Catholic Guild For Blind Held Meeting

Over 200 leaders from all over the United States in public health, rehabilitation, ophthalmology, geriatrics and psychiatry attended the 2-day conference on aging and blindness sponsored by the Catholic Guild for All the Blind in last week at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton.

Keynote speaker of the conference was Dr. Edward Newman, Commissioner, Social and Rehabilitation Service, U.S. Department of Health, Education of Welfare, who commented that "When we consider the aged blind we are dealing with perhaps half of all the blind in our population. Along with most other people concerned in any way with services to the blind, I am fully aware of the wide range of statistical choices from which one may select a number to indicate the gross dimensions of the problem with figures."

He further commented that "In acknowledging that our society has given too little attention to the problems and needs of the aged blind, let me say that our society has given too little attention in the past to the problems and needs of all the aged. But the winds of change are blowing strongly, and a great new national emphasis is being placed upon his whole area of social concern. This is evident in recent and prospective legislation, in the White House Conference on Aging, and in the professional concern that is exemplified by this symposium."

Arthur S. Flammig, Nixon's Special Consultant on Aging, was unable to speak on the second day of the conference as planned. The address was given by George A. Molloy, Assistant Regional Representative for the Administration on Aging in New England, also of HEW.

Highlight of the program was the memorial banquet at the Marriott honoring the Rev. Thomas J. Carroll who was executive director of the Guild for 24 years. Over 300 people attended the affair which paid tribute to the popular priest who pioneered in many things including rehabilitation of the elderly blind and was one of the country's leading authorities on the subject of blindness.

Jackson Homestead Will Host Open House Sunday

The Jackson Homestead, Joseph C. Skinner, and Mrs. Edward Wagenknecht, will hold its Spring Open House this Sunday afternoon (May 7) from 2 to 5 p.m.

It is hoped that a fair day will make it possible for the visitors to tour the grounds of the Homestead and note the progress of the authentic restoration now in progress. Under the supervision of the grounds committee headed by Mrs. Raymond P. Atwood and Mrs. Ralph E. Keyes.

The exhibit in the Homestead will consist of the water color paintings by Sarah Davis Gilbert, who recorded her travels and visions of the world of 100 years ago in her paintings now preserved and exhibited at the Homestead.

In her program notes, Mrs. Orin E. Skinner, Co-Chairman of Exhibits with Mrs. John D. Fox, states:

"Sarah Davis Gilbert, who was born in Newton, had no formal training in art, but certainly an inborn talent that set her travelling all over the world making pencil sketches, landscapes in water colors, and portraits of her friends and of people in all walks of life."

She lived in the magic days of Emerson, Thoreau, and Longfellow and, like them she was a lover of untrampled nature. I urge Newton residents not to miss this glimpse of this artist's record of a century ago."

The paintings which have been on exhibit at the Homestead for the past several weeks have attracted many visitors and Sunday's Open House is expected to enjoy record attendance.

Flowers for the occasion will be arranged by members of the West Newton Garden Club. They are: Mrs. Raymond P. Atwood, Mrs. Harold A. Amidon, Mrs. Andrew S. Macalaster, Miss Sally Pride, Mrs. Garfield Rae, Mrs. Ferdinand Salzman, Mrs.

Vietnam Resolution In Committee

A resolution calling for support of legislation to end the air war in Vietnam in 30 days and withdraw all troops was referred to the Legislation and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen Monday night despite the fact immediate approval was sought.

Board President Elliot Cohen told the resolution's sponsor, Alderman Lois Pines, that the board had approved similar resolutions in July, 1970 and December, 1971, and questioned the necessity of an additional resolution.

Ald. Pines replied that her resolution was in support of pending legislation proposed by Senators Gravel of Alaska, Mondale of Minnesota and Congressman Robert Drinan.

The resolution was sent to committee and an attempt was made to reintroduce it after the board recess. By a vote of 15-7, the move lost.

Thinks Girls Have Rights As Little Leaguers

Note: The following letter was addressed to Judge Monte G. Basbas of Newton District Court by the 12-year-old daughter of Newton Alderman Robert Tennant.

"Your Honor, 'First of all to start off, I would like to say that I do not believe in this women's lib thing, but I am not saying that women's lib is wrong. I'm just saying that me, myself, I don't go for it.'

"As we all know, no one is perfect, and you must admit that some girls are better than some boys, and on the other hand some boys are better than some girls. What I am trying to say is I think the girls in Newton have as much right to play on the Newton Little League Team.

"I wrote this letter because of my father, Robert Tennant; he always says fight for what you think is right and, Your Honor, I think this is very right because some girls were not born to stay in the house and cook and sew and clean."

"What I am trying to say is girls have as much right to play baseball as any boy in Newton. I would also like to tell you that I wrote this letter to you, not because of my father, but because I would very much like to play baseball."

"My brother said that girls have other things to do, but so do boys, like cutting the lawn, raking the yard, and other things. But girls have rights, too."

"I know I sound like one of those women's lib ladies because I am trying to take over boys' privileges, but that is not true. We are humans, too, and other boys say baseball is not for girls because it's too rough, but I wouldn't be writing this if I couldn't take it."

"Girls might be break a tradition, but lots of traditions have been broken. Boys also say that girls should start their own league and maybe someday people will recognize this and start a girls' team."

"I would also like to hear your views on this issue."

"Yours truly, 'PEGGY TENNANT, '189 Mt. Vernon St., 'West Newton'

THIEU DECLARES MARTIAL LAW IN VIETNAM
PRESIDENT NGUYEN VAN THIEU declared martial law in South Vietnam Wednesday during a day of escalated war in which U.S. fighter planes shot down seven Communist MIGs in air battles over North Vietnam and 32 Americans died in a helicopter crash near Saigon. The MIG kills equalled the Vietnam War record for the number of aircraft shot down in a single day. They were scored by fighter pilots protecting U.S. warplanes bombing the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi and the major port of Haiphong. Thieu's proclamation was the first time martial law had been declared since 1968. The really crucial period was expected today at 7 a.m. EDT when hundreds of mines planted along the North Vietnamese coast were automatically activated and the U.S. blockade formally began. To prepare for the move, the bulk of the 60-ship, 40,000-man U.S. fleet stationed off the coast began taking up positions in the north. In Washington, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird indicated that U.S. planes would attack any ships that tried to unload supplies in North Vietnam, including ships already docked at Haiphong. President Nixon announced the blockade in time to give foreign vessels three days to unload and leave. Navy ships joined in the air attack Wednesday against North Vietnam's major port, Haiphong, by shelling from their positions offshore.

TWO FRENCH PRIESTS CRUCIFIED BY COMMUNIST TROOPS
TWO FRENCH PRIESTS who remained with their congregation in an area overrun by the Communists were reported crucified by North Vietnamese troops, the senior U.S. adviser in the Central Highlands said Wednesday. The adviser, Jean Paul Vann, said the priests were murdered last week in Kon Horing, a highland village four miles south of Tan Canh. "They were crucified, Vann said his agents reported to him. He had no other details. Vann also said he had reports the family of a Vietnamese interpreter who worked for American advisers at Tan Canh was murdered at Kon Horing and a sign left on the door that said "see what he can do for you now." Vann said reports from agents operating in areas overrun by North Vietnamese said all males of military age were being rounded up "and carted off." He said 600 men were roped together by the North Vietnamese and sent off for indoctrination.

COMMUNIST ENVOY LEAVES PARIS FOR HANOI
XUAN THUY, head of North Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks, left Wednesday for Hanoi via Moscow and Peking for high-level discussions on President Nixon's decision to mine North Vietnamese ports to cripple the Communists' supply lines. He was seen off by Le Duc Tho, a ranking member of the Hanoi Politburo, who accused Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger of intentionally "distorting" the contents of their secret talks last week. Observers said the fact that Tho remained in Paris, however, indicated an apparent North Vietnamese wish not to preclude the possibility of new secret talks with the United States.

ITALIAN NEO-FASCIST VICTORY MAY COMPEL COALITION
STUNNING neo-Fascist election gains in Italy may compel Christian Democrats and Socialists to join forces again after calling one another names in the general election campaign, political sources said Wednesday in Rome. Leaders of what remains of the Democratic majority commented guardedly on the near-landslide in the Sunday-Monday parliamentary elections in which the neo-Fascist Italian Social Movement gained one million votes, doubled its strength in the Senate and came close to doubling the Chamber of Deputies.

LAIRD DISCLOSES PLAN TO HALT ANY CARGO UNLOADINGS
DEFENSE SECRETARY Melvin R. Laird strongly indicated Wednesday that in addition to mining and blockading harbors, the United States will halt any ships or planes from attempting to unload supplies in North Vietnam. His disclosure of the military steps planned to carry out President Nixon's orders to halt the flow of cargo to North Vietnam at a televised news conference at the Pentagon, Laird also reported no major ship movements in or out of Haiphong harbor since it was mined Monday night; denied the United States was "abandoning its allies" in calling for an internationally supervised cease-fire; praised South Vietnamese troops for a "very creditable job" of ground fighting; declared "this is no time for quitters or talk of instant surrender" among Americans who he was confident were not ready to board "a bugout shuttle." Laird met with reports as Senate debate began on legislation that would order U.S. withdrawal within four months subject only to a prisoner release. The measure was sponsored chiefly by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J. The Republican leadership offered a substitute embracing Nixon's added provision for a cease fire.

ANTIWAR PROTESTS CONTINUE ACROSS NATION
THROGS of angry antiwar protesters demonstrated — some violently, many peacefully — in dozens of cities across the nation Wednesday. Hundreds of high school students carried the protests to Capitol Hill. College youths and other persons unhappy over the U.S. air bombings and harbor mining in North Vietnam fought pitched battles with police, surged through streets on rampages of vandalism, took over buildings and blocked highways. More than 900 persons have been arrested by police since President Nixon announced the mining of Haiphong and other harbors Monday night. Dozens of demonstrators and police have been injured. The protests were the angriest and most widespread since May, 1970, when four Kent State University students were killed by National Guardsmen. Some 500 black youths from a Washington, D.C., high school chanted against the steps of the Capitol. In an action without precedent, Speaker Carl Albert ordered the public excluded from the House galleries for security reasons. Albert told the House that police had information that further disturbances were planned. A House session Tuesday was disrupted three times by outbursts of protesters.

WALLACE SETS SIGHTS ON MICHIGAN AND MARYLAND
GOV. GEORGE C. WALLACE, shrugging off his landslide defeat by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in Tuesday's West Virginia primary, set his sights Wednesday on next week's voting in Michigan and Maryland where he had high hopes of beating both Humphrey and Sen. George S. McGovern. Wallace and Humphrey were strong contenders in both May 16 primaries but McGovern, a victor in Tuesday's Nebraska primary and the current delegate leader among Democratic candidates, apparently held little hope to win either race.

Heads A New B.U. Study On Alcohol

The Boston area has the second largest number of alcoholics of any urban center in this country. Among the states, Massachusetts ranks fourth in the rate of incidence of alcoholism.

But while a serious matter at a local level, clearly — with an estimated nine million alcoholics in the country — the problem is national in scope and is generating increasing concern among the people and legislators alike.

Reflecting this concern is a

President Of Baker Center Trustee Board

Richard W. Mechem of Newton, Principal of Newton High School, has been named president of the Board of Trustees of the Judge Baker Guidance Center in Boston. He has served as a member of the Board since January, 1967.

Mr. Mechem succeeds Robert Lawrence, who served as Board president since 1965.

The 55-year-old Center, a general treatment clinic for children with behavioral and emotional problems, is affiliated with the Harvard Medical School and the Children's Hospital Medical Center. Now located at 295 Longwood Ave., in Boston, the Center is an outgrowth of the Judge Baker Foundation, a specialized child guidance clinic organized in 1917 to aid the Boston Juvenile Court in its work with child offenders.

Awarded by NIMH's National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism for an 18-month period, the grant will help to "sensitize" social work students to the use and abuse of alcohol, and help them develop attitudes, skills and knowledge to deal with the problems alcohol creates, according to Associate Professor Mildred Flashman of Newton Centre of the School of Social Work, who is the program director.

These problems are frequently encountered by social workers regardless of where they work, Prof. Flashman said, adding that many feel ill-equipped to handle them. The new School of Social Work program will be designed to

Unveil Summer Study Project For School Bd.

A list of Summer Curriculum Projects at Newton Schools was unveiled at a meeting of the School Committee Monday night, representing a variety of academic activities to be engaged in by both teachers and students, and utilizing a budgeted outlay of $60,000.

There are 24 projects in all, a total pared from the 37 originally requested by the many departments in the city school system.

They range from a four-week course in primary education for 48 children in Kindergarten through the third grade, to a Theatre Arts program for high school teachers involving course planning for the 1972-73 school year.

Superintendent of Schools Aaron Fink stated that the "summer work curriculum is imperative; we get more than our money's worth from it."

The detailed presentation of the projects was given by Harold W. Beattie, District

Committee Holds Two Lower Falls Housing Proposals

Members of the Aldermanic Land Use Committee decided Monday night to hold in committee two Newton Lower Falls housing proposals and an amendment to the zoning ordinance which would increase required parking spaces per unit from one and a quarter to one and a half. Public hearings were held on a request from the Newton Redevelopment Authority (NRA) for a change in zoning on Washington street property to allow for construction of 60 housing units, and a petition for site plan approval for 30 garden apartment units at 153 Concord st.

The NRA is asking for a change in zoning from primarily Residence D to Residence E. A spokesman explained that while the project was designed to remain well below RE zoning limits, the change was needed to accommodate the proposed 60-75 units. RD zoning, he said limits the number of units to approximately 50.

The proposal calls for a third of the units to be elderly housing, one third low to moderate income housing, and one third higher income housing.

Residents of the area appearing at the hearing asked HOUSING—(See Page 26)

Muther Questions Work-Week Policy

The recently-enacted ordinance reducing the firemen's work week to 42 hours and the proposed police schedule for four days on and two days off appear to exceed the 5.5 per cent federal guidelines policy for 1972, asserted Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., executive director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association this week.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

Terry Sanford Is Darkhorse Possibility For President

The Democratic politicians and voters are no closer today to an agreement as to who their party's candidate for President should be than they were last winter before the first Presidential Primary was held in New Hampshire.

Top Democratic Presidential contenders at this point are: Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, now a bit shopworn around the edges; Senator George McGovern of South Dakota, the flaming liberal; and Alabama Governor George Wallace who is building a fairly formidable collection of delegate votes but has no chance of getting beyond a certain point at the Democratic national convention, and that point is not high enough from which to achieve the nomination for President.

Themes Of Future And Taxes Recur In Mayor's Thoughts

By CYNTHIA BLACK

A foundation for the future and some relief in the present are recurring themes in a discussion with Mayor Theodore D. Mann.

Mann has been in office a little over four months. In a recent interview, he was asked to review some of the things he has done, discuss his job as mayor and talk about plans for the future.

His answers to almost all the questions seemed to eventually wind their way back to a single, common denominator — the property tax.

The mayor mentions it in relation to proposed housing developments, municipal services, contract negotiations, special committees, and school construction. The point, he says, is to try and stabilize the tax rate and increase revenue.

"That doesn't happen overnight," he admits.

While declaring that "the

Give 'Man Of Year' Award On May 14th

The Brotherhood of Temple Emanuel, Newton, will honor Rev. Lewis Lourie at their May 14 Breakfast as their Man of the Year. Breakfast will be held at the Community Hall at 9:30.

The award is a tribute in recognition of his dedicated career as sexton at Temple Emanuel, and service to all phases of communal activities. The date also marks the completion of twenty-five years of service to the Temple.

Policy-

aldermen, to cut eight hours from every third present 40-hour week results in an average work week of about 37.5 hours, to be taken in this case in the form of additional paid days off and which, at the same rate of weekly pay, produces an effective raise of about six and two-thirds percent," Muther stated.

"At this point we are not expert in the legal niceties involved, but we know that the 2-year implementation of the firemen's schedule from 48 hours to 42 costs the taxpayers about $300,000 without counting any possible pay raise in 1972, and that the police proposal would similarly cost about $200,000," he said.

"We are aware that a contract commitment has been made by the previous city administration, that the aldermen have approved the change for the firemen, and of the argument, without necessarily agreeing with it, that the police work full time when on duty but the firemen only off-on-on, so the police should now have what they seek."

"Nevertheless, the police contract specifically requires aldermanic approval for implementation, and it contemplates a reduction below the regularly accepted 40-hour work week in industry for other than some office workers who generally are paid much less. Moreover, adopting a less-than-standard work week for one group of 'out-of-the-office' workers will not be lost on other city employees," observed Muther.

"It is not as though the city had not been treating the uniformed - and laboring - workers well. Even on existing pay scales, and leaving aside substantial increases in fringe benefits, their compensation has been raised at about 15 percent faster than the area cost-of-living index since the current base year of 1967," Muther noted.

"So whatever the legalities, the policy changes being discussed here and at the state house - where the firemen now are seeking binding arbitration in such disputes in order to even further reduce the citizen-taxpayer's influence - mean that in practice the shoe is shifting to the other foot, that more and more the citizen-taxpayer is to work for the government and not that the government work to serve him," he said.

"It therefore behooves the taxpayer to object where and when he can. And in the police issue immediately before the aldermen, we would not only note the possible federal guidelines breach but also reiterate The Taxpayers' Association's support of the standard 40-hour week as National Shrine Birthplace of the Star Spangled Banner at Fort McHenry, Maryland, is a national shrine.

Youth Symphony Orchestra Sets Mother's Day Treat Here Sunday

A Mother's Day treat is in youngsters both in the high schools and with GBYSO.

Most of these students started as early as 4th grade. Reaching out into as much of the youthful community to attend this rare musical occasion is the aim of the parents involved, for good listening — and good 'viewing' of the young at work.

Mr. Gardner points out that, "This GBYSO group is a combination of effort between 70 music educators and Boston University, with the assistance of their Board of Directors. The group of musicians meet every Saturday morning to accomplish some great things way beyond the usual — and they need the support of the communities — not only financially but with an understanding and dedication to becoming an audience. Our world and its media concerns itself with things that go wrong. Sunday's concert gives us all the opportunity to hear something — go right. It needs our cooperative commitment to round out that of the young musicians, their parents and their music educators."

The Newton business community has provided overwhelming support for this special event by financially subsidizing the expenses for the program. The Parents Committee, co-chaired by Mrs. Hazel O'Donnell of Newtonville and Mrs. Bobbie Kravitz of Waban extend thanks to the following establishments for their warm and generous response: President and Mrs. Kenneth Greene of Lasell College, for opening the President's House for the reception honoring the Music Educators; in Newtonville: Blonde on Blonde, Ken-Kaye Krafts Co., Peace Boutique, Newtonville Camera Exchange, Flowtron Inc., and the Newton Co-operative Bank; Nonantum: Fox Pharmacy, Silver Lake Dodge, J & B's, Central Cleaners, Bunny's, Silver Lake Electronics, and Swartz Hardware; Newton Corner, Gleason's Florist; Auburndale; Auburn Cleaners, Lebaron's Hardware and Boulevard Pharmacy; West Newton: Harris Hardware, One More Tyme Shop, New Life Health Food Store; Newton Centre: All the shops within the Piccadilly Circus Shopping Mall; from the music world, Station WCRB, All-Newton Music School and the Newton Center Music Shop.

The Parents' Committee working to bring this program for the community to share in the life of a world-famous orchestra staffed by so many of Newton's (and their) youngsters are: Mrs. Gloria Cohen of West Newton, Tickets; Mrs. Jacqueline Sullivan and Mrs. Sandy Langer of West Newton, and Mrs. Dorothy Blank of Newton Centre, Refreshments; Mrs. Suzanne Wilson and Mrs. Helen Levy of Auburndale, Program and Publicity.

Project-

Program Co-ordinator for the North Side, who worked closely with Director Henry H. Atkins of the Instructional Prog in Newton Schools.

Fink complimented Beattie and Atkins for their "fine work" on the writing of plans for the summer studies, and Beattie himself for an "outstanding job as District Coordinator."

Chairman Manuel Beckwith voiced the official praise that "the School Committee is indebted to you."

Beattie listed four criteria used by him in evaluating the project and in selecting the programs which were carefully chosen to be implemented this summer.

Given priority were those desired projects which: involved students; had city-wide impact; are best done during the summer; and are a continuation of those begun in the regular school year.

Each of these criteria was given equal weight in consideration of the final list of activities, according to Beattie. The cost of the initial 37 programs was $163,000 which was trimmed by over $100,000 following a "great deal of thought," Beattie stated.

He said further that: "Each of the projects is part of an ongoing program in the Division of Instruction, designed to allow teachers to try out instructional materials, and is intended to provide city-wide direction of program development."

There is a project which will enable teachers to work on the "improvement of the music program" for city children, and an "ongoing program of social studies at Newton South High School."

A mathematics program will enable a teacher "to capitalize on the experience of Boston teachers." Six primary teachers from Hub schools will develop a Kindergarten through second grade program which will continue through the fall.

These and the other projects will be filled with participants on a "first-come-first-served basis," stated Mr. Beattie. The cost to the enrollee will be "$2 per day, prorated on the number of students involved," he concluded.

certainly being the bare minimum today for the workers, uniformed or not," Muther concluded.

Penal Authorities

An organization based on Joy street, near the top of Beacon Hill, has some really modern ideas on what we should do about the constantly rising crime rate and particularly those law-breakers who suffer the personal misfortune of getting caught.

The organization calls itself the Massachusetts Council on Crime and Correction. Despite its proximity to the State House and its high-sounding title it has no official connection with any governmental agency. Its hallmark is its prolific ability to get out news releases, particularly when troubles erupt in our penal institutions.

The contents of the releases are all pretty much the same. They follow a sort of monotonous pattern built around the concept that the inmate is always right, always the victim. Most often they contain liberal doses of quotations from a man named Samuel Tyler, described on the Council's letterhead as its "State director."

The Council follows a definite philosophy. Society is always to blame for its own crime problems. Society makes criminals. Therefore society should make its prisons much more pleasant for its inmate-guests.

Recently newspaper editors were favored with a letter from Mr. Tyler. He is aggrieved because one of those letters-to-the-editor missives appeared in "editorial pages throughout the state." It was signed by a judge and two probation officers. It praised the work of a training school for youths who run afoul of the law.

For the edification of the editors, the judge and the two probation officers, Mr. Tyler cites a statement he obtained from an anonymous penal authority.

"I have been in Walpole, Norfolk and Concord," Mr. Tyler quotes his nameless authority, "and the Middlesex Training School is the worst I have ever been in." "It didn't readjust me at all," the authority complains, "right now I'm at Concord doing five years."

The director of the Council doesn't mention the crimes which earned his forthright witness such a wealth of penal experience. Undoubtedly, he felt such information would be completely extraneous and society shouldn't be interested in such trivia.

It's very likely, anyway, that society, which is responsible for our uncomfortable prisons, would be more apt to accept the word of the judge and probation officers over Mr. Tyler and his nameless expert.

Lilac Sundays

The identities of the trustees who handled the estate of New Bedford merchant James Arnold are buried somewhere in Probate Court archives and there's probably no record existing of the hours and days and nights they spent in discussing the considerable estate Mr. Arnold amassed.

Certainly, the many thousands of men, women and children who'll leave an ecologically-disturbed outside world on the Sundays of May 21 and 28 will be too engrossed in the natural, breath-taking beauties of their surroundings to waste time thinking about history.

At Arnold Arboretum in Jamaica Plain, those two days will be known as Lilac Sundays. In bloom will be over 500 different types of lilacs. Some are varieties which are direct descendants of lilacs born in climes far from Boston, centuries ago. Some are hybrids developed at the Arboretum in comparatively recent years.

Those last Sundays in May this year will have a special significance. They will officially mark the 100th anniversary of the Arnold Arboretum, one of the greatest installations of its kind in the world.

It was the property of Harvard back in 1872. It remains part of the university today. The trustees of Mr. Arnold's estate found one of the provisions of his will called for the "promotion of agricultural . . . horticultural improvements. For the purpose he set aside $100,000, a fractional part of his estate but still a huge amount of money in 1872.

The now anonymous trustees carried out his wishes with scrupulous foresight. The persuaded Harvard to use its land and the endowment for the vacant 265 acres of land.

The land, of course, today boasts many thousands of different woody plants besides lilacs. In today's world it offers a sort of man-created Paradise-on-Earth.

If those trustees hadn't found it 100 years ago, it's certain Harvard would have found some other use for it — academic buildings, maybe — or possibly the university might have turned it over to private owners for the construction of homes or even factories.

Lilac Sunday in May, 1972, will bring an inner sense of joy and reassurance to all Arboretum visitors. Those trustees and Harvard have been true to their trust.

QUEEN FOR A DAY!

There are plenty of clearcut losers in these Presidential Primaries, but there are not any clearcut winners regardless of who wins the battles which will be fought in such states as California and Oregon.

This is not like 1960 when John F. Kennedy carried every State which had a Presidential Primary, including West Virginia where he had to beat down Hubert Humphrey 12 years ago, and then do battle with Lyndon B. Johnson at the famous convention in Los Angeles.

Hubert Humphrey, George McGovern and George Wallace each has won a few. Each will go into the Democratic national convention at Miami Beach in July with a respectable bloc of votes. None of the three will have enough to win on the first ballot.

Senator Edmund S. Muskie, who retired from the Primaries but not from the convention or the desire to be President, will go into the convention with more than 100 votes on which to build. Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington is in somewhat the same status as Muskie but does not have as many votes.

New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty and Indiana Senator Vance Hartke all have withdrawn from the Presidential strife and combat and have turned their attention to other matters.

Political experts now believe that either Humphrey or McGovern will be the top man on the first ballot at the convention in Miami Beach, probably Humphrey with his recent victories.

While there are some enthusiastic drum-beaters for both Humphrey and McGovern, the fact is that a substantial majority of the Democratic voters are not really enthusiastic about either of the two present front-runners in the Democratic race.

On one day Senator Edward M. Kennedy appears to be the answer. But it is virtually impossible to pin down exactly what chance there is that Ted will come to the rescue. Persons very close to Ted see straws in the wind — blowing both ways, indicating one day that he will and another that he won't.

More and more Democratic politicians, whose No. 1 objective is to regain control of the White House, are coming to agree with veteran, battle-seasoned Mike Mansfield that the Democratic party needs a new face as its Presidential candidate, that the old ones just don't have the necessary appeal.

A prominent figure about whom the Democratic hierarchy now is talking as a possible compromise is Dr. Terry Sanford, now president of Duke University and former Governor of North Carolina.

Sanford, according to those who know him, has everything necessary to make an outstanding candidate for President, including tremendous ability.

He is respected by Southerners and Northern liberals alike. At this point he might just be the great darkhorse contender waiting in the wings.

Article Says Rose Kennedy Gave Funds To Wilbur Mills

Women's Wear Daily, an unusual newspaper with strong political pipelines, reported recently on Senator Edward M. Kennedy's action in journeying to Little Rock, Arkansas, to be the guest speaker at the Arkansas Brotherhood Dinner of the National Conference of Christians and Jews honoring Congressman Wilbur Mills, described by the newspaper as "a fund-raiser extraordinaire and a potential candidate for Vice President."

The newspaper quotes an aide to Arkansas Congressman David Pryor as declaring that there are only two men in the country who can raise the money it takes to run a campaign. "One is Ted Kennedy because he is a multi-millionaire, and he draws crowds. The other is Wilbur Mills, who is not only called 'Mr. Revenue Sharing,' but who, if he asked, could get a contribution from every banker in the country."

Women's Wear Daily declares that Mills has the potential "to do a lot for Kennedy," including make his national health insurance bill a reality, and asserts that Mills can provide Ted a "ticket with a sociological as well as a geographical balance."

Many McGovern Delegates Can't Afford Miami Trip

The article also quotes a Democratic finance committeeman as stating that it was Mrs. Rose Kennedy who donated "most, if not all," the funds for Mills' belated write-in New Hampshire campaign.

Mills' comment was: "I don't know anything about the donations. Whatever significance it may have — if it has any — Ted and Wilbur did give each other four-star tributes in Little Rock where it is likely to do Ted more good than Wilbur — if he runs for President."

Many McGovern Delegates Can't Afford Miami Trip

Some of the political newcomers, who were elected Democratic National Convention delegates in the recent Presidential Primary, disclose privately that they will not be able to afford to pay their way to and from Miami Beach and stay in a hotel during the convention proceedings.

Several have asked who pays their expenses and picks up their hotel tab while they are participating in the selection of a candidate for President.

The answer, of course, is that the delegates and alternates have always paid their own expenses. Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, when questioned on the matter, declared that his organization not only is broke but is $9 Million in debt. Besides, O'Brien would get himself in political hot water if he paid the bills for a group of supporters of one candidate.

Some of the delegates such as Congressman Drinan and Professor Galbraith will have no problem financing a trip to the convention at Miami Beach. For many other delegates it will be a much more difficult matter.

Senator McGovern, who must get the Bay State delegates to Miami for the convention, probably will arrange for contributions to be made to the contingent headed by Father Drinan so that those unable to pay their own way, will have their bills paid for them.

Galbraith May Be Nominated To Run Against Sen. Brooke

Every test of public sentiment that is made indicates that Senator Edward W. Brooke will win reelection to a second term rather easily next November.

Notwithstanding Brooke's rating as a political powerhouse, the Democratic party will hold a State Convention next month, primarily for the purpose of choosing an opponent to run against him.

The possibilities at the moment appear to be Professor J. Kenneth Galbraith, the economist; former Governor Endicott Peabody; and Norfolk County District Attorney George Burke.

Ordinarily, Galbraith would have little chance of being picked by a Democratic State Convention as its candidate for any office. He has wandered occasionally from the Democratic reservation, and some of the old Democratic politicians don't approve his meanderings.

It isn't quite clear yet just who will control the Democratic State Conventions next month and in 1974. The McGovern forces think they will, but this reporter doubts it. They were interested in delegate places at the Democratic National Convention, not in ward and town committees.

But the old pros may be very happy to have someone such as Professor Galbraith assume the task of battling Brooke. Galbraith probably would accept the Senate nomination if he got it without opposition. He was one of the leaders on Senator George McGovern's state-wide slate.

Congressman Robert F. Drinan, head of the McGovern ticket in the recent Presidential Primary upheaval in Massachusetts, was introduced on television the other night as the new Democratic leader in Massachusetts.

He listed off some of the people who will be going as delegates to the Democratic national convention at Miami Beach while the old pros stay home. Father Drinan's army will be running the Bay State Democratic organization as least during the national convention.

Powers May Get Thrown Out As National Committeeman

John E. Powers, former State Senate president and now clerk of the Supreme Court, may be thrown out of his position as Democratic National Committeeman from Massachusetts.

Not everyone would be willing to perform the thankless duties of that position, as Powers has done, with no compensation. He also is a veteran of national conventions and would be able to advise and guide the delegates attending such a convocation for the first time.

But there is a disposition among the McGovern forces to sweep out the old pols and place their own men in positions such as that now held by Powers.

Father Drinan presumably will be the chairman and leader of the delegation which goes to the Democratic national convention from Massachusetts, and he undoubtedly will wield a great deal of influence with the members of that contingent, who elect the National Committeeman.

Whether he will use that influence to retain Powers or throw him out, remains to be seen. It probably doesn't make all that difference either way to Powers although it is doubtful that he would journey to Miami in July at his own expense to help the delegates if they were then going to throw him out.

Ordinarily, a group which won a tremendous victory such as the McGovern camp achieved in the Presidential Primary in Massachusetts would be trying to smooth things over, but the McGovern backers understandably still have some gloating to do.

It should be remembered they are mostly amateurs. Even Congressman Drinan has been in politics less than two years, and Professor Galbraith is an educator, not a politician. Eventually, they'll get around to thinking about pulling the pieces together for next fall's campaign.

George Wallace Favored To Win in Michigan on Busing

Many veteran politicians in the North may find it difficult to realize that Alabama Governor George Wallace is favored to win the Democratic Presidential Primary over Senators Hubert H. Humphrey, of Minnesota and George McGovern of South Dakota in Michigan next Tuesday.

The answer, of course, is that school busing is a tremendous issue in many Michigan communities such as Pontiac.

Organized labor has launched a drive to defeat Wallace in Michigan. The powerful unions beat back a drive by Wallace in the Wolverine State four years ago.

But political observers report the union leaders now are divided between Humphrey and McGovern and that this lessens the effectiveness of their drive against Wallace.

It would be unfortunate if a demagogue such as Wallace tops the Democratic Presidential Poll in the great State of Michigan, but the political pundits out there report there is a better than even chance that will happen.

Woman's Club Music Committee Final Meeting

The final meeting of the year by the music committee of the Newton Center Woman's Club was held Monday (May 1) at the Clubhouse, 1280 Centre st., with dessert and coffee served at 1 p.m.

Musical Romance, a musical game on composers and oldtime songs was played on the piano by Mrs. John W. Merrill with an accompanying story read by Mrs. Miriam P. Nichols. Mrs. Statton J. Ten Broeck, Jr., former Club President, won the game with a score of 18 out of 24.

Mrs. Merrill is the Chairman of the Music Committee and will continue as the Head of the Committee of Fine Arts next year with revamping of committees to fit in more closely with the committees of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs. Working on this Committee will be Mrs. C. Hassler Capron, a former Club President; Mrs. Francis L. Maynard; and Mrs. F. Earle Conn with a great group of members. It is really a situation of three committees under one department with Mrs. Capron in charge of Music, Mrs. Maynard in charge of Art and Mrs. Conn in charge of Dramatics. Mrs. Conn is also a Past-president. Most of them work very strongly for the Club. Mrs. Amos E. Kent, Club President, made the announcement as she welcomed members to the meeting.

Mrs. A. Leslie Harwood, Jr., the longest-believing living member of the Club was welcomed in as a Music Committee member. She is an honorary member of the Club. The meeting closed with the Club's Choral Group, The Merrilares, singing three selections.

Cape Cod Players To Act In Drama In Newtonville

Preparations are being made for the Fisherman's Players of Cape Cod production of "Father and Daughter" at the Newtonville United Methodist Church on Sunday, May 21, at 7:30 p.m.

"Father and Daughter," an original play by Richard D. Waters, director of the Fisherman's Players, is a powerful drama dealing in a constructive way with the conflict between the generations. A single line from play goes a long way toward explaining the author's reasons for creating it: "It would simplify matters if wars were fought by devils against saints, or saints against devils, but they are not. They are fought by good people against good people, for ideas."

"Father and Daughter" is a play drawn from a page in the everyday lives of millions of Americans. Its stated purpose is to help people better understand each other and perhaps most important, to understand themselves. It is a play designed to bring people together—not in some mystical fairyland of preferred beliefs, but in a pragmatic counter with the real facts of human survival. Dialogue with the actors will follow the play. The play is open to the public and tickets are available on an individual or family basis.

Local Woman Displays Art At Library

Hand-crafted wooden puzzles, frogs, rabbits, bears, alligators, dragons and even an abstract for adults by Malinda Hardaway of Newton roam across the glass cases this month at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre street, Newton Corner.

Malinda gets good results using a hand saw or doing free form cutting on poplar wood. After the puzzles are sanded, selected parts are dyed with non-toxic food color or water color. Then Malinda does free-hand, fine line drawings creating a tranquil dragon, a happy man, a big duck carrying a baby duck, bears that remind viewers of Beatrix Potter's illustrations, a snail and a turtle. The puzzles are then finished with a thin coat of lacquer.

Long interested in sculpture, painting and drawing, Malinda Hardaway began making puzzles for her children. Now, four years later, Malinda keeps busy filling orders for shops and friends.

Malinda lives with her husband, Dick, and their two children, Holly, 9, and Travis, 3. Dick, an architect, is interested primarily in city planning and landscape planning.

The puzzles will be on view through early June.

Local Musicians In Concert Sat.

A synopsis of the play will be presented in an English translation prepared and read by Professor Kasper Myrvaagnes of Winchester. The vocal music for the play, written for male solo and choir, will be sung by Stian Mollung and the Scandinavian choir.

Study-

educate the social worker, who may not work in a specialized alcoholic program, to assess and work effectively with the alcoholic.

"Hopefully, they will also be able to spot the incipient alcoholic so that their work will be preventive as well as rehabilitative," Prof. Flashman said.

Traditionally, most social work involvement in alcoholic problems has been based on the traditional one-to-one casework relationship. Prof. Flashman pointed out. In the new Boston University program, however, special emphasis will be placed on group work and community organization methods of intervention, with particular attention to dealing with the urban poor.

The reasons for this approach, Prof. Flashman explained, include the response of alcoholics to the group work technique utilized in such organizations as Alcoholics Anonymous; the fact that incipient alcoholics are frequently encountered in a variety of social service agencies and can be worked with before becoming actual alcoholics; and that a myriad of social problems in urban poverty areas can frequently be compounded by alcoholism.

To help train the social work students, two full-time faculty members will be appointed, one experienced in group work and the other in community organization. They will incorporate material on alcoholism into the curriculum and work with students, faculty and staff agencies in field placement. They also will evaluate the on-going curriculum and, when necessary, make recommendations for change.

OLDTIMER IS GUEST

Oldtimer Gilbert Roland will play a special guest star role in a 20th Century-Fox television movie titled "The Young Prosecutors."

The service system of tomorrow. Built into every new Volkswagen today.

Imagine owning a car that can tell you how it feels. When Volkswagen dealerships start to receive their computers later this year, you'll be able to drive in, have your 1972 Volkswagen plugged into the computer, and get it straight from your car what's right or wrong.

How does it work?

Every 1972 Volkswagen has a network of sensors and check points built into critical areas like the engine and electrical system.

These sensors work like nerves.

When they're attached to the computer by a simple socket in the back of the car, the sensors relay the condition of vital areas.

In the time it takes a mechanic to collect his tools, the computer checks things like front wheel alignment, engine compression, and battery voltage.

And gives you the results in plain English.

The computer will be at Volkswagen dealers starting later this year, so you can come in and let our brain take the load off yours.

Equal Rights Amendment's Floor Leader

Representative David J. Mofenson of Newton has been chosen to be the floor leader for the Equal Rights Amendment to the Massachusetts Constitution. This legislation, which was given a favorable report by the General Court's Joint Committee on the Judiciary, would add an amendment to the Massachusetts Constitution guaranteeing equal rights regardless of sex.

The Newton lawmaker will be responsible for leading the fight for passage of the amendment when the Legislature meets in Joint Constitutional Convention later this session.

Representative Mofenson hailed the measure as "one of the most important amendments to the Constitution because it reaffirms a basic principle of humanity; that people are equal, regardless of any classification they may be subject to by those who wish to classify."

"I am confident that the amendment will prevail this year and next, and I hope that when the question is placed upon the ballot in November of 1974, that the voters of this Commonwealth will approve it," he added.

Newton South's Steve Schertzer Hurls No-Hitter

Lynnfield is Blanked 5-0 By Pitching Masterpiece

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN

Southpaw Steve Schertzer fired strike after strike past baffled Lynnfield batters with a blazing fastball to propel Newton South to a 5-0 win and treat himself to the first no-hitter of his high school career.

Schertzer was superb, fanning nine enemy batters and rarely allowing the opposition to even touch the ball. The hard-throwing senior is now 2-0 on the season.

Schertzer provided himself with good support at bat, slicing three singles and contributing heavily to South's eight-hit attack. Elliot Loew, Ron Izen, his second triple in the week, Jon Rosenberg, Rich Hyman and Robbie Shanon also had hits.

The Lions slowly put Lynnfield away, scoring two runs in the third inning, one in the fourth, and two in the fifth, until the game was out of reach. It didn't matter, though, because one run was enough. Schertzer was untouchable.

Preceding Schertzer's masterpiece the Lions massacred Lincoln-Sudbury, 10-0, and lost for the first time this season, 4-0, to Westwood.

Lincoln never had a chance. The Lions got four runs in the first two in the second, one in the third, and three in the fourth, chasing two LS pitchers to the showers. Meanwhile, Ken Lourie coasted along through five innings, allowing only two singles, while fanning six batters. Jim Kavanaugh relieved him and pitched the final inning without incident.

Curiously, South's 10-run barrage was not as explosive as the surface evidence indicates. The Lions only managed five hits themselves, but they were timely, and big ones. The two biggest belts were triples by twins Rich and Ron Izen. Ron's smash drove in two runs. The other hits were provided by hot-hitting Elliot Loew, who went two-for-two and scored three runs, and Robbie Shanon, who had a run-scoring single.

What really helped South, though, was not its hitting but the Lincoln pitchers' wildness. LS hurlers issued 12 free passes to Lion batsmen. Noah Young and Ned Moan earned three walks each and their official times at bat for the game were zero.

The Lions' other game of the week was not as happy a story. South was blanked on four hits and couldn't get on the scoreboard despite six walks off winning pitcher Rob Wooten.

South Tennis Team Back to Winning Ways

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN

After a rocky start, during which Newton South's defending state champion tennis team barely squeaked past Newton, was upset by Weston, and lost regular Jack Starr through injury, the Lions have set themselves right.

The big win on recovery road was a solid 3-2 decision over co-defending Dual County League titlist Lincoln-Sudbury. South notched its points in first and second singles and in second doubles.

Lion number one Stan Mescon won easily, 6-4, 6-0, over Sven Ingard, brother of three-time state singles champ John Ingard. Mescon's win was expected, but he played superbly.

The key match was second singles. Sophomore Bill Karol had his problems in South's victory.

The game was a scoreless deadlock for two innings, but Westwood reached Newton starter and loser Bill Cormier for two runs in the top of the third and one in the fourth, and then touched reliever Kavanaugh for a single run in the fifth. Lourie cleaned up and didn't permit a run.

Loew, Young, Cormier and Laurie each stroked one of the losers' hits-all singles.

Despite the loss the Lions are tied for the league-lead with Bedford. The two clubs have a showdown scheduled for tomorrow afternoon through they both have to get past other opponents earlier this week. South's slate includes Acton-Boxboro and Weston.

Troubadors Here Tuesday Night

The Newton Troubadors, who recently returned from a successful tour of New England and New York State, will combine with the newly formed All City Junior High Band to present a final concert next Tuesday night (May 16) at Meadowbrook Junior High School Auditorium at 8 p.m.

The two groups, co-directed by Eleanor Kubiniak, John Norton, Tom Leonard and Marshall DeMott, are selected by audition from Newton's five Junior High Schools.

Works featured will be by the composers Bartok, Randall Thompson, Rodgers & Hammerstein, Vivaldi, and Morley. Also the high points of the evening will be highlights from "Oliver" and "Superstar."

For tickets contact any group member, or call 244-8851 or 244-8852. Tickets may also be obtained at the door.

South third singles player Ken Green, and the first doubles squad of Jim Oppenheim and Ben Cohen both got creamed. Green went down, 6-1, 6-1, and the doubles tandem was buried, 6-1, 6-0.

Coach Bob Franke continued his third singles juggling act, using his third player in five matches, as Newton South belted Westwood, 5-0, to up its season's record to 4-1.

The new face in the line-up this time was Mark Altman, and he responded well to the hot seat by scoring a convincing 6-4, 6-1 win. Mescon, 6-1, 6-1, and Karol, 6-4, 6-1, also collected unpressed wins.

Franke's manipulating was not confined to the third singles post. Oppenheim and Cohen sat match out, Cornblatt and Charness moved up to first doubles, and Green teamed with Rich Kaitz in second doubles. The results were very positive. The first group triumphed, 6-1, 6-1, and the second tandem came out on top, 6-1, 6-3.

The Lions battle Acton-Boxboro, Weston and Bedford this week. The Weston match should be tough, but South revenge is very possible.

Newton Nine Top Brockton; But Err Against Andover

By DAVID SOLOMON

After four straight losses, Newton High's baseball team finally won another game. On May 1, the Tigers topped Brockton 7-3 for their third victory of the season. Earlier in the week Newton lost to Andover Academy.

Against Brockton, Newton finally settled down in the field, and committed no errors. Brockton had six. Newton took a lead in the first inning, and never gave it up. Dave Boyajian tripled to open the game, and he scored on a wild throw from the outfield. Bill Vello then also tripled, and scored on a sacrifice bunt by Ed Becker. Newton got another run in the second when Dave Boyajian singled in Tom King from second base. King had walked and reached second on a sacrifice by Paul Goldman.

Brockton got a run in the fourth, but Newton wrapped up the game with four in the seventh. Paul Austin, Jim Fay, Ed Becker and B. B. Notartomaso all scored in this inning. Notartomaso had the only hit of the rally. Paul Goldman started for Newton and got the win, his first. He gave up one run in four and one third innings. He struck out five and walked two. Paul Austin did the relief work for Newton. The Tigers had nine hits, and Brockton had eight. The errors were the difference.

The errors were also the big difference when Newton lost to Andover 12-9 on April 29. The Tigers committed eight errors, while Andover only had three. Andover's eighteen hits didn't help either. Newton had ten hits. They were never really in the game, falling behind 6-0 and then 8-2. Ed Becker was the losing pitcher.

Dave Boyajian, Bill Vello, and Russ D'Argento each picked up two hits. Boyajian is second on the team in batting, with an average of .425. Bob Notartomaso leads the team with a .476 mark. Jim Fay and Bill Vello are each hitting .333, with Russ D'Argento next at .286 clip.

Tiger Trackmen Win Over Waltham; Record Now 2-1

By DAVID SOLOMON

Newton High won its second straight track meet of the season last Tuesday with a 80½ - 59½ clobbering of Waltham. The Tigers are now 2-1.

Newton won nine events. In two of these, they swept all three places. In the 100, Peter Waxman was first, Jim Shaw was second, and Allan Rubin took third. In the long jump, Shaw was first, Waxman second, and Rubin again third. Shaw jumped nineteen feet, six inches.

There were three events in which Newton took first and second. In the 220 Paul Magliocca was the winner with a time of 24.7. Sean O'Brien was second. Bob Womboldt won the triple jump with a jump of 36 ft. 7½ inches. Bob Hoover was second. In the shot put Mike Wargin got his first win ever. The sophomore threw 41 feet, 11 inches. Peter Dion was second.

In the high hurdles Peter Fulton took first for Newton with a time of 17.1. Mark Seligman won the javelin with a toss of 149 feet, three inches.

Newton Lacrosse Team Loses To Tabor; Then Kills Concord

By DAVID SOLOMON

Losing to Tabor Academy is no disgrace, because Tabor is clearly one of the best lacrosse teams in New England. Newton stayed as close as any other team — better than most — in dropping their first game of the year to undefeated Tabor.

Newton scored two goals in the first period, and built up a 4-1 halftime lead. But Tabor came back in the third and fourth periods to score six times, compared to once for the Tigers. Newton goalie Marty Berman played his first tough game, having to handle twenty-five saves. The Tabor goalie had to make fifteen saves.

Scoring for Newton were co-captain Mark Herendeen with two goals, Ben Friedell, co-captain Walter Cox, and Jay Tutungian.

Two days later, on Friday, Newton won its third lopsided game of the season. This time it was Concord-Carlisle who was victimized. The 13-1 win gives Newton a 2-0 record against public schools. Newton took a 5-0 lead in the first period, and by halftime it was 7-1. Leading the scoring for Newton was Walter Cox with

NHS Netmen Stun St. Marks 13-7 Doubles Do It All

By DAVID SOLOMON

It is reasonable to say, I believe, that never in at least three years has the Newton High tennis team been as happy as after last Friday's win. Not when they beat Newton South 4-1 in 1970. Not when they beat Weston 5-0 in 1971. Not when they beat Lexington 5-0 in 1972.

Because last week Newton won second doubles 6-1, 6-3. Carl Kravitz and Steve Shulman won third doubles 6-1, 6-4 and Richard Yanofsky and Matt Schreiner won fourth doubles 6-0, 6-0. Mr. Jessup said that "our doubles just seemed to work great."

Perhaps the week layoff made us fresher and not so tired. Everyone wanted to play and wanted to win. And it was great to see our singles players get together and play such great doubles." Birmingham and Fentin had never played together in a match before. Kravitz and Shulman never played together in a match before. Mitchell and Solomon played as a doubles team all last year, but hadn't even been partners in practice this year.

To get back to the singles, Carl Kravitz lost in the first position 4-6, 1-6 to R. Harris. Richard Birmingham split with J. Harris in second singles, 6-4, 3-6. Tom Fentin split in third singles, 6-3, 5-7. Joe Mitchell won fourth singles 6-1, 6-1. David Solomon split in fifth singles 5-7, 6-3. And Steve Shulman lost sixth singles 3-6, 2-6.

Last year St. Marks clobbered Newton 13-5. Newton got only one point in the doubles. Coach Jessup emphasized the point that "this was a perfect example of a team victory. It was the team playing together — not individuals — that won. I'm still amazed at how well we did, it was just tremendous."

Due to rain, Newton had three matches called off. These were against Arlington, Waltham and Andover. The first two will be made up this week. Newton also played Rindge Tech early in the week. Rindge could be the worst high school team in the state. The Tigers rested their top four players, with the hope of giving the doubles players a chance to work on their singles games. But there really wasn't much chance. The match was over in about thirty-five minutes, as David Solomon, Steve Shulman, and Richard Yanofsky all won their respective singles matches 6-0, 6-0. A normal match lasts about two to three hours.

In the doubles Matt Schreiner and sophomore Frank Bodengraven won 6-0, 6-2 and sophomores Cal Moffie and Stu Brightman won 6-0, 6-0. Newton has now won seven straight matches since losing their opener to Newton South. Competition for this week consists of Waltham, Brookline, Winchester, Arlington and Exeter Academy.

South Lacrosse Team Bows To Nobles And Needham

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

For a while it looked like the Newton South lacrosse team would come of age long before expected. The Lions won their first two games of the season and were headed for the first winning campaign in school history. But things have gone sour since then, and last week South dropped two more encounters for its third and fourth straight losses.

South's conquerors last week were Noble-Greenough, 6-2, and Needham High, 3-2.

The Lions traditionally fare poorly against the deeper, more experienced private school clubs, and the contest with Noble-Greenough provided nothing new or surprising.

The happiest news, Newton South-wise, was the continued high scoring efforts of senior Roy Linn. Linn collected both goals in the loss and has been the mainstay of the Lion offense this spring. However, even his heroics couldn't offset the hosts' mighty attack.

Noble and Greenough opened the first period with a bombardment on Lion goalie Gary Ross and walked off the field with a 3-1 advantage. The second period was more of the same and after two quarters the score was 5-1. Post intermission play was more even as the Lions tallied the only goal in the third quarter and Noble got the only one in the fourth.

Bow To Needham
The Needham loss was a heartbreaker for the Lion stickmen. Needham always fields a good team for a public school and a South win would have been sweet.

Needham opened the game with a first period score, and that established the contest's tempo. It was Newton South catch-up. Mike McDonald scored to tie things at 1-1 in the second period. Needham took the lead again in the third quarter, but Mark Dixey knotted things again before it ended.

Approximately four minutes into the fourth period Needham won the game on a fluke goal. Dick Valley fired a shot at Ross, but it deflected off Dave Mann's hip, changed direction, and handcuffed the off-balance Ross. South couldn't penetrate to score again.

Newton South, 2-4, has only one game this week, but it's a rough one, versus Newton High, one of the best public school teams in the state.

South Golf Team Rolls Along With Four In Row

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN

Newton South is not renowned for its golf teams. It never has been, except perhaps as sure losers. And that's a surprising fact because Newton is a place where people, lots of them, play golf.

Curiously, Newton High has then been against Lincoln-Sudbury. The Lions romped. There was nothing to get excited about. One in a row never won a championship. South topped Lynnfield in a replay of the rainout. Then more eyebrows were raised when the golfers whipped Weston, 6½ to 2½.

Steve Owens was the key man in the Wildcat wipeout, carding a 38 and teaming with John Ramirez for three points. Brian Corcoran and Jeff Schneider captured two out of three possible points. Jim Rosenberg and Bob Sherman combined for 1½ points.

The season began auspiciously for South. It's opener against Lynnfield rained out. The real opener

The first three wins were pleasant experiences, but the fourth was most gratifying. The Lions faced Wayland, a very good team. And the Lions proved they were for real by clubbing the Warriors, 6-3, to knock Wayland out of a first-place tie.

Corcoran posted the match's low score — an excellent 39 — to edge Wayland's highly touted Mark O'Keefe. O'Keefe finished with a 40. Corcoran and partner Sherman totaled 2* points.

Rosenberg and Sherman, the low scorers against Weston, emerged as the top point-getters versus Wayland, registering all three possible points. The duo of Owens and Ramirez added half a point.

After the convincing destruction of Wayland there can be no doubt that South is the leading contender for the league title.

On tap for this week are Westwood, and Acton-Boxboro.

Newton South Trackmen In 65-65 Tie With Bedford

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Chuck Linda, Mike McKinney and co-captains Charley Applestein and Howie Haimes each captured two events to spark the Newton South High trackmen to a 65-65 tie with Bedford High, last week, and boost their Dual County League record to 1-0-1.

Linda was the big surprise. He won a slow 880 in 2:14.5, but also took the triple jump with a leap of 38 feet, 5 inches, in his first ever attempt at the five goals. Other scorers were Ben Friedell, Paul Bianchi, Mark Herendeen, Fred Whoriskey, John Connolly, Brian Migell, Dick Healey, and Mike Ball.

Cox is now the leading goal-scorer on the squad with eleven goals in four games. Mark Herendeen is next with ten from his midfield position, and Ben Friedell has seven. All three have scored in each game.

the 100-yard dash. The big four accounted for 44 of South's 65 points, but many other performers had a hand in the final outcome.

Senior sprinter Dave Leichook was victorious in the 220 with a wind-slowed 25.1 for five important points.

South second places were earned by sophomore Byron Riss in the mile, Mark Myers in the triple jump, Bruce Brown in the discus, and Howie Frutkoff in the 2-mile. Thirds were garnered by John Mason, Mile, Rich McMahon, 880, Scott Barron, 220, and Jim Paglia, discus.

The Lions led throughout the meet, but just couldn't hold on as the Whalers kept charging until they knotted the score on the final event, the relay.

South has performed well, to date, as a team. The strengths have been in the sprints, the jumps, and the weights, though as usual, the distance events are weak, but in all the squad has better balance than in recent years.

job is the built-in cost of running the city," Mann points to several things that are intended to improve the situation.

The city planner, he said, is currently working on a five-year capital improvements program and steps have been taken through the Newton Housing Authority to secure new construction in the "decaying areas of the city."

Mann says the idea is to "replace" rundown buildings with some that will add to property tax revenue. The planner, he said, is "trying to plan for new properties that are worthwhile and in keeping with the character of the city."

In addition, he said pressure is also being put on other branches of government to improve revenue sharing procedures with cities and towns. Mann is a member of an ad hoc committee of the Mayors Association of Massachusetts that is exploring property tax relief and conditions that exist on the county level and with the MBTA and MDC.

Of the latter, he said cities "share costs without a voice in how the money is spent."

Taking advantage of technological changes in municipal services is another example the mayor cites in relation to property tax relief.

If the municipality can operate more efficiently, he said, it would counterbalance rising costs.

During the past four months a study has been conducted in the city on the pick-up and disposal of solid waste and garbage which, he said, are major elements in the cost to taxpayers.

Negotiations were also begun with a firm that was seeking a grant from the federal government to conduct an extensive study on Newton's incinerator to explore the problem of what can be done with an incinerator the age of Newton's "without having to spend exorbitant sums of money."

The study would give Newton a two-year breathing spell in the mandatory updating of their incinerator which must meet current air pollution abatement.

Mann said that at the very least it would give Newton the benefit of a two-year advancement in technology and "we would have a report on what we could do to bring it up to standards as they are two years later."

The mayor also said he had appointed a Financial Advisory Commission to review city costs and suggest improvements.

Reviewing other programs he has implemented, Mayor Mann mentioned:

— A Medical Advisory Board consisting of physicians, dentists, nurses and related service personnel that attempt to provide "additional health services" for Newton residents. Free hearing tests have already been given and a free glaucoma clinic will be held in the future.

— An Emergency Snow Patrol, consisting of volunteers, which aids police in snow emergencies, helping to direct traffic, push people whose cars are stuck, and set up any emergency services that might be necessary.

— A Cable Television Committee, working on the possibilities and recommending the best procedures to follow to set up a cable TV system in Newton if it is wanted.

— A Street Lighting Committee which will explore the best ways and most economical ways to improve street lighting for crime prevention. $400,000 per year is currently spent on street lighting in Newton, Mann said.

— An anti-drug fund, consisting of volunteer contributions. Mann said $1,000 had been pledged and money had been taken from the fund to pay citizens who reported bomb hoax callers.

— A committee to write the history of the city of Newton in time for the centennial celebration of the city next year.

Mann also was asked what he felt the relationship should be between the mayor and the Board of Aldermen.

He said it is the responsibility of the executive department to keep the Board of Aldermen informed as to what is being done and how money is being spent.

"They have a right to expect and to know that money is being spent in the way it has been appropriated," he said.

"They are there to pass the laws and the executive is here to enforce them and run the city."

"It is important that we communicate and attempt to work together."

for a delay in committee approval.

On behalf of the Newton Lower Falls Project Area Committee (LOPAC), Joel B. Leighton read a statement calling on aldermen to hold the proposal.

He cited project density and the inability of the NRA to employ an executive director as LOPAC's reasons for opposition at this time.

"LOPAC understands," the statement said, "the proposed concepts of the plan for the federally assisted area may be met by a Residence D zone rather than the maximum density permitted in our city under the proposed Residence E zone."

"The failure or inability of the Newton Redevelopment Authority to employ an executive director has made it extremely difficult for the residents of the community, particularly those to be displaced to obtain answers to the many questions which are bothering them," the LOPAC statement also explained. "Financial arrangements have not been completely worked out for all of the residents to be displaced, firm studies have not been made to determine eligibility for various types of housing which may be erected for the 17 family units which have expressed an interest in remaining in or returning to Newton Lower Falls."

A petition in opposition to the zoning change, signed by 60 residents, was also presented to the committee, and approximately 28 people indicated their opposition at the hearing by a show of hands.

Opposition to the number of units and whether or not some units would go to the Housing Authority were raised during the public hearing on the 30-unit garden apartment development proposed to replace the Dolan Oil Co. on Concord street.

The Newton Lower Falls Improvement Association communicated their approval of the concept, but asked that only 27 units be built.

In addition, they asked that 10 per cent of the units be given to the Housing Authority for subsidized housing.

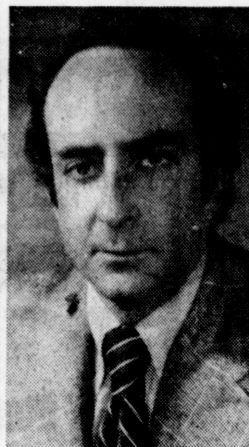

The project developers atorney, Ernest Angevine, explained that profits would be significantly reduced if the developers were required to give three units to the Housing Authority.

According to his figures, profits would be reduced from about $6,000 per year to $880 per year without the additional three units.

He also asked aldermen to keep in mind that the development would bring "tremendous" tax revenue into Newton. Estimated taxes

Fund-Raising Dinner Sun. For The Unitarian Church

Announcement by the Unitarian Church of Newton that it had begun a fund of the Instructional Prog. in expand its income raised a few eyebrows in religious circles.

Unitarian churches always have been known for their liberal tendencies but for a congregation to attempt to increase its income by over 40 per cent in the present economy is seen as optimism (or liberalism) that even this traditionally forward looking sect might consider high.

However, freedom of economic decision as well as of speech and thought is a basic tenet of Unitarian churches everywhere. Arlington Street Church in Boston, another leading church of this denomination was the setting for the draft card burnings which led to the conviction of Dr. Benjamin Spock.

According to a Unitarian Universalist pamphlet, membership "is gained not by agreeing to any theological creed, but in committing oneself to the principles and procedures of the 'free mind'."

Grayson Lane residents also spoke in opposition to the project, saying that it would cause increased traffic and parking problems on Concord street, produce too great a population density in the area, and was designed to be taller than the residents originally anticipated.

Grayson Lane resident Robert Dolan, speaking for himself and his neighbors, said "if the building must come we propose reducing the number of units to 27, reducing the square footage, increasing parking and reducing the building from 35 feet to 25 feet in height."

The Land Use Committee also held the parking amendment to the zoning ordinance in order to get a legal opinion on "problems of wording."

The change was proposed by Alderman David W. Jackson, and Planning Director E. Michael Ferris spoke on Jackson's behalf at the hearing Monday.

Ferris said that in addition to recommending an increase in the number of spaces, Jackson was also recommending a decrease in the number of spaces required

Every person affirms his desire to develop his own worthy creed and will respect both diversity of opinion and all sources of truth."

Each Unitarian Church is an independent, self-governing unit in all matters and selects its own minister and gives him complete freedom of speech in and out of the pulpit. The Newton church has exercised the ultimate freedom in this area by trying (successfully) a system of two ministers.

They are: The Rev. Polly Laughland of 340 Hammond Street, Chestnut Hill and the Rev. Clyde Dodder of 22 Converse Ave., Newton.

Because of the independent status of each church, some congregations end up ultra-conservative, some ultra-liberal. Some espouse the doctrine of the Trinity while others do not.

The names of Unitarian Universalist founders and members of the national church reads like a "Who's Who." Presidents of Unitarian persuasion include: John Adams, John Quincy Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Willard Fillmore and William Howard Taft.

Unitarian literary figures include: Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Ralph Waldo Emerson, James Russell Lowell, William Cullen Bryant, Edward Everett Hale, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Brett Harte, Louisa May Alcott and others.

However liberal Unitarian past history may be, it is for low income housing to one space for every two units. He also asked that "at the discretion of the Board of Aldermen" the number of required spaces could be changed back to one and one quarter on any development where aldermen thought it was appropriate because of the proximity of public transportation.

Land Use Committee Chairman Alan S. Barkin said that provisions on the proximity to public transportation were vague, and suggested the committee hold the amendment until the meaning could be clarified.

The Land Use Committee will hold another meeting on May 24.

typical of Unitarian thinking that Campaign Chairman H. Peter Karoff of 100 Prince Street, West Newton, describes the present Budget Campaign as a "stride in the direction of financial conservatism."

Says Karoff: "We intend to bring our budget giving up to a level that at least approximates those of our other protestant, Catholic and Jewish neighbors. We have programs that appeal to both our conservative and liberal members and friends and we must have funds to support them."

Other Campaign leaders are: John Taplin, Honorary Chairman of 15 Sewall Street, West Newton; Richard Mezger, Co-Chairman of 67 Chester Street, Newton Highlands. Division Chairmen are: Walter Bisselle, Betty Bredin, Charles Colby, Ruth Daniels, Robert Foulkrod, William Gruber, John Gurry, and Axel Kaufman.

A Fellowship Dinner will be held this Sunday (May 14) to "Kick-Off" campaign - parish-wide solicitation. Former Unitarian Universalist Association President, the Rev. Dana McLean Greeley, will be featured speaker. Other entertainment is planned.

Dinner Committee members are: Ann Hartman, Chairman, Nancy Hoffman, Co-Chairman, Faith Kreider, Lucrétia Gruber, Rosemarie Rose, Brenda Roberts, Jane Yoffe, Diana Blood, Ellen Maxwell, Claire Karlson, Holly Zeeb, Kitty Holgate, Hanna Salzer, Beth May, Sandy Bullock, Polly Laughland, Judy Friedman.

This may sound funny coming from a hospital but our goal at Newton-Wellesley is to keep you out of the hospital if we can, in any case, make your stay here as short as possible. Would you believe it — last year various departments at Newton-Wellesley treated almost 100,000 non-staying people. That's 10 times as many as were bed patients and almost two per household in the area we serve — a lot of people walking in and out for medical care without stopping.

Resident Speaks At Symposium Of Babson College

Melvin R. Wintman of 56 Seveland Rd., Newton Centre, executive vice president of General Cinema Corporation, told a Founder's Day audience at Babson College that the movie industry has taken "the full onslaught of television (and) now stands on the threshold of what could be its finest hour."

Wintman joined film critic Judith Crist, director Bill Friedkin, actor John Gavin, and Motion Picture Association president Jack Valenti in a symposium entitled "Who'll Save Hollywood?"

While generally optimistic about the future of the film industry, Wintman warned film makers that "what the public wants in entertainment. No sex, no message, no social discourse, no mirror — just pure and simple entertainment." He cited as examples the boxoffice success of "Airport," "Patton," and "What's Up, Doc?"

Wintman has been associated with General Cinema Corp. since 1949. He is a former president of the New England Theater Owners, an affiliate of the National Association of Theater Owners.

Political Highlights-

Wallace has no chance of getting the Presidential nomination, but he will go to the Democratic National Convention with a substantial bloc of delegate votes.

Stop-the-Bombing Letter May Cost Sarge Nixon Job

Just when reports were circulating on Washington's Capitol Hill and Boston's Beacon Hill that Governor Sargent would be offered an important position in President Nixon's administration if the latter is reelected, Mr. Sargent wrote to Mr. Nixon and urged him to stop the bombing in Vietnam.

Since fellow Republicans don't build character or anything else except resentment with President Nixon by telling him to stop the bombing, the likelihood that Governor Sargent will get a high federal post in the next Nixon regime — if there is one — is somewhat remote.

Political pundits have been speculating as to exactly why the Governor wrote the letter in which he declared that he had become more and more alarmed by the increased bombing and the escalation of the naval and air force activities. They have made several conjectures:

1. That relations between President Nixon and Governor Sargent actually are not friendly, and the Governor was not slated to get a federal job anyway, whether Mr. Nixon was reelected or defeated.

2. That Mr. Sargent is trying to place himself in a position where Mr. Nixon would not request him to run his campaign in Massachusetts next fall.

3. That Francis Sargent is not interested in a federal job, would prefer to complete his term as Governor and hold open his option of standing for reelection to a second term in 1974 if he chooses to do so.

In these times, when there is widespread public dissatisfaction, a Governor who had held office for six years would have a difficult time gaining reelection.

But polls which have been made for Republican organizations indicate that Governor Sargent is still extremely popular and that he could win reelection today if he were running. Whether that will still be the case two years from now remains to be determined.

It could be that Mr. Sargent, after watching John A. Volpe take a position in President Nixon's Cabinet which was less important than the Governorship he gave up, is determined not to repeat the mistake himself.

Lieutenant Governor Donald R. Dwight declares that he, for one, expects Governor Sargent to stand for reelection in 1974 and serve until 1978.

Dwight, who is devoted and completely loyal to Sargent, emphasizes that he will be a candidate for Governor in 1974 "only if Frank Sargent decides not to run."

"I expect the Governor to serve at least until 1978," Dwight continued. "Everywhere I go in the Commonwealth I tell my friends who ask me that I think Governor Sargent will be our chief executive for another six years. My candidacy for Governor would depend on Frank Sargent's blessings."

Dwight added that a newspaper report of a party hosted in Worcester for him by a member of the Massachusetts Port Authority was not accurate.

Lieutenant Governor Dwight is one of the brightest stars in the Republican party in Massachusetts and is virtually certain to get the GOP nomination for Governor when Mr. Sargent completes his service.

But he stresses that he doesn't want it until then and that he's trying to help the Governor, not crowd him. Dwight means every word of it. There are no differences between him and Sargent.

McGovern Denies He Favors Legal Marijuana, Abortions

Senator George McGovern, campaigning in an old-fashioned way from the back of a railroad train the other day, took time out to deny that he favors legalizing marijuana and that he supports "easy abortions."

McGovern declared that his opponents have accused him of advocating these things but insisted that the allegations are untrue.

Some of the persons who worked hard for him in this State's recent Presidential Primary would not be so enthusiastic about him if they felt he did not support "easy abortions." Others were relieved at his statement.

Rehn Scofield apparently can't miss being an operator. His latest film role is that of Dr. Spezio in "The Hospital" before taking part, Scofield was the man behind the scenes, operating all the hand puppets in Honeywell's traveling ecology show, "Annie and the Air Pollution Gang."

The Court of Honor convened with the presentation of the Troop Colors by Peter Hiltz, Brewster Laing, Kirk Fallon and Earl Sgarzi. The invocation was given by the Rev. William Lowe, Rector of St. John's.

Sidney Greenleaf, scoutmaster, introduced the Court of Honor Members, which consisted of Adolph Anderson, Chief of the Court, who is the scout executive of Northumbria Council; Carl Pohlman, Troop Committee Chairman; Karl Arabian, Institutional Representative; Louis Sgarzi, Asst. The scouts and parents were called forward while Gregory Keenan recited the Scout oath.

Tenderfoot rank was bestowed on: Peter Carmichael, Josh Tower, Marshall Ainley and Lars Toobre.

The second class scouts were called forth by Mr. Pohlman and the awards were given to Gregory Keenan, Peter Carmichael, Mark Philbrick and Dexter Ridgill.

The first class scouts who were awarded badges by Mr. Pohlman were: Jay Bickford, Kirk Fallon, Mark Philbrick, and Ned Wasserman.

Merit badges were handed out by Mr. Sgarzi to the following: Eric Nelson, First Aid; Mark Philbrick, Aviation; David Cain, Skiing; David Mezzoff, Masonry and Nature; Richard Loran, Music and the Interpreter's Strip; Peter Hiltz, First Aid; Kurt Pohlman, Nature and Safety; Earl Sgarzi, Firemanship and Coins; John Greenleaf, Reading, Safety, Firemanship, First Aid; Jeff Banks, First Aid; Brewster Laing, First Aid and Electricity.

The formal Court of Honor was closed by the Scoutmaster and the Eagle Award Ceremony was commenced by Mr. Greenleaf, who introduced Karl Arabian, who spoke about scouting and its ideals.

Kurt Pohlman and his parents were called to the front of the room. The charge of the Eagle was presented by Adolph Anderson, representing Northumbria Council. Thomas Reilly, former Scoutmaster of Troop 316, pinned the Eagle Award on Kurt's uniform, followed by Kurt's pinning a miniature Eagle pin on his mother. The troop presented Mrs. Pohlman with a dozen red roses.

The Order of the Arrow Dance Team, Watonka Tribe, Musketaquid Lodge 414, entertained with several Indian Dances, and the Eagle Dance was performed by Peter Reilly, Robert Gurney, and Sharby Dinkle. The Eagle feather was presented to Kurt Pohlman.

Following the Dance team presentation, the benediction was given by the Rev. Robert J. Harding, minister of Central Congregational Church in Newtonville, where Kurt is a member. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sidney Greenleaf and her committee: Mrs. Ainley, Mrs. Bickford, Mrs. Carmichael, Mrs. Fallon, Mrs. Philbrick, Mrs. Ridgill, and Mrs. Wasserman.

Enthusiastic Troupers Stage Bright 'Iolanthe'

"Their enthusiasm is unbounded," says director Jeffrey Weisenfreund of his cast, "they come in a comment that takes on more significance when it becomes apparent that no one in his cast has ever made it through junior high school."

Actually, the spirited little troupers are fifth and sixth graders at the Angier School in Waban; and for the past few months, they have been rehearsing for last week's performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Iolanthe."

Among the 32 performers are veterans from last year's production, "The Mikado."

Weisenfreund, a math teacher, has been a performer since his college days. A Gilbert and Sullivan aficionado, he feels the operettas are "ideal" for young people.

Along with their knowledge of Gilbert and Sullivan, his students are also schooled in backstage etiquette, and they build their own scenery. They have their own student stage manager who is in charge during the production.

And, Mrs. Weisenfreund stresses, there are no adults backstage during the performance.

No matter how remarkable it may sound, the students staged an exuberant, delightful and perfectly credible production that can be considered far beyond their years in stage movement, team work, delivery and discipline. Of the audiences Weisenfreund said: "They come in a comment that takes on more significance when it becomes apparent that no one in his cast has ever made it through junior high school."

The cast included the following performers: Richard Winer as the Lord Chancellor, Sara Messer as the imperious Queen of the Fairies, Josephine Henley as Iolanthe, Mark Rollins as her son Strephon, Miriam Dolaffi as Phyllis the much sought after shepherdess that wishes to marry Strephon.

Other principals were: James Shuster as Earl Mountararat, Ricky King as Earl Tolloier, Jonathan Hayes as Private Willis, Sarah Longson as Celia, Gini Pollock as Leila, Susan O'Neill as Fleta, Julie Blauer as Chloe, Jill Shamban as Julia, Carole Berdy as Thea, all of the company of fairies.

The chorus of fairies included: Ava Kaye, Stacy Kohn, Barbara Malcolm, Kazuko Matsusaka, Michele Rosen, Helen Scovell, Virginia Whitney.

The chorus of peers included: Craig Bloom, Larry Fishman, Brendan Fitzgerald, Christopher Giron, Steven Kaufman, Nicholas Nesgos, James Quinn, Steven Shulman, Craig Snider, Robert Wilcox and Adam Wool.

Eric Giesser was the stage manager.

Waban Troop Begins Drive

Edward Gittens, Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 29 of Waban, has announced the beginning of the troop's annual financial drive.

Once a year each of the 40 boys in the troop is asked to ring doorbells in his neighborhood and offer Waban residents an item that the troop considers particularly useful to the average family's health and continued well-being. The profits from these sales are used to help underwrite the expenses of the troop, which is sponsored by the Union Church of Waban.

This year's item is a home-size Casco Fire Extinguisher. It is a dry chemical, non-toxic extinguisher that has been approved by Underwriter Laboratory as being suitable for fighting fires originating because of grease, oil, or electrical malfunctioning. The Scouts believe this item has a place in the kitchen, automobile, boat, workshop, or summer cottage.

Any Waban resident who is not personally visited by a member of Troop 29 this week and who is interested in purchasing the Casco home extinguisher can do so by calling either Joel Larus at 969-6238 or Richard Husher at 527-3015.

A social scientist with ABT Associates, and has been a Scholar in Residence at five colleges in the New England area.

An informal opportunity to speak with Rep. Linsky will be provided during the coffee hour following the service. For more information, call the First Unitarian Society, 1326 Washington St., West Newton, at 527-3203.

Activities of Newton's Recreation Department

The Newton Divers and the Newton Recreation Department are sponsoring an Ecology Dive at the Crystal Lake Beach on Saturday, May 20, from 9 a.m. to noon.

The purpose of the joint effort is to clean up broken glass, cans, tires and other debris littering the underwater area of the Crystal Lake Beach.

The newly formed, 16-member Newton Divers will be led by President Bill Bailey, the Dive Master, who will coordinate the divers and the diving operations.

Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney reports that his Department will provide trucks, a boat and ropes to facilitate the removal of the debris. The Newton Police Department will also provide a boat for the Ecology Dive designed to clean up the area and make the beach safer for swimming.

Cooperating organizations include Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 669 directed by Mrs. Jan Wallace. The Scouts will make posters and clean the shallow water areas and assist in removing debris.

The Newton Police Explorer Scouts under the direction of Patrolman Robert Braceland will also clear shallow water areas and help with the debris. Manning the boats and assisting the divers will be the Newton Sea Explorers directed by Alan Beal, USCG.

The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross, directed by Executive Director Robert Julian, will provide a canteen truck and first aid car. Coffee and soup will be served to divers and workers and first aid will be available if needed.

The Newton Auxiliary Police commanded by Deputy Moscow will handle the security, parking and traffic in the area.

Free air tickets will be provided to the divers by the Halet Snow in Newton Centre.

systematic approach that will accelerate and improve the process of starting new businesses. INED is now funded by OEO and Blanchard Foundation grants.

Its goal is to accelerate the process by which entrepreneurs start new businesses that have a better-than-average chance of success, by improving the methods by which men and ideas are combined to create new businesses. The approach will be tried in selected rural and urban poverty areas.

In addition to accelerating viable new business starts, INED believes its approach can be used to stimulate domestic and foreign regional economic development and to provide new entrepreneurial career opportunities for unemployed engineers and scientists.

Election Date Changed For GOP Committee

Newton's Republican Committee Ward Chairmen have received new instructions as a result of statutory changes just made by the State Legislature. In some cases wards recently convened for organizational purposes have to meet again very soon.

The newly elected ward committees must now meet for organizational purposes as required by law between May 15 and May 25, when they will elect their officers and transact other related business.

The Republican State Committee has notified all Chairmen that elections of delegates held earlier in accordance with its previous instructions are now invalid. Accordingly, delegates to the June 24 Republican State Convention will be elected at Ward Organizational meetings between May 15 and May 25.

While considerable work is involved in again sending out notices this change is not expected to create any real problems for the Newton groups.

Instead of the earlier deadline of May 4, which Newton Committees succeeded in meeting, the deadline for reporting the names of delegates to the Republican State Committee has now been advanced to the much later date of May 31.

In announcing the change in instructions, City Committee Chairman Julius L. Masow stated:

"We regret the extra work and inconvenience that may have resulted from these recently enacted statutes and the changes in instructions transmitted. However, the steps our various Ward Committees took to meet previously set deadlines were taken as a matter of prudence to make certain that we were organized and properly qualified. What has to be done now offers very little difficulty and we have greater latitude with the dates now set."

Masow noted that immediately after the Ward Committees elect their officers, delegates, and representatives to the City-wide Nominating Committee, the Nominating Committee will convene for the purpose of recommending the leadership of the Newton Republican City Committee.

When the Nominating Committee's work has been completed, a date will be seen as soon as possible for a general meeting of the City Committee which will then organize as required.

Eight Sacred Heart Pupils Cited For NMUN Delegation

A group of eight students from Newton College of the Sacred Heart was named one of the five most outstanding delegations at the Annual National Model United Nations (NMUN) held in New York City recently.

The students, with their Newton College faculty advisor Dr. Philippe de Lacoste, competed with some 125 colleges and universities from all parts of the country.

The NMUN exists to provide a forum where students may explore the objectives and functions of the United Nations. Each university's delegation represents a member nation of the UN. In this particular conference Newton College students represented the newly independent African state of Zambia which was formerly Northern Rhodesia.

Acting as ambassadors, the students were expected to be totally familiar with Zambia's political, economic and social conditions at the level of international diplomacy. They were also expected to be versed on the subject of Zambia's domestic conditions and to provide the proper resource base to allow for action in crisis situations.

With this knowledge Newton College's delegation submitted resolutions consistent with Zambia's foreign policy and based upon topics selected for discussion. This was accomplished both in the General Assembly and in its six committees modeled after their UN counterparts.

The NMUN also offered the delegates the unusual opportunity to conduct a briefing at Zambia's permanent mission to the UN.

Other activities included a NMUN planned cocktail party in the delegates dining room of the UN that was attended by UN representatives as well as students, and a speaker series throughout the conference that provided an opportunity for students to hear and question a variety of UN officials.

A plaque citing them as one of the five most outstanding delegations was presented to the Newton College students for their all-around excellence in the General Assembly, its six committees, the Security Council and for their response to the world crisis.

Students in the Newton College delegation included: Joan Garrity (chairman) of Rye, New York; Mary Sue Ryan of Larchmont, New York; Judith Hannaway of Manchester, New Hampshire; Evalena Higginbottom of Roxbury, Mass.; Johanna Ferry of Meriden, Conn.; Kathleen DeMello of Falmouth, Mass.; Cecilia Fagan of Herkimer, New York and Mary E. Carroll of Westfield, New Jersey.

"DECISIVE BATTLE" OVER HUE EXPECTED SOON

AS SOUTH VIETNAMESE troops punched open a vital highway leading to the Central Highlands and expanded their "circle of steel" guarding Hue to the east, U. S. defense officials said Wednesday they believed a North Vietnamese attack on the provincial capital, expected any day, could prove to be the "decisive battle" of the current Communist invasion of South Vietnam. Conceding surprise at the high losses the Communist have been willing to take so far in the offensive, officials said the four divisions poised outside Hue with tanks and heavy artillery would probably launch a "no holds barred" assault on the old imperial city. A decisive victory by South Vietnamese defenders could stop the entire three-pronged invasion which began Easter weekend, officials in Washington believe. But a clear North Vietnamese victory, they said, would do serious military and psychological damage to South Vietnam. "As to how it will come out, no one knows," a top ranked official said. "I'm very optimistic, but it could be very bloody, very brutal. I think perhaps it will last for days, perhaps but there will be lulls in there. It could be the decisive battle of this campaign—for either side."

BELFAST SNIPER WOUNDS 4 WORKERS LEAVING FACTORY

A SNIPER fired into the ranks of Protestant workers leaving a factory in a predominantly Roman Catholic area of Belfast Wednesday and wounded four, including a woman, the British army reported. There were bombings, beatings and shootings elsewhere in violence-torn Northern Ireland. Army and police chiefs met to discuss the threat of armed clashes between militant Protestants and the Irish Republican Army. Troops found the body of a man lying at the foot of a war memorial in Carrickfergus, a seaside resort about 12 miles from Belfast. An army spokesman said the man had been dead several days. There were no other immediate details. In London, a bomb blasted another factory minutes after a warning telephone call to a local newspaper. Police said no one was hurt but the building was badly damaged.

WALLACE EAGERLY READS ACCOUNTS OF PRIMARY VICTORIES

LYING HALF-PARALYZED in a hospital at Silver Springs, Md., Gov. George C. Wallace eagerly read newspaper accounts of his triumphs in Maryland and Michigan as he headed into a long-term period of recuperation from an assassination attempt. His doctors and campaign aides, emphatically denying a published report to the contrary, insisted they could not be certain for several weeks, until Wallace is well enough to undergo a second operation, whether his paralysis from the waist down will be permanent. Dr. Baltazar Perez, a neurosurgeon on the staff of Holy Cross Hospital, was quoted by a Wallace aide as insisting that "there is absolutely no truth to the report that the spinal cord has been severed," and the governor's wife, Cornelia, has been told that the report was "unfounded." At Towson, Md., two additional FBI agents were posted Wednesday outside the jail cell of Arthur Herman Bremer, 21, of Milwaukee, who is charged with the shooting. The protective guard was increased to five officers after the Baltimore News American received an anonymous telephone call warning that two armed members of the Ku Klux Klan were headed toward the Baltimore County Jail to get "revenge." Bremer is to be arraigned next Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Baltimore on federal charges of violating the 1968 Civil Rights Act, which makes it a crime to "interfere with the civil rights of a candidate for federal office," and assaulting a federal officer. He also has been charged by the state of Maryland on four counts of assault with intent to murder.

SEN. LONG DENIES TRYING TO KILL WELFARE REFORM

PRODDING on the Senate floor by a colleague, Sen. Russell B. Long, La., denied Wednesday that he was trying to kill welfare reform by keeping it bottled up in his Senate Finance Committee. The prodding came from Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who recalled that Nov. 17 he extracted a commitment from Long to send the bill to the Senate by Feb. 15 or March 1 at the latest. Long said he would try to have the bill before the Senate for action before Congress recesses June 30 for the Democratic National Convention. "There are 17 members of the Finance Committee," Long said. "If I were the only member, this bill would be before the Senate." Long said he found the legislation far more complex than he anticipated when he gave his word in November.

CONFEREES AGREE TO MORATORIUM ON BUSING

AFTER WORKING through the night, House and Senate conferees agreed early Wednesday on a bill that would order a halt to most court-imposed busing for 18 months. Then the lawmakers completed work on a compromise $18.5 billion aid to education bill after negotiating for two months in 17 meetings. But their compromise measure—the busing provision was an amendment—appeared to face serious trouble in both the Senate and House, where it must be approved. Liberal lawmakers said the busing provisions were too strong while busing opponents argued they were too weak. The 32 lawmakers on the joint conference committee finally finished work at 5:30 a.m. but they were still badly divided at the end. House conferees voted 11 to 9 for the compromise and just 7 of the 15 senators approved it.

DEFENSE OPENS CASE IN TRIAL OF ANGELA DAVIS

THE DEFENSE opens its case in the trial of Angela Davis at San Jose, Calif., today after 11 weeks of prosecution testimony with major question being whether Miss Davis will take the stand herself. The 28-year-old former UCLA instructor is charged with helping to plot and carry out an abortive attempt to kidnap a judge and court officials 17 months ago. Four persons, including the judge, were killed in the attempt. Attorneys for Miss Davis declined to identify their first witness. There was speculation that the defendant herself might take the stand early in the presentation. Presumably she would be asked to give an account of her activities before and after the shooting incident. Witnesses for the state have testified she was with Jonathan Jackson near the Marin County Civic Center the day before the bloodshed. Miss Davis also has been identified as the person who bought the weapons young Jackson smuggled into the courtroom of Judge Harold Haley and used to seize the judge and court officials. Judge Richard C. Arnason canceled trial proceedings Wednesday to ponder a request by Miss Davis' lawyers that he take the case away from the jury of eight women and four men and dismiss the charges. Defense Attorney Leo Branton said the state with its 200 exhibits and 95 witnesses has proven only that Miss Davis was a "warm, articulate human being" and loved George Jackson and other black prison inmates.

Ordination Of New Unitarian Minister Sun.

Installation of a new minister is important, but rarely news. But, when SHE is ordained next Sunday evening (May 21), Mrs. Polly Laughland of Chestnut Hill will set in motion several innovations for herself, the religious and Newton communities.

The First Unitarian Society in Newton, at West Newton Square, recently voted to ordain Mrs. Laughland as its Parish MINISTER — (See Page 15)

Dual-City Bus System Considered By Mayors

Joint action by Newton and Waltham to fill in the gap that might be left by the threatened halt in M&B bus service includes the possibility of a jointly run two-city bus service, mayors of both communities revealed in a press conference Tuesday.

Mayor Mann also stated that the city would "seriously" consider withholding its $1.2 million payment to the MBTA "to underscore the fact that we are not getting the service we are paying for."

Due to an MBTA Advisory Board decision to veto a $8.8 supplementary budget, officials have warned that M&B bus service in Newton and other communities may end.

Their final day of operation would be June 30. MBTA express lines to Boston were not expected to be affected.

The two mayors agreed that they are studying the possibility of a jointly operated system, and Mayor Arthur Clark suggested that the possibility included a "franchise operation."

The two were scheduled to meet with Henry S. Lodge, chairman of the MBTA Board of Directors, Friday.

Mann said that Newton has "virtually no public transportation in the city." He explained that it is "impossible" to go north or south in the city or to the far corners of the city.

Mann also said that the condition of some of the M&B buses is "intolerable" and that ridership is very low, less than 10 per cent of the population.

A second problem facing

Newton is the transportation of about 4,000 school children. Mann said he had directed the School Department to prepare a plan that could be put out on bid to provide school transportation should it become necessary.

In contrast, Mann pointed out that the Riverside and Highland MBTA lines into Boston proved highly successful. He added that he was "amazed" at the number of people from outside the city

Board Appoints New Assessor, And 1st Clerk

Joseph G. Cosgrove was designated an assistant assessor Monday night by the Newton Board of Aldermen.

Cosgrove was originally suggested by Mayor Theodore D. Mann for the vacant post of principal assessor.

Mann withdrew the appointment, which had to be confirmed by the Board of Aldermen, and agreed to having Cosgrove assume the job of assistant assessor.

Aldermen also hired their own clerk Monday night.

The board passed an ordinance establishing the post of clerk of the board, a job that goes to Assistant City Clerk Edward English.

English has served as acting clerk of the board since January, and will now assume the post of first clerk of the board.

The position of assistant clerk will no longer exist.

Judge Rejects Girls' Little League Appeal

A Federal judge on Monday dismissed the appeal of three 10-year-old Newton girls to enter the all-male Little League and play baseball with boys as full-fledged members of the local teams.

The girls, all students at Mason-Rice School, are: Ann Bond of 177 Homer St., Linda Speizer of 80 Manomet Rd., and Cynthia Wachs of 70 Manomet Rd. They had brought suit with their parents against the Newton East Little League and Little League, Inc. last month.

The girls' lawyer, Willard Myers of Maine, argued that the League discriminated against the girls, and that its whole policy was inherently unconstitutional.

Myers argued before U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity, Jr. that federal jurisdiction was involved in Little League play, and that civil rights were involved. His reasoning was that state and federal governments held power

Funeral Rites Tomorrow For Newton Fire Victims

Five members of a Newton family perished in an early-morning blaze Tuesday which gutted their brick Colonial home.

The victims were identified as Frank A. Tesoro, 41 of 35 Amherst Rd., Newton, and four of his five children: Vincent, 17, Frank Jr., 6, Maria, 14, and Frances, 10. Mr. Tesoro's wife, Maria, and another son, Michael, 16, survived the fire.

Funeral services will be held Friday (May 19) at 10 a.m. in St. Philip Neri Church, at the corner of Beacon and Chestnut streets in Waban, for the five victims.

They are survived by wife and mother, Mrs. Marie (DiSabata) Tesoro; son and brother, Michael Tesoro, 16; and Mr. Tesoro's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincenzo Tesoro of Newton.

Relatives and friends may call at the Waterman Chapel, 592 Washington Street, Wellesley, Thursday from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m.

Msgr. John L. Parsons will celebrate the funeral mass Friday. Burial will be in Newton Cemetery.

A call was received at the Newton Fire Department at 1:14 a.m. Tuesday from Mrs. John F. Shaughnessey of 42 Amherst Rd., a neighbor across the street. She was awakened by her barking dog, and saw the fire at the Tesoro residence, and telephoned in the alarm.

Employees, City In Contract Stalemate

By CYNTHIA BLACK

No settlement had been reached on a new contract between the city and Local 800 of the Municipal Employees Union when contract negotiations in the latest session broke off Friday.

A union request for a "marathon" bargaining session, virtually one continuous meeting until agreement had been reached, was rejected by the city, union negotiator William Carmen said Tuesday.

Carmen also said Tuesday that to his knowledge, no new date for talks had been set.

The union has refused to work overtime in an effort to catch up on trash collections in the city.

Mayor Theodore D. Mann said Tuesday that the union would "show good faith" by doing their work and if they could not get it done in a 40 hour week, "the city would be willing to pay reasonable overtime."

Carmen said that the union was "deeply concerned" that rubbish pickups were "falling further and further behind."

He said the negotiator for the city, Leon Kowal, was told by the Union Friday that the men would go back on overtime if the city would consent to the marathon bargaining session.

Study Urges River Acreage Purchase

Following a six year study, Army engineers have recommended that the federal government spend $7 million to acquire 17 natural storage areas of the upper and middle Charles River.

The findings, contained in a water resources study report on entire watershed, warn that 40 per cent of the natural valley flood storage areas in the 307-square mile watershed would be lost through development by the year 2000 unless steps are taken to preserve them now.

The Army Corps of Engineers have recommended that a total of 8,400 acres be acquired including 100 acres in southern corner of Newton.

The alternative to preserving the areas, according to spokesman Colonel Frank P. Bane, is spending "some $30 million in structural means to provide flood protection for only a critical ten-mile reach of the river."

Recommended for preservation are wetlands in 15 communities besides

Suburban Report Shows Subsidized Housing Lag

Suburbs continue to lag behind the inner Boston metropolitan area in the construction of subsidized housing, according to a report issued recently by the Metropolitan Area Planning Council.

The report, which contains housing figures through the end of 1971, states that of the total number of subsidized units in the region, over 62 percent were located in the six "core" communities (Boston, Brookline, Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett and Somerville) and the remaining 37 percent were located in the rest of the 95 area communities.

The City of Newton, according to figures in the report, has 225 low income units for the elderly and 176 leased low income units. The report shows that Newton has had no low income family housing construction, no moderate income units and no low/moderate MHFA units constructed.

As of Dec. 31, 1971, there were approximately 52,886 subsidized housing units in the 101 communities in the MAPC region available for occupancy by low and moderate income households. The figure represents 5.3 percent of the housing stock in the region. In Boston, 11.3 percent of the housing stock is classified as subsidized housing as compared with 3 per cent of the housing stock in the 95 communities. The percentage for the "core" communities is 9.5 percent.

For the ninth month period of March-December, 1971, the report says, the number of subsidized units available

- Local Youths To Attend Lincoln Farm Teen Camp

Four Newton teenagers have been accepted at Lincoln Farm Teen Camp for the 1972 summer season: Andy and Evan Cohen, Lois Madeson, and David Soroff. They will spend the school vacation period at Roscoe, N. Y., participating in an unusual setting.

They will work (build a house and operate a farm), travel (each camper will tour 2,000 miles during the summer) and have fun in a blend of traditional summer-camp and teen education.

Lincoln Farmers will do "off-beat" things such as meet with the Governor, test their creativity in 24 craft studios, broadcast on the local radio station, earn their ham-radio licenses and learn to drive a stick-shift vehicle.

These Newton teens intend to make the most of this unusual opportunity. They will spend their time having fun while learning useful social skills. They will make many new friends among other campers from all over the U.S.A. and abroad, and will have a memorable summer.

Newton, including Millis, Medfield, Norfolk, Franklin, Holliston, Needham, Sherborn, Bellingham, Dedham, Dover, Medway, Wrentham, Walpole, Natick and Boston.

The study was made under a Congressional authorization for a water resources development investigation of Charles River Watershed and was federally funded with $660,000. The main report covers 100 pages and the appendices another 700.

"The natural storage capability of the watershed together with relatively low present development in the flood plain makes preservation of the natural areas far more desirable from the economic and ecological standpoints than construction of man-made structures to impound flood waters," the head of New England Division, Corps of Engineers noted. "This plan will assure the maintenance of a high quality environment in the Charles River Watershed."

"The residents in the Charles River Watershed and ecologists and environmentalists have shown a very high interest in this study," Colonel Bane said.

"Our recommendation points up economic pressures for development of areas which would be an irrecoverable loss to the natural environment. If the present development trend continues through the turn of the century, corrective measures will entail concrete walls, diking and concrete lining of the river channels. Such construction would severely disrupt residential areas and businesses and industry, and cost $30 million or more. This would not be a desirable solution to the problem."

The Commonwealth's Department of Natural Resources master plan to preserve 22,000 acres in the watershed for recreation and open spaces, includes 8,400 acres designated by the Army Engineers.

Flood control and navigation needs in the lower Watershed will be answered by the construction of the new Charles River Dam at the mouth of the basin.

The report has been forwarded to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, Washington, D.C., for review.

The Great Lakes were called "Seas of Sweet Water" by 18th century French explorers, says National Geographic.

Gifts Increase To 'Y' Building Fund

Judge Monte G. Basbas, General Chairman of the "Y" Building Fund for Newton and the Western Suburbs, announced at a special meeting of the Steering Committee that memorial giving has shown a sharp increase on every level of the Campaign for a new, Family "Y".

Such memorial gifts will be identified with specific units and departments in new "Y" structure. Each section of the facility which is dedicated by a memorial subscriber, will be designated by plaque bearing the name of the contributor, or paying tribute to someone else.

Judge Basbas pointed out that the opportunity to establish such a memorial is not limited to those of great means.

"Typical units range from $3,000 for Crafts Equipment, $3,500 for a tennis court, $4,000 for a Sauna bath, $8,500 for locker lobby, $10,000 for a handball court, up to $150,000 for the entire gymnasium," he said.

"Subscriptions may be paid on any installment basis over a period of five years, thus providing income tax deductions in each calendar or tax year. In fact, the government encourages contributions to non-profit organizations such as the "Y", by making very substantial tax savings available to the donor," Judge Basbas explained.

Carmen said that negotiations are at a complete "impasse," and added that he also suggested to the city negotiator that the matter be sent to an arbitrator. He said this was also rejected.

Director of Public Works Willard S. Pratt confirmed that rubbish collections are one day behind schedule.

Asked to comment, the mayor pointed out that the lag meant areas of the city normally picked up on Friday had trash at the curbs until Monday.

The mayor also said that union members were not allowing citizens to drop off things at the incinerator over the weekend and had been picketing the incinerator.

The union is asking for a graduated pay hike based on salary that ranges from a 2.5 to a 5.5 per cent increase, longevity pay and an increase in the city portion of Blue Cross payments from 75 per cent to 99 per cent, the maximum a city could pay.

Carmen said the mayor was remaining firm in his refusal on increasing Blue Cross and had also said "no" to longevity pay.

The mayor also said that the requested increase in Blue Cross would cost the taxpayers an additional $200,000 over and above the $200,000 increase already anticipated. He has also said that if one arm of city workers were granted the percentage change, the rest would want it too.

Mann said the city has offered a 2.5 per cent pay increase for the first year with a jump to 5.5 in the "13th month." In a previous negotiating session, the union rejected a city offer of a two-year contract.

Mann said the city also offers "reasonable overtime" and a five-day, staggered week.

Yet, Mayor Mann said, "for what we spend I feel we should be exploring other avenues. By July 1, we have to have a reasonable alternative."

Clark said that the transportation committees of both cities will meet together and that he expected them to "contribute greatly to whatever course we take."

The two city officials have also been in touch with the United States Department of Transportation and the State Department of Transportation.

Under certain conditions, Clark said, it might be possible to have 66 per cent of the cost of capital equipment for a bus system financed under a federal program.

Mann said he had also met with other mayors informally, mentioning Weston, Wellesley and Needham.

Mann was also asked if a step like this was a move toward withdrawing from the MBTA.

He made his comment on withholding payment, but did not appear to strongly advocate withdrawal.

Mann did say that an assistant city solicitor was in contact with city officials in Peabody, Mass., a community that did break with the MBTA; and it was one of the possibilities that was being explored. He also mentioned an experimental "dial-a-bus" program that was known but was not yet in operation except at an experimental level.

The real issue in regard to the MBTA, Mann asserted, is its spiraling deficit which is expected to reach $80 million next year.

"We are trying to involve as many people as we have to to protect the taxpayer," Mayor Mann said. "We have to underscore the $80 million deficit, and no matter which pocket the money comes from, we still have to say we want our money's worth."

A move for state takeover of the MBTA failed in the legislature earlier this month. Both mayors strongly supported the move. Additional legislation is pending for a 50 per cent takeover.

ferred a 2.5 per cent pay increase for the first year with a jump to 5.5 in the "13th month." In a previous negotiating session, the union rejected a city offer of a two-year contract.

Mann said the city also offers "reasonable overtime" and a five-day, staggered week.

Do We Need Sidewalks?

Not too many years back housing sub-division developers discovered they could get a better return on their land purchases by the simple expedient of eliminating sidewalks. The developers, riding a growing flood tide demand for homes, encountered only token resistance from buyers, many of whom were young families primarily interested in "getting a roof over our heads."

The phenomenon appeared to hit some of the Mid-West states particularly hard. In many areas builders weren't handicapped by zoning laws existing in the effete East.

They had a ready answer to prospective buyers who complained, "So who needs sidewalks?" was the ready and seemingly logical answer.

Maybe, the elimination of sidewalks was a natural off-shoot of the traffic engineering ideas of highway planners who long ago found you can get more lanes into road construction when you forget all about sidewalks.

Maybe, too, the non-sidewalk idea for sub-division developments is just a natural out-growth of our motor vehicle-minded age. If Dad needs a package of cigarettes at the corner store a block away he doesn't walk. He just shoots down and back in the car. If Mom's bridge club has an afternoon meeting, she doesn't walk. She rides, either in the family car or she's picked up by a sister member. Getting the children to school is no problem. There's a bus for that.

Here in New England there was a time when the sidewalks were plowed first when King Winter threw one of his tough winter storms. Plowing the streets was a secondary matter and by the time the public works department got around to that task, horse-drawn sleds and sleighs had trampled the white stuff down to passable shape.

Once, walking was esteemed among the most admirable exercises for man's physical well-being and even for his psychological outlook on life.

Modern airports seek to out-do each other these days by cutting down the walking distances at their terminals. Every year the U.S. Patent Office gets some new blueprints from inventors seeking to give our metropolitan cities economically-feasible moving sidewalks.

The biped known as man has come a long way on a pair of legs. In the last few decades he has been diligently seeking and finding ways and means of using them less and less.

Maybe, those land-developers have something when they ask, "So, who needs sidewalks?"

Threatened Blight

Stewart L. Udall, who may have been the nation's No. 1 all-time national park enthusiast when he served as Secretary of the Interior under President Johnson, is worried. He fears the nation's major national parks are attracting too many people for the good of those tracts and their future existence.

He is particularly worried about Yellowstone Park. He believes that steps must soon be taken to ration the number of its visitors, if we are to preserve its overwhelming beauty.

Udall believes that eventually the hordes attracted to the Yellowstone region can and will destroy something built by nature over the centuries; something man himself could never match.

The problem as he sees it is no longer merely the costs of housekeeping made necessary by the visitation of motorized, refuse-strewing humans.

A few years back the Park Service, recognizing that such a great treasure as Yellowstone really belonged to all Americans, began to make it easier for visitors.

It permitted and encouraged the expansion of motels and other facilities in the Yellowstone core area. Now it is seeking to push those facilities outside the park area.

Yellowstone this year is observing the 100th anniversary of its establishment as our first national park. Since then 37 more national parks, eight national seashores and four national lakeshores have been established by Congress.

Many of them are knowing the same problems which beset Yellowstone.

When Mr. Udall even hints the possibility of "rationing" the numbers permitted to visit those parks, he's certain to run into outraged objections. Maybe, tough strict rules are the answer, at least for the immediate future.

The real solution, of course, would be to instill a sense of respect in what he describes as unthinking, motorized refuse-strewers.

That isn't going to be easy.

ANOTHER KIND OF POLLUTION

At the time the Muskie slate was organized by such prominent Democratic figures as Boston Mayor Kevin H. White, Attorney General Robert Quinn, State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, State Senate President Kevin Harrington and House Speaker David Bartley, it was believed Senator Kennedy's sympathies were with Muskie.

Now Ted himself declares his sympathies are with McGovern and the latter's positions. What that might produce for McGovern outside Massachusetts in terms of delegate votes is uncertain.

Senator McGovern has become an inviting target for attack since he surged into the lead in the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Political historians are recalling that McGovern supported Henry Wallace, the third party candidate for President, in 1948.

This reporter covered all three national conventions in Philadelphia that summer of 1948 — the Democratic, Republican and Progressive Party conclaves.

Henry Wallace had been Vice President during Franklin D. Roosevelt's third term in the White House, but he was too radical for the rank and file of Democratic politicians.

Franklin Roosevelt's health was failing, and the Democratic politicians didn't want Wallace in a position where he might assume the direction of the national government if anything happened to FDR.

A group of influential Democratic leaders and bosses waited upon FDR in his railroad car on a siding during the 1944 Democratic national convention and demanded that he dump Wallace.

Mr. Roosevelt refused to drop Wallace but agreed to allow the nominee for Vice President to be chosen after an open floor nomination toward which he would maintain a hands-off attitude.

The Democratic politicians picked the then Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri as their candidate for Vice President and they mustered the necessary votes to nominate him over the leftist Henry Wallace.

Four years later in 1948, Wallace ran as a Third Party candidate for President. Included in the weird collection of pinks, commies, kooks and assorted radicals who converged on Philadelphia to endorse and nominate Henry Wallace was George McGovern, now a member of the U.S. Senate and the leading candidate for the Democratic nomination for President.

This is one of the reasons most of the Democratic chieftains and union leaders don't want Senator George McGovern as their party's Presidential standard-bearer 24 years later.

That is why the Democratic party in July may turn to a new candidate for President who is not even being mentioned now.

McGovern, Humphrey Prepare For Big California Battle

Back in the days when Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine was favored to win the Democratic nomination for President, he was expected to wind up his drive for the Democratic national convention with a victory in California.

Popular Senator John V. Tunney, Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown, Jr., and other Democratic leaders were supporting Muskie and championing his cause in a state which will cast 271 votes at the Democratic national convention.

The winner in California will get all the state's delegate votes, representing 18 per cent of the 1509 needed to achieve nomination.

Senator Muskie's name will appear on the California ballot on June 6, but the fight now is considered between Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Senator George McGovern of South Dakota.

California political observers generally believe that the battle between McGovern and Humphrey will be a close one. They say that the winner of the California Primary will not necessarily get the Presidential nomination but that the loser will be virtually knocked out of the fight.

It was in a Los Angeles hotel slightly less than four years ago that Robert F. Kennedy was fatally shot as he and his supporters savored the victory they had won that day in California.

Now two men — Hubert H. Humphrey and George McGovern — neither of whom actually arouses the kind of enthusiasm needed to win a Presidential election — are struggling for that big prize of California votes.

McGovern, incidentally, will focus much of his attention on the college campuses. Both McGovern and Humphrey will spend more money on their campaigns in California than in any other state.

Wallace Shooting Wipes Out Slim Chance Ted Might Run

Any slim chance that Senator Edward M. Kennedy might yield to a draft and become the Democratic nominee for President vanished when a would-be assassin gunned down Alabama Governor George Wallace while he was campaigning in Maryland.

Ted Kennedy lives in fear that his life might be ended by the bullet of some mentally sick person, as were the lives of his two older brothers.

As one of his campaign aides pointed out after Governor Wallace was felled while he was greeting voters who had attended one of his speeches, Ted would be just as dead if he were killed by a kook as by a genius.

It is significant that one of the things President Nixon did after the shooting of Governor Wallace was to assign Secret Service men to guard Senator Kennedy.

But Secret Service men were guarding Governor Wallace, and the hard fact is that any sick person with a revolver can shoot down a public figure if he is willing to pay with his own life.

There is no way to prevent the sort of thing which happened to Governor Wallace in Laurel, Maryland, or to Robert F. Kennedy four years ago in a Los Angeles hotel.

Presidents and Presidential candidates always will stir mentally twisted minds and cause sick people to become killers.

The day will come in the future when there will be no Presidential campaigning, and candidates will present their cases from the safety of television studios or in statements to the newspapers.

When that day comes, something will be gone from American life.

This writer disagreed with almost everything Governor Wallace said. But he had the same right as any American citizen to run for President and voice his opinions and convictions.

Lyndon Would Take A Walk If McGovern Is Nominated

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson is unenthusiastic about all the top candidates for President, including Hubert H. Humphrey whom he picked in 1964 as his Vice Presidential running mate, according to persons close to LBJ.

A rift has developed and been growing between Lyndon and Hubert and was brought out into the open recently at a dinner in Washington where Humphrey, pointing to Senator Barry Goldwater, declared: "Barry and I have one thing in common. We both had a rough going over by Lyndon."

Several persons familiar with former President Johnson's thinking, express the opinion that LBJ would unenthusiastically endorse Humphrey and do nothing more if HHJ becomes the Democratic nominee for President.

But they say that under no circumstances would Mr. Johnson give even token support to Senator George McGovern of South Dakota if he emerges as the choice of the Democratic national convention, adding that LBJ and McGovern disagree on just about everything, and that Mr. Johnson in such an event would "take a walk."

There has been no information as to just who former President Johnson would like to see as his party's nominee for President or whom he would sup-

Support President's Vietnamese Efforts

Editor, The Graphic:

Whatever the issues of our initial involvement in Vietnam, we must recognize that a succession of American Presidents, identified with both major parties, have been struggling to find honorable pathways to peace. No President will succeed unless the enemy discerns he is backed by his people.

Far too long and to the hurt of our country and the cause of peace, America's efforts to end its involvement in Vietnam have been hobbled by divisive influences within the country. It is time now for men and women of goodwill and understanding to demonstrate their unity which may very well be the key to conclusive negotiations with the Viet Cong and its mentor, Russia.

Now is the critical time when we must demonstrate that the adversary will not find advantages for itself in the traditional partisan politics of an election year.

If we at this juncture fail in our extended and agonizing effort to terminate the war, the failure will be that of the American people as they fail to lay aside their petty partisanship and prejudices.

It will not be the President's fault; he is working with dedication and high competence for a durable and honorable peace.

With less than 50,000 U.S. Troops remaining in Vietnam, the President is endeavoring to end our tragic involvement without recklessly port for President with any degree of enthusiasm, but the understanding is that he would not consider jumping the political fence and backing President Nixon for reelection.

Amnesty For Deserters May Develop As Campaign Issue

One of the issues which probably will develop before the campaign for the Democratic nomination for President comes to a climax and close at the national convention in Miami is whether amnesty should be granted to the draft dodgers who deserted to Canada or Sweden rather than go into the armed forces for possible service in Vietnam.

Senator George McGovern threw out the amnesty proposal on one of his campaign tours but then seemed to back away from the idea when the initial public reaction to it was not favorable.

This is a matter which some time must be debated and settled, and one day in the future the deserters may be given amnesty and allowed to come home. But there is no disposition on the part of most people to grant them forgiveness.

McGovern, incidentally, seems to be on both sides of some issues, depending on where he is speaking. He appears to be trying to edge from the left more toward the center. Some of his positions, of course, are too liberal and leftist for the more conservative Democratic politicians.

It isn't quite clear, for example, just where he stands on the question of legalizing marijuana.

Margaret Chase Smith Seeks New Term At The Age of 74

Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, the only woman member of the U.S. Senate, is facing a stiff fight for Republican renomination in next month's GOP primary and then a battle for reelection in November.

Age is the biggest issue in Mrs. Smith's campaign. She is now 74 years old and is being opposed in the primary by Robert A. G. Monks, a 38-year-old millionaire. It is the first time in 18 years she has been challenged in her own party.

"Age isn't a matter of years," declares Mrs. Smith. "It's a matter of mind." She says her health has been excellent except for corrective hip surgery.

She asserts that she is not trying to conduct a campaign comparable to that of Mr. Monks who has been traveling throughout the Pine Tree State on a full-time basis.

Mrs. Smith adheres to a policy of accepting no campaign contributions except from the Republican National Senatorial Committee for travel expenses and will continue to do so this year.

Mrs. Smith has been in the Senate for 24 years and before that was in the national House for eight years.

If she is reelected and serves out another term, she would be 80 years old when it ended. That, of course, is the big issue being used against her as she tries to gain another six years on Capitol Hill.

Sarge Stands Almost Alone On State Pay Raise Issue

Governor Francis W. Sargent installed Representative Francis W. Hatch, Jr., of Beverly as the Republican leader in the House of Representatives at the start of 1971, ousting Representative Sidney Q. Curtiss of Sheffield.

The Governor obviously was displeased with Hatch when the latter refused to support Mr. Sargent's unsuccessful effort to delay a pay raise for State employees. In fact, only five Republican House members voted to sustain Governor Sargent's veto of the salary increase measure.

Mr. Sargent himself said nothing about Hatch's failure to stand with him in the controversy, but his aides had plenty to say about Hatch, all of it critical, making plain their anger with the GOP leader and asserting that he was well aware of the Governor's position.

Hatch could not have saved the day for the Governor regardless of what he did, and he obviously was more concerned about his own political salvation than about making meaningless gestures to ease whatever hurt was involved for Mr. Sargent in a losing fight.

This is an election year. Hatch is concerned about winning reelection next November, and the State em-

City Schools Will Hold Orientations

During May and the early part of June, each elementary school in Newton is holding an orientation meeting for parents of kindergarten children. These meetings represent a joint effort by the Elementary School Principals, the Early Childhood Education Committee, and the Newton Citizens for Education to provide parents with information of changes in organization and program and to involve them in the process.

Two factors prompt reappraisal at this time: the emergence of meaningful new concepts in the field of early childhood education and a state requirement, effective in September, 1973, of two and a half hours per day, for each kindergarten child, with a teacher - pupil ratio not to exceed 1 to 25.

In each of the 23 elementary schools, a study group is being formed, with some modification of schedule and program planned for most by this September. Options for change are being carefully weighed. Because the variables of personnel, enrollment, space, and the readiness levels of children are unique to each school, plans for a city-wide orientation meeting were tabled in favor of individual school meetings between parents and teachers.

The following is a list of the orientation meetings remaining for parents of Kindergarten pupils, with the school, date, and time:

Beethoven, Monday, June 5, 8 p.m.; Bowen, June 5, 7:30 p.m.; Burr, Tuesday, May 23, 1:30 p.m.; Cabot, this afternoon (Thursday, May 18), 2 p.m.; Carr, Tuesday, June 6, 11 a.m.; Davis, June 6, 7:30 p.m.; Franklin, Monday, May 22, 8 p.m.; Hamilton, Thursday, June 8, 2 p.m.; Horace Mann, Tuesday, May 30, 7:15 p.m.; Oak Hill, May 22, 7:30 p.m.; Peirce, Wednesday, May 24, 7:30 p.m.; Underwood, June 6, 8 p.m.; and Williams, May 30, 8 p.m.

MDC Commissioner Will Speak to Conservators

John W. Sears, Chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission, will address the annual meeting of Newton Conservators, Inc., next Thursday night (May 25) at 8 p.m. at the Auburndale Congregational Church Hall, says Melvin I. Darack, Conservator President.

The church is at the corner of Woodland Road and Hancock Street with off-street parking at front and rear of the building. Commissioner Sears will brief the Conservators and the public on progress on the MDC's Charles River Plan regarding land-use and pollution control.

This past winter state Secretary for Environmental Affairs, Charles H. W. Foster, asked both the MDC and the Department of Natural Resources, to submit their plans, primarily for the main stem of the Charles.

MDC plans for its reservations in the Hammond Pond Parkway area will also be touched upon by Commissioner Sears.

Interest in the Charles and its banks and flood plains continues unabated as evidenced by recent controversies at Riverside, at Wellesley Office Park, and at the Newton - at 128 industrial park.

Status of the MDC reservations at the Route 9 - Hammond Pond Parkway area draws equal interest from residents and city officials.

Housing--

Increased by 4,146. Of the total, 64.5 percent of the increase occurred in the six "core" communities with Boston accounting for 54.3 percent. None of the suburban immediately within the Route 128 ring an increase of 50 or more units during the time period.

During the same nine month period, 62.3 percent of the increase in low income subsidized units was in the form of leased units (both for families and elderly) while 36.4 percent was in new construction for the elderly. Only 1.3 percent of the increase consisted of units specifically for families, the report said.

As of Dec. 31, 1971, moderate income units comprised 23.9 percent of all subsidized units in the region and 1.6 percent of the units were classed as mixed income for both low and moderate income families and the elderly.

However, the reported continues, during the March-December period, over 50 percent of the increase in the number of subsidized units completed were units for moderate income households and 19.8 percent of the units were for both low and moderate income households, or mixed units.

As of the end of last year, there were 10,663 units listed as under construction (including those being rehabilitated).

Although most of the new construction for low income households has been for the elderly, the report stated, there is some indication that construction for families may be increasing.

JOHN W. SEARS

Sears was appointed MDC Chairman by Governor Sargent in February 1970, upon expiration of the five-year term of Howard Whitmore, Jr., former Mayor of Newton.

He was elected a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1964 and reelected in 1966. His committees were Labor, Cities, and Public Welfare.

Appointed Sheriff of Suffolk County by Governor Volpe in February 1968, Sears served in that post until January 1969. He was appointed chairman of the Boston Finance Commission in October 1969 and served in that capacity until he was tapped for the MDC post.

Election of Conservator officers, including a new president and several new directors, will precede Commissioner Sears' talk. A question period and refreshments will follow. Mrs. Deborah Howard is chairman of the nominating committee. Everyone is welcome at the meeting.

figures estimated when the program commenced. It is rewarding to see the results not only from our adult residents, but from the enthusiastic response on the part of our youngsters.

Since the program's inception on April 3, collection has been averaging five tons per day. The latest report is eight to 10 tons per day, resulting from spring clean-up by the residents.

Director of Public Works Willard S. Pratt feels indications show that the fall and winter will yield even higher tonnage than the present figures, as residents will become more familiar with the program and its schedule.

The Newton area include the following:

Brookline: 228 low income elderly units, 363 low income family units, 126 leased low income units; 115 se. 221 and 236 moderate income units, 214 MFHA low-moderate units, (1,106 total).

Waltham: 249 low income elderly, 278 low income family, 205 low income leased, (732 total).

Watertown: 204 low income elderly, 228 low income family, (432 total).

Wellesley: 36 low income elderly, 90 low income family, 1 low income leased, (127 total).

Newtonite Is Dist. Manager For Insurance

Alvin M. Cohen, 192 Cotton St., Newton Center, has been promoted to district manager in Massachusetts for the Hearstone Insurance Company of Massachusetts.

William Hayn, director of sales for the company's Northeastern Division, said that Cohen, 41-year-old native of Boston, had been recognized for his outstanding sales achievements.

Cohen joined the company in November, 1957, and subsequently was promoted to sales manager for his territory. Hayn said that Cohen now will be responsible for a number of sales managers and representatives.

Fire--

Chief Perkins, stated that she had been awakened by the smoke and fire, whose origin has not been determined. She and her son Michael fled down the stairs, but Mr. Tesoro apparently remained behind to try to rescue the other boys and his two daughters. He was found dead in the boys' bedroom.

The two girls were found dead in their bedroom, which adjoined their brothers'. They had apparently never left the room.

At least one of the dead boys tried to escape the fire by smashing a window. The windows, metal casement types, are not able to be opened, according to Chief Perkins. The firemen discovered blood by one of them, suggesting futile attempt at breakage.

Mrs. Tesoro was unable to return to the second floor of the house because of the intense heat. She was treated for smoke inhalation at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and was released Tuesday. Her son Michael was supposedly unharmed.

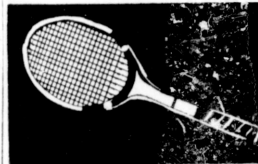

Mr. Tesoro was the owner of the Jamaica Oil Co. in Braintree, and a Korean War veteran.

A check with the State Fire Marshal's office yesterday revealed that the cause of the fire was still "undetermined." The possibility of a television set's starting the blaze was discarded Tuesday.

A spokesman for the Marshal's Office stated that the origin is "still wide open to speculation," but that their department will continue their investigation into the matter.

Camp Fire Girls Conduct Clean-up, Salmon Search

Three hundred forty years ago, Waban the Wind, the Algonquian Chief of Natick, paddled in the upper reaches of the Charles and fished for salmon in the shade of the willows. Over the years the salmon have given way to debris and descendants of Waban the Wind have vanished from the river.

Calling upon the spirit of salmon in 24 foot war canoes over 40 years old which come from Camp Kiwanee in Hanson, Mass. The group which paddled from Watertown to the Science Museum invited other canoeists and boatmen on the river, and those involved in the cleanup of the banks as well, to join in the search pinpointing sources of pollution and to call in data which will be charted on a regional map of the Charles. Results of the search and samples of the day's catch will be presented the M.D.C. Commissioner. Camp Fire plans to continue the search annually until the salmon return.

Camp Fire paddlers and friends collected data on observed debris and sources of pollution on May 6. Statistics will be submitted to Metropolitan District Commissioner John Winthrop Sears, a descendant of the first English settlers on the Charles Camp Fire Girls, which makes use of Indian symbolism in its program, is participating in this search for salmon return.

Camp Fire Girls Friend-Raising Drive Underway

The second annual Friends of Camp Fire Drive is underway throughout the Greater Boston area. Camp Fire families in Newton have been contacted by mail in this "friend-raising drive" sponsored by the Council for Greater Boston Camp Fire Girls, which seeks support for ongoing programs of the Council.

Camp Fire Girls is open to all girls between the ages of six and seventeen. It offers a diversified recreational program stressing the development of the individual in a small group setting.

The Council for Greater Boston Camp Fire Girls operates two resident camps, three day camps, and a summer recreational program in Boston. Some of the special program events conducted in Newton this past year have been an ice skating party held on the Auburndale Cove of the Charles River; a father-daughter box supper and square dance celebrating the 62nd birthday of Camp Fire Girls; and a Saturday morning bus trip to Parker's Sugar House in Mason, New Hampshire to see how maple sap is collected and made into syrup and candy.

Two Grand Council Fires are planned for early June, at which time Newton Fire Girls will receive awards and ranks for which they have worked during the past year.

Registration On For Centers' Day Camp

Youngsters at the Newton Community Service Centers' Day Camp at the Hale Reservation in Westwood will have the opportunity of planning their own activities and deciding what they want to do and when they are going to do it. The only scheduled activity is swimming.

The camp is different from the average camp in many ways. Almost two-thirds of the staff will be Boston College graduate students who are earning nine credits towards Master's Degrees in Educational Psychology by taking courses in adolescent psychology and educational psychology.

Graduate student counselors are with the children from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, and classes are held from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Classes are conducted by Dr. John S. Dacey, Director of the Educational Psychology Division of the Boston College School of Education as part of the summer school session.

"The main thing for the grad student to learn is how to relate to children as teachers," said Dr. Dacey. "Through their experience at the camp, where they are on a more equal basis with the children than in the classroom, they are learning what kids are really all about. And they also have a chance to put into practice the theory they have learned."

G. Michael Gardner, director of the program for a number of years, explained that campers, aged six and one half to 14, come from a variety of backgrounds, but all are seeking the same thing: a fun-filled social group experience. The flexibility planned into the program provides for a variety of activities daily and minimizes chances for repetitive or uninteresting offerings. Goals and objectives of the program are based upon the needs of children participating.

In commenting on the staff Mr. Gardner stated: "It is difficult for me to articulate my feelings concerning this dedicated group. They bring such qualities of warmth and understanding as well as enthusiasm to the program that an extremely positive experience for all concerned is inevitable."

Discussing the graduate students' enthusiasm about the program, Dr. Dacey stated

By TOM McCULLOUGH

How does baseball strike you these days? For one thing, we see a lot more of it on television. For another, many of the old heroes are gone. Bill Veeck, a former baseball club owner, has said: "Baseball is like our society. It's become homogenized, computerized; people identify with the swash-buckling individuals, not the polite little men who field their positions well. Sir Galahad probably had a big following, but I'll bet Lancelet had more." Knight games, anyone?

THE TUX SHOP, 230 California Street, 527-0459 also has a big following and for good reason. We stock at all times the latest in correct formal attire for all occasions. ## Newton Professor is Named To Board of John Hancock

Dr. Mary Ella Robertson, 47, of 101 Pleasant St., Newton Centre, professor of social policy and administration at Boston College Graduate School of Social Work, was named recently to the board of directors of John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Announcement of her election was made by Gerhard D. Bleicken, chairman and chief executive officer.

Bleicken said Dr. Robertson's background in education and social welfare particularly qualifies her to serve with the board of a large mutual life insurance company. "We are always seeking better means of relating our business to the changing character of our society and meeting policyholder and consumer needs for financial security and health protection. We think Dr. Robertson's experience in the broad field of social work will provide us with invaluable insights."

Before she came to Boston College in 1969, Dr. Robertson was dean and a professor of the School of Social Work at Howard University. Prior to that she served as assistant dean and visiting professor for the schools of social work at both the University of Wisconsin and the University of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Robertson holds a doctorate in philosophy from the University of Pittsburgh and a master's degree in social work from Atlanta University. She received her bachelor of arts degree from Xavier University, summa cum laude, in 1947.

She has been consultant to and member of numerous organizations and committees in the field of social work, medicine and social education. Her current affiliations include membership on the board of directors of the National Conference of Catholic Charities and the Human Life Foundation and membership on the advisory committee on social work education of the National Institute of Mental Health. She is also a special consultant on social welfare issues to John Cardinal Wright of the Vatican, Rome, Italy.

Dr. Robertson has served also as a member of the Delegate Assembly and of the Deans Advisory Committee of the Council of Social Work Education.

She received recognition in 1971 from the National Conference of Christians and Jews for her work in "Development of Human Relations," and as Pittsburgh Woman of the Year in 1965 for "Outstanding Community Service." She is listed in Who's Who of American Women.

Minister—

Minister, an historic event in the life of the Society. Particularly, it will be ordaining for the first time in this structure (built in 1906) its own minister, from its own parish of worshippers. Previous to that, it had ordained only four other ministers in its two other structures, since its founding in 1848.

Mrs. Laughland comes to the calling of the Ministry after a lifetime spent in this church and as an adult, in the service to its parish. Following a beloved kindergarten teacher at Cabot School to her church school class at the First Unitarian Society, Mrs. Laughland remained to complete the 12 grades in the Church School, continue on as a teacher, and eventually to become its first Director of Religious Education.

Mrs. Laughland is married to Dr. Arthur Laughland, Principal of the Hyde School in Newton Highlands, and when the youngest of their three children entered kindergarten, she enrolled at the Andover - Newton Theological School. Five years later she was one of the first two women (another Unitarian Director of Religious Education) to earn a degree in Religious Education in their part-time study program. Her daughter Lorna is now Community Health Organizer in Ohio, daughter Linda is a teacher in the Lincoln Public Schools, and son Andrew will graduate from Newton South High this June and continue his studies in biology in college.

While at Andover - Newton, Mrs. Laughland's commitment to the ministry to people was first reinforced. "I was grateful," she notes, "for the warm and generous acceptance of me as a Unitarian in a Congregational Baptist school. Our differences proved to be fewer than our common concerns. This is a truly unitarian concept in action."

The Society is honoring a life-time of service in the ministry and educational endeavors by one of its devoted parishioners by formally ordaining Mrs. Laughland into the ministry of their church, one of the few traditional religious ceremonies still followed by this denomination.

Educators as leaders in their Society is a tradition, also, as old as the parish itself. Horace Mann, one of the incorporators of the first parish of Unitarians, noted that they were determined to "extend the mental and spiritual frontiers of religious institutions." This was an extension of his experimental "Normal School" established on the site of what is now the First Unitarian Church," where the latest ideas in education were tried out and instruction was given by the more advanced students . . .

The charge to the first minister of the Society in 1848 was made by a Rev. Walker, who was later to become President of Harvard University. Horace Mann went on to become the first President of Antioch College. Symbolic influence of Unitarians in education is shown in the lives of men after whom five of the public schools of Newton have been named: Davis, Peirce and Horace Mann Elementary Schools, and the Warren and Weeks Jr. Highs.

The new minister at the First Unitarian Church has an extensive background in education. After receiving her B.A. in Biology in Colby and Masters at Andover - Newton, she became Minister of Education at the First Unitarian Church. She has been Chairman of the Mass. Bay District Religious Education Department of the Unitarian - Universalist Association; Educational advisor to the U - U churches of Waltham and Sherborne; member of the Board of the Roxbury - Newton Freedom Schools; and on the Board of Homestead II Camp in Denmark, Maine.

She has studied at Crane Theological School and with the California School of Professional Psychology, and has studied at Brandeis in courses on Anthropology and Religion.

Mrs. Roberta Humez, Director of Music for the Society, will present a special program of music, for both the choir and brass and flute instrumentals. Participating in the Ordination Service will be close friends and colleagues of Mrs. Laughland.

Included are: The Rev. Oren Peterson, Minister of the Germantown Unitarian Church, also recently ordained during his mid-life years after 20 years of service in the Navy; Dr. Gerard Rothschild of Newton Centre, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Society, speaking for the Congregation; The Rev. G. Clyde Dodder from the Society; Elizabeth Gale Foulkrod of Newton Highlands, student at Boston University; Dr. Robert Miller, Professor of Religion, Tufts University; The Rev. Joyce Smith, Minister, Sherborne Unitarian Church; The Rev. Edward Frost, President of the Mass. Bay District of the Unitarian - Universalist Association and Minister of the Waltham U - U Church; Dr. Charles E. Brown, former Superintendent of the Newton

Sacred Heart Publications Head To Receive ACPRA Award for Work

Miss Elizabeth A. Barry, director of publications at Newton College of the Sacred Heart, has been singled out for national recognition through the 1972 American College Public Relations Association Communications Competition.

She will receive an award certificate for a special events publication which she designed for the college—a program for a debate between William F. Buckley, Jr., and Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr.

The award will be presented at an ACPRA conference in Minneapolis, Minn., in July.

Miss Barry's award winning publication was selected from among 1200 entries. Initial screening was done by experienced college and university publications people from the Washington-Baltimore area.

Final selection of the most outstanding publications in each category was made by a panel of six judges, professionals in the fields of educational publications, direct mail, magazines, and educational journalism.

Miss Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Barry of Portsmouth, R. I., is a graduate of Middletown High School and Newton College of the Sacred Heart. She also attended the Radcliffe Publishing Procedures Course at Radcliffe College and the Museum College and the Museum School of Fine Arts in Boston.

Before coming to Newton College, Miss Barry worked as an artist for the Boston advertising firm, Provande, Eastwood and Lombardi, Inc.

Kenny Hahn of Newton, a student at Newton High School, has won a total of $45 in cash prizes in the SETS computer contest for this second year. Other Newton prize winners were Larry Noguee of Newton South High School with $25, and Gary Maltz, also of Newton South High School, with $15.

Hahn compiled his unprecedented win by taking a $25 first and a $10 third prize in the Computer Science category, and a $10 third prize in the Science category. His first prize in the Computer Science category was for his program "MINI," which is a complete file maintenance handler; his third prize in the Computer Science category was for his program "LAP," which is a disassembler; Mr. Hahn's third prize in the Science category was for "ELECTRN," an applications program useful in teaching Electronics.

Noguee won $25 as first prize in the Mathematics category for his program "POCO," which plotted polar functions, and Maltz won his $15 second prize in the Computer Science category for "SNAIL," a Mathematical Interpreter.

This is the second time in two years that Newton students finished in the money with the SETS contest. Last year, Lawrence Elderman won third prize in the Mathematics category.

These Newton students competed with other students from 31 schools in Eastern Massachusetts, taking five of the nine possible prizes, and $85 out of a total of $150 in cash. These schools are all subscribers of SETS, Inc., who supply a time sharing service to educational institutions in order to teach programming and problem solving methods to the students.

Each subscriber-school has a Teletype terminal on its premises, which is connected to the SETS computer facility in Waltham by means of leased telephone lines.

Studies conducted in the past show that students who become adept at programming in a Mathematical environment do better on college entrance examinations and learn a great deal more Mathematics.

The computer courses are offered at Newton High by Mrs. Cathy Hollewell, and at Newton South High by Paul Shapiro.

Newton Beats Defending State Champ Winchester

By DAVID SOLOMON

Last year Winchester beat Newton by one goal in lacrosse, and went on to be State Champs. Last Friday, Newton beat Winchester by two goals in Lacrosse, and they have a good chance at being State Champs this year.

The Tigers are 6-1, having lost only to Tabor, a private school which fields probably the best lacrosse team in New England. Newton coach Tom DePeters commented that "if we beat Brookline, we will certainly be chosen for the State Tournament, and I think we'll have a good chance in it." The Tournament is in Amherst on June 2 and 3, and three teams from Eastern Mass. are chosen to compete.

The score was 6-4 against Winchester. Mark Herendeen and John Connolly each had two goals, while Fred Whoriskey and Wally Cox each added one. All but Cox are midfielders.

On May 10, Newton beat Roxbury Latin 9-6. Ben Friedell had three goals. Mark Herendeen had two goals and two assists. Wally Cox had a goal and three assists. Paul Bianchi had a goal and two assists. Other goals were scored by Fred Whoriskey, and Evan Biblos. Newton had a 7-2 lead at the half.

Back on May 8, Newton clobbered Newton South 14-0. The Tigers had six power play goals. The score was 8-0 at the half, and Newton scored six goals in the third period. Fred Whoriskey had four goals, Ben Friedell had three, Mark Herendeen had two, Evan Biblos had two, and Wally Cox and Dick Healey each had one. Coach Tom DePeters commented that "we controlled the game from the outset and could have scored more." Goalie Marty Berman needed to make only one save.

Leading goal scorers for the potent offensive team are midfielder Mark Herendeen with sixteen, attackman Walter Cox with fourteen, attackman Ben Friedell with thirteen, and midfielder Fred Whoriskey with eight. The Tigers have scored 76 goals in seven games, compared to only 19 for their opponents.

Mr. DePeters noted that "everybody always talks about our offense, but the defense is also very strong. The amount of times the ball has been kept out of our end is a tribute to Mike Ball, Peter Carvelli and Gary Vittl. A figure which pleases me is that out of fifty chances our opposition has had on the power play they have scored only four times. Dick Healey and Evan Biblos have played exceptional defense when we're a man down."

Newton Trackmen Take 2 Slaughter Wins; Now 4-1

By DAVID SOLOMON

This week will be the week of reckoning for the Newton High track team. They will have three meets in five days, including meets against the top teams in the league, Brockton and Weymouth South. Although the Tigers won two routs last week to bring their record to 4-1, they will have a difficult time against Brockton and Weymouth.

Coach Ed Boyle commented that "we'll do well for the overall season, but we're definitely going to have trouble with these two teams. For some reason we just seem to be behind the other teams in conditioning. I don't know why. But we've been hurt by a lack of work. We started late and this may have really hurt us."

Newton scored over 100 points in both its meets last week. On May 10 against Cambridge Latin the score was 105-35, and the next day it was 108 1/2-31 1/2 over Brookline.

Newton won 14 out of 16 events against Cambridge. Co-Captain Dave Douglas was the only double winner, with victories in the 880 and the triple jump. He also anchored the winning relay team.

Bill Fulton won the high hurdles in 17.0 seconds. Bob Womboldt won the low hurdles in 19.8. Bob Hoover took second. Jim Shaw won the 100, with Allan Rubin placing third. Shaw's time was 10.8. Paul Magliocco won the 220 for Newton, and Jim Schpeiser won the 440. Magliocco's time was 24.6 seconds, and Schpeiser's was 55.0. Gerry Goukasian took third in the 440.

Dave Douglas won the 880 in 1:57.5. Newton swept the mile with co-captain Ken Gorfinkle. Peter Wrenn and Juan Sanchez taking the three top spots. Gorfinkle's time was 4:53.2. Newton took first and second in the two-mile. Bob Carleo won the race in 10:15, and Ralph Gott was second.

Mike Wargin won the shot-put for Newton with a throw of 40 feet, 6 inches. Peter Dion was second. Mark Seligman won the javelin with a toss of 137 feet, seven inches. Bill Seaward won the high jump, and Ben Press was second. Seaward jumped five feet, two inches. Newton swept the triple jump, with Dave Douglas. Bob Womboldt and Bob Hoover placing. Douglas jumped 38 feet, 11 inches. The Tigers also swept the pole vault. Peter Fair vaulted ten feet. John Womboldt was second, and Joe Benn third.

The Tiger relay team of Shaw, Schpeiser, Douglas and Magliocco won with a time of 1:36.6.

The only two events Newton did not win were the discus and the long jump. But Newton took second and third in both. In the discus David Egelson was second and Gary Fagelman third. In the long jump, Alan Rubin was second and Paul Magliocco took third.

Against Brookline the next day, Newton continued in the same manner. Newton swept four events in this meet. Mark Seligman took first in the javelin with a throw of 149 feet, eight inches. Ken Morog was second, and Mark Rogovin took third. In the two-mile, co-captain Ken Gorfinkle was first with a 10:37.2 time. Ralph Gott was second, and David Kingsbury third. Jim

Women's Tennis

The first match, played on April 28th against Wellesley Country Club, the Newton team won two and lost two. The following week, May 5th, Newton had a clean sweep beating all four of the Needham Town Teams.

The results of the third match against the Waban Tennis Club were as follows:

Team No. 1 — Lynn Arthur and Betty Trammell lost 6-4, 7-9, 5-7.

Team No. 2 — Charlotte Backmann and Jennifer Symonds lost 7-9, 10-8, 3-6.

Team No. 3 — Connie Geisser and Marilyn Stein won 6-3, 6-2.

South Golf Team Wins 6th Straight

If the Newton South golf team gets any more impressive I might find myself writing that it will be contenders for the state title.

The streaking Lions nipped Acton - Boxboro, 5-4 for their sixth straight decision and remain undefeated and alone atop the Dual County League.

Jim Rosenberg's low score of 38 was the key to the match. Rosenberg and his partner Bob Sherman teamed for three points in a clutch effort. Steve Owens and Tom Hoffman played nearly as well and collected the other two points. South's two other competitors, Brian Corcoran and Jeff Schneider did not score.

The match was South's closest call all year, something remarkable for Lion golfers. In fact, despite the evidence of consecutive slaughters of Lincoln - Sudbury, Lynnfield, Weston, Wayland, and Bedford, plus Acton, it's still hard to believe that a Newton South golf team is this good. But the evidence keeps mounting as the Lions keep winning.

Newton South Nine Blanks Weston And Acton Boxboro

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Excellent pitching, airtight defense, and heady base running propelled the Newton South baseball team to shutout victories, 6-0 over Weston, and 7-0 over Acton-Boxboro, last week.

The two triumphs left South's record at 6-1 and in first place as the squad quests to repeat as Dual County League Champs.

Mark Fogel made his debut in the starting rotation an auspicious one as he permitted just two hits and no runs in four innings of work to pick up the win. He was aided by Jim Kavanaugh, who hurled the last three innings and was superb with five strikeouts. Fogel whiffed seven men. Each walked only one enemy batter.

The South offense, meanwhile, made Fogel's and Kavanaugh's tasks easy from the start, scoring two runs in the first inning, three in the second, and then adding the final tally in the third.

The Lions, becoming true masters of the timely hit, only managed two safeties themselves, but were aided tremendously by 12 walks from Wildcat twirlers. Rich Hyman crashed a clutch double to drive in two runs and then added a third RBI later on. Tony Lombardo also singled home a run. Curiously, Robbie Shahan, who went zero for three, drove in two runs, and scored two runs as the result of two sacrifice bunts. Elliot

South bats came alive to support Lourie with one of their busiest, most productive days of the year. The Lions lashed seven hits, including two doubles by Ron Izen. Single hits came off the bats of Elliott Loew, Shahan, Ned Moan, Lombardo and pitcher Lourie, who helped himself with a two-run single.

Lourie actually had to worry for a while. South scored two runs in the first inning and held the 2-0 lead until the fourth. But in the fourth the Lions erupted again for three runs to ice the game and make Lourie's work a little easier. The final two runs came across in the sixth inning.

The Lions next play Bedford, Lincoln-Sudbury, Westwood, and Wayland.

South Tennis Team Bows To Weston; Blanks Lynnfield

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Defending state tennis champion Newton South smashed Lynnfield, 5-0, but then was upended by unbeaten Weston, 4-1, for the second time this spring. The Lynnfield match was a South's only point.

total rout. Stan Mescon, 6-0, 6-2, Jim Karol, 6-0, 6-1, and Mark Altman, 6-0, 6-1, swept the players Karol, 7-5, 9-7, and singles. And teammates Jim Green 6-3, 6-2, went down of Oppenheim and Ken Green, 6-1, fering little resistance and 6-0, and Jim Cornblatt and Mike Charness, 6-2, 6-2, could settle for nothing less convincing.

What appeared so flawless and all powerful against Lynnfield seemed merely a dream a few days later when South hit the dust for the second time this season. The Wildcats, 6-0, and undisputed owner of first place, were more formidable than in their 3-2 win over the Lions on April 24. And after a similar 4-1 trouncing of Lincoln-Sudbury, last week, Weston seems headed for the league crown.

Mescon scored a surprisingly easy, 6-3, 6-0 win over Barnaby Kalen, after losing to him the first time, to notch

Newton Girls' Tennis Team Drops Match to Arlington

By DAVID SOLOMON

A loss last Friday to Arlington will most likely prevent the Newton High girls' tennis team from capturing the Suburban League title, but they still have a chance at a winning season.

Coach Ruth Frazier commented about the team that "we are working very well together. The girls have good individual skills, and the girls are very cooperative. . . . The only thing we lack is practice and the experience that comes with it. The rain has hurt us here."

With nine matches still left to play, the Tigeresses have a 2-2 record. They opened the season with a 4-1 loss to Walpole on April 27. Suki McGraw won Newton's only point, capturing first singles by a 6-3, 6-4 score.

On April 28 Newton shutout Needham 5-0. Suki McGraw won first singles 6-0, 6-2. Barbara Cain took second singles with a 6-4, 6-2 win. Lisa Simon was victorious in third singles by a 6-3, 6-4 margin. In the doubles, Sue Abramson and Paula Ellman took the first point 7-5, 5-7, 6-2. Judy Robertson and Erietta D'Ligiannides won second doubles 7-6, 6-3.

After a lost week due to rain, Newton beat Brookline on May 10. The score again was 5-0. Suki McGraw won first singles 5-7, 6-1, 6-0. Barbara Cain won in the second position 6-2, 6-3. Lisa Simon took third singles 3-6, 6-1, 6-1. Paula Ellman and Judy

Newton then came up against Arlington, the league's toughest team, on May 11. They came away with a 3-2 loss. Suki McGraw and Barbara Cain both lost their singles matches. Lisa Simon won in third singles, and Laurie Mass and Judy Robertson won in first doubles. Sue Abramson and Paula Ellman dropped second doubles. Newton will have another chance at Arlington on May 30. Newton is 1-1 in their league.

Paul Goldman won his second game of the week on May 12. Newton topped Brookline 4-1, and revenge a 4-2 loss earlier in the season. Newton scored first in the third inning, as Paul Austin scored on an error. Newton won the game in the fifth. Ken Billings opened the inning with a triple to right-center, and scored on a perfect suicide squeeze by Dave Boyajian. Bill Vello then singled, and Jim Fay tripled him home. Fay then scored on a bobbled throw in the infield. Newton had six hits in the game, and Brookline had only four. Fay and Billings each had two hits for the Tigers.

Paul Goldman got the win in relief, as he pitched the last four and one-third innings. He

Exeter 2nd Prep School To Fall To Hot NHS Netmen

By DAVID SOLOMON

It is undeniably true that most of the efforts of coaching tennis take place before a match. Once a match starts it is up to the players. But there are times when advice between sets can help.

It is doubtful that John Milne will easily forget his first match coaching the Newton High varsity team. With George Jessup running the EMass Individual Tournament at Newton South, Milne moved up from jayvee coach to help out the varsity.

The results were just that Newton beat Exeter Academy for the first time ever, as they won their eleventh straight match. As in the St. Marks match, it was the doubles that clinched the win for the Tigers. And one between-sets comment by Mr. Milne helped out the cause of at least the first doubles team.

Newton split the eight best-of-three-sets singles matches. Carl Kravitz won first singles over Renner by a 6-2, 6-3 score. Richard Birmingham took second singles over Breindel 6-2, 6-3. Tom Fentin lost his first match of the year to Taylor by a 4-6, 4-6 score. Joe Mitchell won fourth singles over Borgwardt 6-3, 6-1. Dave Solomon dropped fifth singles, Steve Shulman lost sixth singles, and Steve Freeman lost seventh singles. Richard Yanofsky beat Kushner in eighth singles by a 7-5, 6-3 score.

Yanofsky was also part of the fourth doubles team that eventually earned the winning point for the Tigers. Along with Matt Schreiner, he beat Kushner and Fisher by a 6-3, 1-6, 6-1 score. On the verge of physical exhaustion, the duo came back to win an excellent third set after splitting. Schreiner wrapped up the match with some tremendous serving in the final game.

In first doubles, Tom Fentin and Rich Birmingham also played an inspired third set. After splitting 6-2, 4-6, they won the final set 6-0. Joe Mitchell and Dave Solomon have never lost together in two years, and they captured second doubles by a 6-2, 6-3 score. Carl Kravitz and Steve Shulman lost third doubles 2-6, 3-6.

Newton won three other matches during the week in rather easy style. On Tuesday it was 5-0 over Brookline in a match played indoors. Carl Kravitz won first singles 6-2, 6-1. Rich Birmingham won second singles 6-4, 7-5. Tom Fentin won third singles 12-4. Joe Mitchell and Dave Solomon won first doubles 12-0, and Matt Schreiner and Steve Schimelflyng of Bedford.

Tiger Nine Win Two and Lose Two In Busy Week

By DAVID SOLOMON

In a stretch of scheduling that resembled major league baseball, Newton High played four games in four days last week. They came out with two close wins, one close loss, and one slaughter defeat. The Tigers' record is now 5-5 in the Suburban League, and 5-7 overall.

On May 10, Newton squeaked by Brookline, 1-0. Newton scored its run in the second inning. Bob Notartomaso singled, and Ken Billings walked. Russ D'Argento hit a sacrifice bunt, and runners were on second and third. Tom King then layed down a bunt single which scored the only run of the game.

Paul Goldman did a great job for Newton, pitching the whole game and striking out five. He walked only two, and let up only five hits, all singles. It was his second win of the season, against one loss. Newton had four hits, two of them by second baseman Dave Boyajian.

The following day, the Tigers dropped a 3-2 decision to Cambridge Latin. Newton took a 2-0 lead in the third inning. Russ D'Argento singled and stole second. Tom King reached on a fielder's choice, and after Dave Boyajian and Bill Vello walked with two outs, Jim Fay hit a two-run single to left field. Cambridge tied the game with two runs in the sixth, and won the game in the seventh. Ed Beckler started the game for Newton, and reliever Paul Austin was charged with the loss. His record is 2-2. Beckler had six strikeouts in the game. Cambridge outgait the Tigers 7-3.

Paul Goldman won his second game of the week on May 12. Newton topped Brookline 4-1, and revenge a 4-2 loss earlier in the season. Newton scored first in the third inning, as Paul Austin scored on an error. Newton won the game in the fifth. Ken Billings opened the inning with a triple to right-center, and scored on a perfect suicide squeeze by Dave Boyajian. Bill Vello then singled, and Jim Fay tripled him home. Fay then scored on a bobbled throw in the infield. Newton had six hits in the game, and Brookline had only four. Fay and Billings each had two hits for the Tigers.

Paul Goldman got the win in relief, as he pitched the last four and one-third innings. He

South Track Team Loses Two In Row

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Newton South's track team started last week's activity undefeated at 1-0-1. By the end of the week the squad had a losing mark of 1-2-1.

Last week South ran up against some of the iron in the Dual County League and came out on the short end of two thoroughly unclose scores, 82-49 to Westwood and 83-48 to Wayland. The Lions just lost to better teams.

There were some bright spots for the Lions versus Westwood, most notably, victories by Mike McKinney, two events, Chuck Linda, Barry Kaplan, and Charley Applestein.

McKinney captured both the low and high hurdles in the same time, 17.1. Linda, a virtual novice at the event, earned his second win in the triple jump at 37-5 1/2 while Kaplan was collecting his initial blue ribbon with a toss of 40-7 1/2. Co-captain Applestein continued his improvement in the discus with a 126-10 1/2 throw.

The highlights of the meet, in terms of quality performances, were all turned in by Westwood runners. Sprinter Alan Judge was very impressive, scoring a double victory with a 10.0 100-yard dash and a 23.0 220 dash. Miller Jim Kelly also registered a top-notch time-4:39.

Though the Lions didn't win many events they did well in the back-up points, chalking up six seconds and six thirds.

Three-point finishes were recorded by co-captain Howie Haines in the 100, 440, and long jump. McKinney, in the high jump, sophomore Byron Riss in the 2-mile, and Howie Fruttkoff in the mile. Single points were added by Matt Williams, high hurdles, Linda, 880, Dan Pearlman, 440, Jim Paglia, low hurdles, Dave Lelechok, 220, and Applestein, shot-put.

The Wayland meet followed a similar pattern. The Lions did alright, but the Warriors did better.

South got firsts from Haines, a very good 104 in the 100, Kaplan, 40-10 1/2 in the shot for his second straight five-point performance, and a personal best of 132-6 in the discus, one of the longest tosses in school history.

Lion seconds and thirds abounded. Newton took second of 40-7 1/2. Apple place in eight events for half of its point total. McKinney, high and low hurdles, Linda, 880, Applestein, shot, Bruce Brown, discus Haines, long jump and 440, and Fruttkoff, 2-mile were the second-place finishes.

Linda slipped to third in his third triple jump outing. Williams again took third in the high hurdles and Paglia did likewise in the lows. Josh Mann, 100, McKinney, high jump, Riss, mile, Scott Barron, 440, Lelechok, 220, and John Hahn, whose brother Bob used to throw the discus for South, completed the Lion sweep of that event, all had thirds for single points.

NHS Girls' Softball Squad Begins With 2 of 3 Wins

By DAVID SOLOMON

Three games out of a thirteen game season may not be enough to make much of a judgement about that team, but for whatever it's worth, after three games the Newton High Girls' Softball team has a 2-1 record.

The Tigeresses began the season with two non-league games. They beat Walpole in the opener on April 27 by a 17-13 score. Newton collected 21 hits, including a homerun by Jody Capello. Linda Quintilliani, a sophomore first baseman was four for six.

On April 28 Newton lost to Needham 10-4. Coach Carolyn Harrington commented that "we didn't deserve to win this one. We played poorly." The highlight of the game from Newton's standpoint was the another homerun by Jody Capello. Coach Harrington commented that "Jody seems to be our best power hitter. She is batting cleanup, and although she's small, she is deceiving. She hits strong line drives."

Jody Capello hit her third homerun in Newton's third game, on May 9. The Tigers beat Brookline 18-12. Mrs. Harrington commented that "we were sloppy, because of the practice we missed due to bad weather. Sue Ekeizan was cited for her strong defensive work as catcher."

Newton may have a chance for their league title, with the two games against Arlington being the predicted tough ones.

Tiger Golfers Strong With Perfect 8-0 Record

By DAVID SOLOMON

Newton High always produces a good golf team, and this year is far from an exception. The Tigers have an 8-0 record, and are up 3 1/2 points in the Suburban League.

Coach and Golf Pro Jim Ronayne is nevertheless cautious in his comments. "We've been scraping by, we've had two 5-4 wins. I'm looking forward to our getting better. I'm satisfied with our showings so far, but I think we have enough talent to be a better team."

Newton's lineup is "not completely settled," and Ronayne has been trying various combinations to see which will produce the best results. Right now Jim Curtis and Jim Coleman are one and two men on the team. Mike Bove and John Carvelli hold down the third and fourth spots. While Paul Johnson, Bill Tramantozzi and Kevin Ball are battling for the last two spots.

Newton opened their Suburban League season with a 7-2 win against Brookline back on April 24. Dan Curtis had the best score with a 62 in fifteen holes. Curtis and Jim Coleman won three points for Newton. Mike Bove and Bill Tramantozzi won one point, while Paul Johnson and John Carvelli took three points for Newton.

The next day Newton won a big match, beating Brookton on their own course. The score was 5-4. Jim Coleman and Paul Johnson won three points for Newton, and Mike Bove and John Carvelli took two. Bove had the best score in the match, a 79 on a par-70 course.

On May 1, Newton beat Boston Latin in a non-league match. Dan Curtis shot a match-low 66. Jim Coleman and Bill Tramantozzi took one point for Newton, while Jim Curtis and Kevin Ball, and John Johnston and Paul Johnson each took two.

On May 8, the Tigers shut out Weymouth 9-0. Curtis and Carvelli, Coleman and Johnson, and Bove and Tramantozzi each had three points.

Three days later Newton beat Weymouth South 8-1. Ronayne had been hoping for a shutout in this one, since league scoring is kept by points and not by wins. Curtis and Carvelli took two points in this one. Coleman and Johnson

South Lacrosse Team Bows 14-0

The Newton South High lacrosse team hit the low point of its season, last week, falling to powerful Newton High, 14-0, for its fifth consecutive loss after two straight opening wins.

The Tigers controlled the game from the outset, notching two goals in the first stanza and then erupting for six scores in both the second and third quarters.

Newton's attack was devastating. Fred Whoriskey penetrated the South defenses four times for the chief offensive threat. But he had plenty of help. Ben Friedell collected three goals and Mark Herendeen and Evan Biblos added two scores apiece. The Tiger offense, all told, unleashed a 38-shot barrage at Lion netminder Gary Ross. Ross, in a good effort, stopped 24 of them. He just lacked the defensive help up front.

South was so outclassed that it could manage only two shots on Marty Berman.

There was nothing good to be said for the Lions' showing, except wait till next week. Next week, though, is now this week, and South will attempt to break out of its slump against Framingham North and Medford.

Bruins Bring Cup Back To Boston Where It Belongs

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN

Did anybody really doubt that the Bruins would bring the Stanley Cup back where it belongs?

Of course, there were a number of formalities to dispense with first, like winning games, something which was overlooked, last year, but this time the fairytale had a happy ending.

Perhaps it was Tom Johnson's sad-faced admission the morning after the fifth game in Boston that his troops "didn't hit anyone out there" which ranted the "Big, Bad Bruins" pride. Whatever the cause, the Bruins came out swinging last Thursday and hit everything in sight. And they weren't only hitting, but they were skating. They flew through 60 minutes of an incredibly paced hockey game.

Both Boston and New York skated fast and hard from beginning to end. The opening period tempo was so swift it seemed the game had to slow down, but it never did, and offside and icing calls were rare, so whistles were less frequent than usual.

The Bruins took only 22 shots in the contest, 11 less than the Rangers, but took advantage of them and made three goals on good, unstoppable shots.

Bobby Orr, to no one's surprise, was awarded the Conn Smythe Trophy as the Most Valuable Player in the playoffs and those watching the season's final effort there could have been no other choice. Orr, in a routine, spectacular show, scored one goal, assisted on a second after a gorgeous spin-away move, and generally, as he won't to do, controlled the game.

The riotous scene which greeted the club at Logan Airport at 3 a.m. was the biggest demonstration in Boston this spring season. The crowd was estimated at 10,000, a pretty good demo group since the populace gave up on moratoriums and rallies after Kent State two years ago. The 10,000 who went berserk in the rebound!

"Ecology Special" For Bird's Eye View

Roughing it in the backwoods isn't the only way to learn about nature.

More than 100 adults and youngsters did it by flying in a 707 jet dubbed the "Ecology Special" to get a look at the works of man and nature.

Champagne was poured continuously for the adults by pretty stewardesses — a far cry from the few luxuries that can be shoved into a knapsack.

"Flying is a terrific way to see things," said Maryann Danielson, director of the San Mateo County Junior Museum which sponsored the project, a first for any museum in the area.

Miss Danielson said the trip was arranged with the help of TWA pilot Wayne Richardson, who persuaded his employers to rent the craft at a minimal cost.

The plane flew south to Big Sur, then east over Salinas and the San Joaquin Valley. Then it went north along the western foothills of the Sierra, returning home via the farmlands north of Sacramento.

A running commentary was supplied by two ecology experts, Howard Cogswell and Thomas Pagenhart, both professors at Cal State Hayward. Pagenhart contrasted areas where man had influenced the environment with canals, dams and housing with those where "nature had interfered with nature without the help of man."

He said very little had been done to disturb the Sutter Buttes.

"No soft drink signs. It seems very un-American," he told the 107 passengers.

To Thaw Frozen Wife After "Cure" Is Found

By JOHN NEEDHAM

"Nick DeBlasio, a 48-year-old retired New York City policeman, has invested $15,000 so far in a gamble that a cure will be found for cancer and that his wife, dead three years, can be unfrozen, brought back to life and the cure applied."

Her body lies now in an eight-foot high capsule in a rural cemetery here, frozen at 320 degrees below zero in 185 gallons of liquid nitrogen.

"I don't withdraw from reality," he said at the cemetery, standing beside the capsule on which a Rosary hangs between two American flag decals. "If nothing ever comes of this I surely won't be disappointed because I won't be around to know about it."

DeBlasio, who retired as a policeman in 1970 and now runs an automobile transmission repair shop near his Long Island, N.Y., home, is a member of the Cryonics Society of California, Inc.

Biological science rejects the society's "freeze and resurrect theory. It contends that a frozen body will suffer lethal cell deterioration in the thawing process.

Man Of Faith

DeBlasio replies that he believes strongly in God and that anything God wills, can happen. He refers to his wife, Ann, as the patient and speaks of her body being "suspended."

The vertical, aqua-colored capsule takes up part of a 6-by-9 foot wood-paneled room below ground in the cemetery. On a nearby table sits a Christmas tree and pictures of Nick and Ann. About every six weeks there is a replacement of the liquid nitrogen. It takes 20 minutes.

Seven other bodies in a California cemetery lie horizontal in individual specially made capsules welded shut. DeBlasio can open the top of his, "to view the patient."

The oldest person to have his body "cryonically suspended" was James H. Bedford, a 73-year-old former professor of psychology, who in 1967 was the first to be frozen. The youngest frozen body is that of 8-year-old Genevieve de la Poterie, of a Montreal suburb, who died of cancer last January.

DeBlasio learned of the Society and its work in 1968. Later, when he knew his wife was dying, he contacted Robert Nelson, a 34-year-old electronics engineer who is president of the non-profit organization.

"I guess if we had a motto it would be 'Inform yourself, cryonic suspension may save your life,' Nelson said on a trip to the cemetery here.

"Bedford specified that there be no attempt at reanimation unless medical science was up to the task of curing his cancer, his other ailments and making him younger, which is a pretty tall order."

Nelson's headquarters are in Santa Monica and there are cryonics societies in Michigan, Florida and Iowa, as well as a similar group in New York.

Frozen After Death

The normal procedure—the one followed when Ann DeBlasio died at age 43 on Jan. 3, 1969, in a New York hospital—is to inject an anticoagulant into the heart as soon as the person is declared legally dead.

Ice is used to lower the body temperature and blood is replaced with a "biological antifreeze" known as dimethylsulfoxide (DMSO). The patient is then placed in dry ice to further lower the temperature and is encapsulated and stored permanently.

"Being a Roman Catholic, I'm interested in the religious angle," DeBlasio said. He contacted his parish priest, who referred him to the local bishop, who told him to proceed and added, "only God can actually say whether you're dead or not."

DeBlasio explained the procedure to his three children, ranging in age from 16 to 23, who felt it was a "magnificent idea."

They and he plan to have themselves frozen, also.

The Reason Why

"People ask, why did I do it. First of all, you had to know Ann and the type of individual she was. She was a superlative human being. She never asked for anything for herself, it was always what she could give."

"I believe within the next five or 10 years there'll be a major breakthrough in cancer research, at least a complete remission," said DeBlasio, a chain-smoker who last month formed a group called Fight Against Cancer Today, to help in the search.

"Whether a cure comes along before that I don't know. I don't believe the scientists themselves could answer that question. If nothing ever comes of it, this would be the will of God."

For now, DeBlasio goes about his daily business, visits the cemetery every other Sunday, and hopes.

"I'll tell you one thing," he said. "You don't get that morbid feeling when you go over here, because you know something's there, something's trying to be done. I know I go and see my Dad, I go to a tombstone. You know there's nothing there."

Lacrosse Team On The Move---

By DAVID SOLOMON

Last year Winchester beat Newton by one goal in lacrosse, and went on to be State Champs. Last Friday, Newton beat Winchester by two goals in Lacrosse, and they have a good chance at being State Champs this year.

The Tigers are 6-1, having lost only to Tabor, a private school which fields probably the best lacrosse team in New England. Newton coach Tom DePeter commented that "if we beat Brookline, we will certainly be chosen for the State Tournament, and I think we'll have a good chance in it." The tournament is in Amherst on June 2 and 3, and three teams from Eastern Mass. are chosen to compete.

The score was 6-4 against Winchester. Mark Herendeen and John Connolly each had two goals, while Fred Whoriskey and Wally Cox each added one. All but Cox are midfielders.

On May 10, Newton beat Roxbury Latin 9-6. Ben Friedell had three goals. Mark Herendeen had two goals and two assists. Wally Cox had a goal and three assists. Paul Bianchi had a goal and two assists. Other goals were scored by Fred Whoriskey, and Evan Biblos. Newton had a 7-2 lead at the half.

Back on May 8, Newton clobbered Newton South 14-0. The Tigers had six power play goals. The score was 8-0 at the half, and Newton scored six goals in the third period. Fred Whoriskey had four goals, Ben Friedell had three, Mark Herendeen had two, Evan Biblos had two, and Wally Cox and Dick Healey each had one. Coach Tom DePeter commented that "we controlled the game from the outset and could have scored more." Goalie Marty Berman needed to make only one save.

Leading goal scorers for the potent offensive team are midfielder Mark Herendeen with sixteen, attackman Walter Cox with fourteen, attackman Ben Friedell with thirteen, and midfielder Fred Whoriskey with eight. The Tigers have scored 76 goals in seven games, compared to only 19 for their opponents.

Mr. DePeter noted that "everybody always talks about our offense, but the defense is also very strong. The amount of times the ball has been kept out of our end is a tribute to Mike Ball, Peter Carvelli and Gary Vitti. A figure which pleases me is that out of fifty chances our opposition has had on the power play they have scored only four times. Dick Healey and Evan Biblos have played exceptional defense when we're a man down."

Newton Trackmen Take 2 Slaughter Wins; Now 4-1

By DAVID SOLOMON

This week will be the week of reckoning for the Newton High track team. They will have three meets in five days, including meets against the top teams in the league, Brockton and Weymouth South. Although the Tigers won two routs last week to bring their record to 4-1, they will have a difficult time against Brockton and Weymouth.

Coach Ed Boyle commented that "we'll do well for the overall season, but we're definitely going to have trouble with these two teams. For some reason we just seem to be behind the other teams in conditioning. I don't know why. But we've been hurt by a lack of work. We started late and this may have really hurt us."

Newton scored over 100 points in both its meets last week. On May 10 against Cambridge Latin the score was 105-35, and the next day it was 108½-31½ over Brookline.

Newton won 14 out of 16 events against Cambridge. Co-Captain Dave Douglas was the only double winner, with victories in the 880 and the triple jump. He also anchored the winning relay team.

Bill Fulton won the high hurdles in 17.0 seconds. Bob Womboldt won the low hurdles in 19.8. Bob Hoover took second. Jim Shaw won the 100, with Allan Rubin placing third. Shaw's time was 10.8. Paul Magliocca won the 220 for Newton, and Jim Scheper won the 440. Magliocca's time was 24.6 seconds, and Scheper's was 55.0. Gerry Gookasian took third in the 440.

Dave Douglas won the 880 in 1:57.5. Newton swept the mile with co-captain Ken Gorfinkle. Peter Wrenn and Juan Sanchez taking the three top spots. Gorfinkle's time was 4:53.2. Newton took first and second in the two-mile. Bob Carleo won the race in 10:15, and Ralph Gott was second.

Mike Wargin won the shot-put for Newton with a throw of 40 feet, 6 inches. Peter Dion was second. Mark Seligman won the javelin with a toss of 137 feet, seven inches. Bill Seaward won the high jump, and Ben Press was second. Seaward jumped five feet, two inches. Newton swept the triple jump, with Dave Douglas, Bob Womboldt and Bob Hoover placing. Douglas jumped 38 feet, 11 inches. The Tigers also swept the pole vault. Peter Fair vaulted ten feet. John Womboldt was second, and Joe Benn third.

Coach Boyle commented about the team that "what we lack is depth. We are quite weak in some key events, and this has been our problem so far. We will win against everything but the top competition... I have great respect for these boys, and they have worked awfully hard. We have looked very good in places."

Women's Tennis

Our Friday morning, May 12, 1972, the C Team of the Newton Women's Doubles Suburban Tennis League played their third match of season. The first match, played on April 28th against Wellesley Country Club, the Newton team won two and lost two. The following week, May 5th, Newton had a clean sweep beating all four of the Needham Town Teams.

The results of the third match against the Waban Tennis Club were as follows: Team No. 1 — Lynn Arthur and Betty Trammell lost 6-4, 7-9, 5-7. Team No. 2 — Charlotte Backmann and Jennifer Symonds lost 7-9, 10-8, 3-6. Team No. 3 — Connie Geisser and Marily Stein won 6-3, 6-2. Team No. 4 — Johnnie Barbara Cain won in the second position 6-2, 6-3. Lisa Simon took third singles 3-6, 6-1, 6-1. Paula Ellman and Judy Schpeiser won the 880 with a 2:07.2 time, and was followed by Paul Souliotis and Jeff Garden. Jim Shaw won the long jump for Newton with a leap of 18 feet, five inches, and Paul Magliocca and Allan Rubin completed the sweep. Bob Womboldt won the low hurdles in 22 seconds. Bob Hoover was second. Dave Douglas won the 440, in 50.8 seconds. Van Trees coming in second, with Van Trees coming in second. Bob Carleo won the mile in 4:46.2, and Juan Sanchez placed 3rd. Peter Dion won the shot put with a throw of 42 feet, 3 inches, and Mike Wargin took second. Gary Fagelman won the discus with a throw of 116.3 feet, and Bob Grossman was second. Dave Douglas won the triple jump with a jump of 39 feet, three inches. Bob Womboldt was third. Paul Magliocca won the 220 in 24.0 seconds.

Peter Fair won the pole vault with a vault of ten feet, three inches. John Womboldt was second, and Joe Benn tied for third. Newton won the relay with a time of 1:35.4. In the events that Newton did not win, Bill Fulton took third in the high hurdles, Jim Shaw was second in the 100, Bill Seaward was second in the pole vault, and Ben Press was third in the same event.

Coach Boyle commented about the team that "what we lack is depth. We are quite weak in some key events, and this has been our problem so far. We will win against everything but the top competition... I have great respect for these boys, and they have worked awfully hard. We have looked very good in places."

South Golf Team Wins 6th Straight

If the Newton South golf team gets any more impressive I might find myself writing that it will be contenders for the state title.

The streaking Lions nipped Acton - Boxboro, 5-4 for their sixth straight decision and remain undefeated and alone atop the Dual County League.

Jim Rosenberg's low score of 38 was the key to the match. Rosenberg and his partner Bob Sherman teamed for three points in a clutch effort. Steve Owens and Tom Hoffman played nearly as well and collected the other two points. South's two other competitors, Brian Corcoran and

Jeff Schneider did not score. The match was South's closest call all year, something remarkable for Lion golfers. In fact, despite the evidence of consecutive slaughters of Lincoln - Sudbury, Lynnfield, Weston, Wayland, and Bedford, plus Acton, it's still hard to believe that a Newton South golf team is this good. But the evidence keeps mounting as the Lions keep winning.

Newton South Nine Blanks Weston And Acton Boxboro

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Excellent pitching, airtight defense, and heady base running propelled the Newton South baseball team to shutout victories, 6-0 over Weston, and 7-0 over Acton-Boxboro, last week.

The two triumphs left Loew tallied two runs as well. South's record at 6-1 and in first place as the squad quests to repeat as Dual County League Champs.

Mark Fogel made his debut in the starting rotation an auspicious one as he permitted just two hits and no runs in four innings of work to pick up the win. He was aided by Jim Kavanaugh, who hurled the last three innings and was superb with five strikeouts. Fogel whiffed seven men. Each walked only one enemy batter.

The South offense, meanwhile, made Fogel's and Kavanaugh's tasks easy from the start, scoring two runs in the first inning, three in the second, and then adding the final tally in the third.

The Lions, becoming true masters of the timely hit, only managed two safeties themselves, but were aided tremendously by 12 walks from Wildcat twirlers. Rich Hyman crashed a clutch double to drive in two runs and then added a third RBI later on. Tony Lombardo also singled home a run. Curiously, Robbie Shahan, who went zero for three, drove in two runs, and scored two runs as the result of two sacrifice bunts. Elliot

South bats came alive to support Lourie with one of their busiest, most productive days of the year. The Lions lashed seven hits, including two doubles by Ron Izen. Single hits came off the bats of Elliott Loew, Shahan, Ned Moan, Lombardo and pitcher Lourie, who helped himself with a two-run single.

Lourie actually had to worry for a while. South scored two runs in the first inning and held the 2-0 lead until the fourth. But in the fourth the Lions erupted again for three runs to ice the game and make Lourie's work a little easier. The final two runs came across in the sixth inning.

The Lions next play Bedford, Lincoln-Sudbury, of two sacrifice bunts. Elliot

South Tennis Team Bows To Weston; Blanks Lynnfield

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Defending state tennis champion Newton South smashed Lynnfield, 5-0, but then was upended by unbeaten Weston, 4-1, for the second time this spring.

The Lynnfield match was a total rout. Stan Mescon, 6-0, 6-1, Jim Karol, 6-0, 6-1, and Mark Altman, 6-0, 6-1, swept the first three matches. Oppenheim and Ken Green, 6-1, 6-0, and Jim Cornblatt and Mike Charness, 6-2, 6-2, could settle for nothing less convincing.

What appeared so flawless and all-powerful against Lynnfield seemed merely a dream a few days later when South bit the dust for the second time this season. The Wildcats, 6-0, and undisputed owner of first place, were more formidable than in their 3-2 win over the Lions on April 24. And after a similar 4-1 trouncing of Lincoln-Sudbury, last week, Weston seems headed for the league crown.

Mescon scored a surprisingly easy, 6-3, 6-0 win over Barnaby Kalen, after losing to him the first time, to notch the rest of the way.

Newton Girls' Tennis Team Drops Match to Arlington

By DAVID SOLOMON

A loss last Friday to Arlington will most likely prevent the Newton High girls' tennis team from capturing the Suburban League title, but they still have a chance at a winning season.

Coach Ruth Frazier commented about the team that "we are working very well together. The girls have good individual skills, and the girls are very cooperative... The only thing we lack is practice and the experience that comes with it. The rain has hurt us here."

With nine matches still left to play, the Tigeresses have a 2-2 record. They opened the season with a 4-1 loss to Walpole on April 27. Suki McGraw won Newton's only point, capturing first singles by a 6-3, 6-4 score.

On April 28 Newton shutout Needham 5-0. Suki McGraw won first singles 6-0, 6-2. Barbara Cain took second singles with a 6-4, 6-2 win. Lisa Simon was victorious in third singles by a 6-3, 6-4 margin. In the doubles, Sue Abramson and Paula Ellman took the first point 7-5, 5-7, 6-2. Judy Robertson and Erietta D'Ligiannides won second doubles 7-6, 6-3.

After a lost week due to rain, Newton beat Brookline on May 10. The score again was 5-0. Suki McGraw won first singles 5-7, 6-1, 6-0. Barbara Cain won in the second position 6-2, 6-3. Lisa Simon took third singles 3-6, 6-1, 6-1. Paula Ellman and Judy

By DAVID SOLOMON

It is undeniably true that most of the efforts of coaching tennis take place before a match. Once a match starts it is up to the players. But there are times when advice between sets can help.

It is doubtful that John Milne will easily forget his first match coaching the Newton High varsity team. With George Jessup running the EMass Individual Tournament at Newton South, Milne moved up from jayvee coach to help out the varsity.

The results were just that Newton beat Exeter Academy for the first time ever, as they won their eleventh straight match. As in the St. Marks match, it was the doubles that clinched the win for the Tigers. And one between-sets comment by Mr. Milne helped out the cause of at least the first doubles team.

Newton split the eight best-of-three sets singles matches. Carl Kravitz won first singles over Renner by a 6-2, 6-3 score. Richard Birmingham took second singles over Brein del 6-2, 6-3. Tom Fentin lost his first match of the year to Taylor by a 4-6, 4-6 score. Joe Mitchell won fourth singles over Borgwardt 6-3, 6-1. Dave Solomon dropped fifth singles, Steve Shulman lost sixth singles, and Steve Freeman lost seventh singles. Richard Yanofsky beat Kushner in eighth singles by a 7-5, 6-3 score.

Yanofsky was also part of the fourth doubles team that eventually earned the winning point for the Tigers. Along with Matt Schreiner, he beat Kushner and Fisher by a 6-3, 1-6, 6-1 score. On the verge of physical exhaustion, the duo came back to win an excellent third set after splitting. Schreiner wrapped up the match with some tremendous serving in the final game.

In first doubles, Tom Fentin and Rich Birmingham also played an inspired third set. After splitting 6-2, 4-6, they won the final set 6-0. Joe Mitchell and Dave Solomon have never lost together in two years, and they captured second doubles by a 6-2, 6-3 score. Carl Kravitz and Steve Shulman lost third doubles 2-6, 3-6.

Newton won three other matches during the week in rather easy style. On Tuesday it was 5-0 over Brookline in a match played indoors. Carl Kravitz won first singles 6-2, 6-1. Rich Birmingham won second singles 6-4, 7-5. Tom Fentin won third singles 12-4. Joe Mitchell and Dave Solomon won first doubles 12-0, and Matt Schreiner and Steve

By DAVID SOLOMON

In a stretch of scheduling that resembled major league baseball, Newton High played four games in four days last week. They came out with two close wins, one close loss, and one slaughter defeat. The Tigers' record is now 5-5 in the Suburban League, and 5-7 overall.

On May 10, Newton squeaked by Brookline, 1-0. Newton scored its run in the second inning. Bob Notartomaso singled, and Ken Billings walked. Russ D'Argento hit a sacrifice bunt, and runners were on second and third. Tom King then layed down a bunt single which scored the only run of the game.

Paul Goldman did a great job for Newton, pitching the whole game and striking out five. He walked only two, and let up only five hits, all singles. It was his second win of the season, against one loss. Newton had four hits, two of them by second baseman Dave Boyajian.

The following day, the Tigers dropped a 3-2 decision to Cambridge Latin. Newton took a 2-0 lead in the third inning. Russ D'Argento singled and stole second. Tom King reached on a fielder's choice, and after Dave Boyajian and Bill Vello walked with two outs, Jim Fay hit a two-run single to left field. Cambridge tied the game with two runs in the sixth, and won the game in the seventh. Ed Becker started the game for Newton, and reliever Paul Austin was charged with the loss. His record is 2-2. Becker had six strikeouts in the game. Cambridge outhit the Tigers 7-3.

Paul Goldman won his second game of the week on May 12. Newton topped Brookline 4-1, and revenge a 4-2 loss earlier in the season. Newton scored first in the third inning, as Paul Austin scored on an error. Newton won the game in the fifth. Ken Billings opened the inning with a triple to right-center, and scored on a perfect suicide squeeze by Dave Boyajian. Bill Vello then singled, and Jim Fay tripled him home. Fay then scored on a bobbled throw in the infield. Newton had six hits in the game, and Brookline had only four. Fay and Billings each had two hits for the Tigers.

Paul Goldman got the win in relief, as he pitched the last four and one-third innings. He had six strikeouts and walked none. Starter Paul Austin struck out three.

Newton finished the week with a 1-0 loss at Exeter Academy on Saturday. Steve Zimbel was the losing pitcher.

South Track Team Loses Two In Row

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Newton South's track team started last week's activity undefeated at 1-0-1. By the end of the week the squad had a losing mark of 1-2-1.

Last week South ran up against some of the iron in the Dual County League and came out on the short end of two thoroughly unclosed scores, 82-49 to Westwood and 83-48 to Wayland. The Lions just lost to better teams.

There were some bright spots for the Lions versus Westwood, most notably, victories by Mike McKinney, two events, Chuck Linda, Barry Kaplan, and Charley Applestein.

McKinney captured both the low and high hurdles in the same time, 17.1. Linda, a virtual novice at the event, earned his second win in the triple jump at 37½ while Kaplan was collecting his initial blue ribbon with a toss of 40-7½. Co-captain Applestein continued his improvement in the discus with a 126-10½ throw.

The highlights of the meet, in terms of quality performances, were all turned in by Westwood runners. Sprinter Alan Judge was very impressive, scoring a double victory with a 100 100-yard dash and a 23.0 220 dash. Miller Jim Kelly also registered a top-notch time-4:39.

Though the Lions didn't win many events they did well in the back-up points, chalking up six seconds and six thirds.

Three-point finishes were recorded by co-captain Howie Haines in the 100, 440, and long jump. McKinney, in the high jump, sophomore Byron Riss in the 2 mile, and Howie Frutkoff in the mile. Single points were added by Matt Williams, high hurdles, Linda, 880, Dan Pearlman, 440, Jim Paglia, low hurdles, Dave Lechhook, 220, and Applestein, shot-put.

The Wayland meet followed a similar pattern. The Lions did alright, but the Warriors did better.

South got firsts from Haines, a very good 10.4 in the 100, Kaplan, 40-10½ in the shot for his second straight five-point performance, and Applestein, who recorded a personal best of 132-6 in the discus, one of the longest tosses in school history.

Lion seconds and thirds abounded. Newton took second place in eight events for half of its point total. McKinney, high and low hurdles, Linda, 880, Applestein, shot, Bruce Brown, discus, Haines, long jump and 440, and Frutkoff, 2-mile were the second-place finishes.

Linda slipped to third in his third triple jump outing, Williams again took third in the high hurdles and Paglia did likewise in the lows. Josh Mann, 100, McKinney, high jump, Riss, mile, Scott Barron, 440, Lechhook, 220, and John Hahn, whose brother Bob used to throw the discus for South, completed the Lion sweep of that event, all had thirds for single points.

The tracksters' next meets are scheduled against Lincoln-Sudbury and Acton-Boxboro.

By DAVID SOLOMON

Three games out of a thirteen game season may not be enough to make much of a judgement about that team, but for whatever it's worth, after three games the Newton High Girls' Softball team has a 2-1 record.

The Tigeresses began the season with two non-league games. They beat Walpole in the opener on April 27 by a 17-13 score. Newton collected 27 hits, including a homerun by Jody Capello. Linda Quintilliani, a sophomore first baseman was four for six.

On April 28, Newton lost to Needham 10-4. Coach Carolyn Harrington commented that "we didn't deserve to win this one. We played poorly." The highlight of the game from Newton's standpoint was the another homerun by Jody Capello. Coach Harrington commented that "Jody seems to be our best power hitter. She is batting cleanup, and although she's small, she is deceiving. She hits strong line drives."

Jody Capello hit her third homerun in Newton's third game, on May 9. The Tigers beat Brookline 18-12. Mrs. Harrington commented that "we were sloppy, because of the practice we missed due to bad weather. Sue Ekezman was cited for her strong defensive work as catcher."

Newton may have a chance for their league title, with the two games against Arlington Capello. Coach Harrington being the predicted tough ones.

Tiger Golfers Strong With Perfect 8-0 Record

By DAVID SOLOMON

Newton High always produces a good golf team, and this year is far from an exception. The Tigers have an 8-0 record, and are up 3½ points in the Suburban League.

Coach and Golf Pro Jim Ronayne is nevertheless cautious in his comments. "We've been scraping by, we've had two 5-4 wins. I'm looking forward to our getting better. I'm satisfied with our showings so far, but I think we have enough talent to be a better team."

Newton's lineup is "not completely settled," and Ronayne has been trying various combinations to see which will produce the best results. Right now Jim Curtis and Jim Coleman are one and two men on the team. Mike Bove and John Carvelli hold down the third and fourth spots. While Paul Johnson, Bill Tramotozzi and Kevin Ball are battling for the last two spots.

Newton opened their Suburban League season with a 7-2 win against Brookline back on April 24. Dan Curtis had the best score with a 62 in fifteen holes. Curtis and Jim Coleman won three points for Newton. Mike Bove and Bill Tramotozzi won one point, while Paul Johnson and John Carvelli took three points for Newton.

The next day Newton won a big match, beating Brookton on their own course. The score was 5-4. Jim Coleman and Paul Johnson won three points for Newton, and Mike Bove and John Carvelli took two. Bove had the best score in the match, a 79 on a par-70 course.

On May 1, Newton beat Boston Latin in a non-league match. Dan Curtis shot a match-low 66. Jim Coleman and Bill Tramotozzi took one point for Newton, while Jim Curtis and Kevin Ball, and Jim Johnston and Paul Johnson each took two.

On May 8, the Tigers shut out Weymouth 9-0. Curtis and Carvelli, Coleman and Johnson, and Bove and Tramotozzi each had three points.

Three days later Newton beat Weymouth South 8-1. Ronayne had been hoping for a shutout in this one, since league scoring is kept by points and not by wins. Curtis and Carvelli took two points in this one. Coleman and Johnson also took three.

Nelson still has six dual matches left, plus the various league and State tournaments. A big match will be against Brookton on May 25 at Brae Burn. Newton will need a win in that one, Ronayne also sees a shutout as necessary against Brookline. The golfers are Newton's only undefeated team.

South Lacrosse Team Bows 14-0

The Newton South High lacrosse team hit the low point of its season, last week, falling to powerful Newton while Paul Johnson and John Carvelli took three points for Newton.

The Tigers controlled the game from the outset, nothing came from the first stanza and then erupting for six scores in both the second and third quarters.

Newton's attack was devastating. Fred Whoriskey penetrated the South defenses four times for the chief offensive threat. But he had plenty of help. Ben Friedell collected three goals and Mark Herendeen and Evan Biblos added two scores apiece. The Tiger offense, all told, unleashed a 38-shot barrage at Lion netminder Gary Ross. Ross, in a good effort, stopped 24 of them. He just lacked the defensive help up front.

South was so outclassed that it could manage only two shots on Marty Berman.

There was nothing good to be said for the Lions' showing, except wait till next week. Next week, though, is now this week, and South will attempt to break out of its slump against Framingham North and Medford.

Bruins Bring Cup Back To Boston Where It Belongs

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN

Did anybody really doubt that the Bruins would bring the Stanley Cup back where it belongs?

Of course, there were a number of formalities to dispense with first, like winning games, something which was overlooked, last year, but this time the fairytale had a happy ending.

Perhaps it was Tom Johnson's sad-faced admission the morning after the fifth game in Boston that his troops "didn't hit anyone out there" which rankled the "Big, Bad Bruins" pride. Whatever the cause, the Bruins came out swinging last Thursday and hit everything in sight. And they weren't only hitting, but they were skating. They flew through 60 minutes of an incredibly paced hockey game.

Both Boston and New York skated fast and hard from beginning to end. The opening period tempo was so swift it seemed the game had to slow down, but it never did, and offside and icing calls were rare, so whistles were less frequent than usual.

The Bruins took only 22 shots in the contest, 11 less than the Rangers, but took advantage of them and made three goals on good, unstoppable shots.

Bobby Orr, to no one's surprise, was awarded the Conn Smythe Trophy as the Most Valuable Player in the playoffs and those watching the season's final effort there could have been no other choice. Orr, in a routine, spectacular show, scored one goal, assisted on a second after a gorgeous spin-away move, and generally, as he is wont to do, controlled the game.

The riotous scene which greeted the club at Logan Airport at 3 a.m. was the biggest demonstration in Boston this spring season. The crowd was estimated at 10,000, a pretty good demo group since the populace gave up on moratoriums and rallies after Kent State two years ago. The 10,000 who went berserk in the rebound!

Eastern Airlines hangar didn't face the problems of typical demo people. Even though the police knew they were going to be there the men in blue just didn't expect a mob that size. Ordinarily the police expect the worst and bring enough friends with them to handle anything short of a N. Vietnamese invasion. This time, though, the demonstrators crossed them up and brought enough people to fight off the invasion. The end result was the near mutilation of a couple of Bruins. O well, the club is deep.

The next day's activities were even more ironic. This time 15,000 people showed up to cram and jam in Government Center in front of City Hall. Once there the demonstrators staged a peaceful sit-in and listened to speeches from their leaders. Of the 15,000 resting their bottoms on the brick plaza, few of them were on the scene earlier in the week when 500 people sat down outside the Federal Building to protest the war in Vietnam. Many were arrested. Though the 15,000 were boisterous and engaged in illegal acts of civil disobedience like blocking traffic and preventing persons from going to work they did little damage. And no demonstrators were arrested.

Twenty-five thousand people in two days to scream for the Bruins. Perhaps 2,500 people all week to scream against the war in Vietnam. So it goes.

Footnote to the whole shebang: Phil Esposito didn't score a goal against the Rangers, but he still has faithful followers. This tidbit is plagiarized from a bathroom wall at the Massachusetts General Hospital—

"Jesus saves!"

"But Esposito puts in the rebound!"

"Ecology Special"

For Bird's Eye View

Roughing it in the backwoods isn't the only way to learn about nature.

More than 100 adults and youngsters did it by flying in a 707 jet dubbed the "Ecology Special" to get a look at the works of man and nature.

Champagne was poured continuously for the adults by pretty stewardesses — a far cry from the few luxuries that can be shoved into a knapsack.

"Flying is a terrific way to see things," said Maryann Danielson, director of the San Mateo County Junior Museum which sponsored the project, a first for any museum in the area.

Miss Danielson said the trip was arranged with the help of TWA pilot Wayne Richardson, who persuaded his employers to rent the craft at a minimal cost.

The plane flew south to Big Sur, then east over Salinas and the San Joaquin Valley. Then it went north along the western foothills of the Sierra, returning home via the farmlands north of Sacramento.

A running commentary was supplied by two ecology experts, Howard Cogswell and Thomas Pagenhart, both professors at Cal State Hayward. Pagenhart contrasted areas where man had influenced the environment with canals, dams and housing with those where "nature had interfered with nature without the help of man."

He said very little had been done to disturb the Sutter Buttes.

"No soft drink signs. It seems very un-American," he told the 107 passengers.

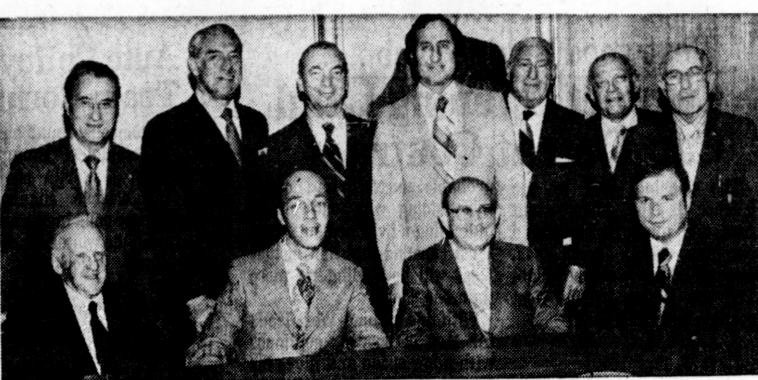

"Diplomacy is thinking twice before saying nothing."

Plastics are bottling up the wrapping scene, says a trade source. Foods that will begin to be, or will increasingly be packaged in plastic bottles in the 1970s are soluble coffee, peanut butter, pancake syrup, salad dressing, cooking oil and mayonnaise, according to Arthur B. McCamey, Jr., chairman of the Plastic Bottle Division of The Society of the Plastics Industry, Inc.

For now, DeBlasie goes about his daily business, visits the cemetery every other Sunday, and hopes.

"I'll tell you one thing," he said. "You don't get that morbid feeling when you go over here, because you know something's trying to be done. I know I go and see my Dad, I go to a tombstone. You know there's nothing there."

Mass. Court Upholds Freeport Decision

Freeport, Inc., bolstered by a state Supreme Judicial Court ruling in its favor, is getting ready for two important June dates: a major fundraising event and a hearing before the Land Use Committee of the Board of Aldermen on renewal of its permit to use the house at 361 Commonwealth Avenue in Chestnut Hill as a cooperative home for youths of high school age in need of temporary separation from their families.

In rejecting an appeal by residents of three abutting houses, the Supreme Judicial Court supported a decision by Middlesex Superior Court Judge Levin Campbell that the Board of Aldermen had been justified in granting Freeport its permissive use in May of 1970.

The opinion by Justice R. Ammi Cutter noted that the need for the project was "fully justified by substantial testimony." It supported Judge Campbell's findings that the residential character of the neighborhood would not be affected by the Freeport use, particularly "under the carefully-drawn conditions imposed by the Board. Indeed, Freeport's plans will improve the attractiveness of the property" as has in fact happened.

Sukie Magraw of Newton Centre, Student Coordinator of Freeport, in commenting on the ruling said, "Obviously, its great - at the same time, we want our neighbors to know that we will continue to care about and respond to their concerns. I live in the neighborhood as well as three members of our Board of Directors and we, as well as the rest of the people involved in Freeport, really do care about the neighborhood."

Similar feelings were expressed by Mrs. Marion Kaufmann of Newton Highlands, Freeport's President. "Yes, we're delighted," she said. "But it's the future that is important to us. We would like to be able to continue to develop Freeport's programs under careful supervision." Since its opening, Freeport has housed 15 students for varying lengths of time. Somekind of a program.

Receive Insurance Company Award

The Moses H. Nahigian and Sons Insurance Agency of Auburndale has been recognized as "1972 Select Circle Agency" by the Central Mutual Insurance Company of Van Wert, Ohio. The recognition for outstanding performance and service was announced at a dinner meeting recently in Miami Beach, Fla.

of these have been volunteers from relatively stable homes, although Glenn Johnson, the Executive Director, indicates that "obtaining volunteers on a continuous basis for maintaining a balance at the house has been difficult."

"To live away from home for three months or more, worthwhile as this experience has been for the students who have done it, requires a major commitment on the part of a volunteer" he says. "In part, as a way of alleviating the difficulty caused by the present lack of volunteer residents, we have added an adult resident counselor to the Staff."

"Martin Cohen has had extensive experience working with youth. In addition to his job at Freeport he also works part time at the Newton, Brookline, Brighton Jewish Community Center as Youth Coordinator."

Since its beginning, Freeport has sought to make the house co-educational. "There is precedent for this elsewhere, Dare House in Brookline being the nearest example" explained Mr. Johnson. "Although we are not presently set up to serve both boys and girls, we feel that when we are, we would like the decision of whether we are capable of handling it to be a professional decision. We hope the Board of Aldermen will allow this."

Initiated by a Newton High School Psychology class in 1969, the Freeport organization remains a unique partnership between students and adults, whose benefits extend beyond those of the house itself. An addition to the Freeport program this past winter has been an intergenerational discussion group that deals with the exploration of feelings and relationships between people and was led by Glenn Johnson.

"We were delighted to have some Freeport neighbors participate in this," said Mrs. Kaufmann. "Because it was so successful a second group has been formed and is currently meeting weekly at the house. We are happy to be able to serve more people through this kind of a program."

Mofenson Favors 2 Bills On Campaign Contributions

Two landmark pieces of legislation dealing with campaign contributions have been reported out favorably by the legislature's committee on public administration, according to Representative David J. Mofenson of Newton, a committee member.

"Both bills," Representative Mofenson states, "are protective in policy and aimed at restoring public confidence in our lawmakers and institutions."

The first bill, the "Truth in Politics Act" is rigid legislation incorporating the toughest features of federal law and state campaign disclosure laws. The act broadly defines who may be considered a "candidate," and also considers contributions in the widest sense possible, including cash, loans, transfer of monies, tickets to fund-raisers, and goods and services rendered. "The bill takes into account that contributions to a campaign are its lifeblood, but the public knows who contributes to which campaign—and how much."

"I think that the basic issue," continues Representative Mofenson, "is the public's right to know. It is only fair to one's constituency to know who is backing the official, and how much they have at stake in the particular campaign."

If passed, the proposed law will protect the public's right to know, because the general rule will be for candidates to report all contributions without exception. Harsh penalties are established for those who fail to comply.

The second proposed law would forbid lobbyists from making any type of contributions to candidates for public office.

Not only would this bill forbid contributions, but it requires lobbyists to submit a detailed expenditure list three times per year.

"All told," Representative Mofenson said, "These two pieces of legislation are important proposed additions to the General Laws—their passage would mean much toward improving government in Massachusetts."

Newton Native Named Commissioner Of DPH

In ceremonies held at the State House recently, Dr. William J. Bicknell, a Newton native, was sworn in as commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health by Governor Francis W. Sargent.

Selection of Dr. Bicknell ends a long, nationwide search for a health care specialist with experience in the organization and delivery aspects of health care and development of new types of health care delivery systems.

Dr. Bicknell, now the youngest state health commissioner in the nation at age 35, received the A.B. degree in University and M.D. degree in 1963 at Duke University School of Medicine.

He interned at the University of Oregon Medical School Hospitals. In 1968 Dr. Bicknell was awarded a master's degree in public health from the University of California at Berkeley. There he majored in health administration and social policies planning.

Dr. Bicknell spent two years in Ethiopia as a Peace Corps physician. Since 1966 he has held several posts in the Office of Economic Opportunity's (OEO) Office of Health Affairs.

Dr. Bicknell was the first medical director of Job Corps and later senior consultant for OEO Narcotic Programs.

Local Physician Proposes Health Policy Analysis

Health policy analysis by a permanent group of analysts versed in all aspects of health planning and integrated into appropriate positions within Congress, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and extra-governmental resources is envisioned by Dr. William B. Schwartz of 61 Montvale Rd., Newton Centre, as a means to unravel present complex national health problems and to anticipate future needs.

Health planning activities in all three of these areas are underfunded, understaffed, and lack coordination, according to Dr. Schwartz. The public interest would be represented by the National Academy of Sciences' Institute of Medicine, which would establish and maintain the extra-governmental sector implicit in the three-part structure proposed by the Boston physician.

Dr. Schwartz is professor and chairman of medicine at Tufts Medical School and physician-in-chief at the New England Medical Center Hospitals in Boston. He delivered his proposal recently to the National Academy of Sciences' Institute of Medicine, a select group of 108 health leaders.

Political Highlights-

ployees and their families are a powerful political group.

Some of the Governor's political aides now are wondering whether the Sarge will give Hatch the heave-ho and install still another GOP leader in the House of Representatives at the start of next year.

The Governor might do that, of course, but what he needs more than a new general in the House of Representatives is a bigger army.

Bill Baird Rows With Nixon On New York Abortion Issue

Both Governor Nelson Rockefeller and birth control advocate Bill Baird are annoyed with President Nixon for mixing into the fight over the repeal of New York State's abortion law. Nixon wrote a letter to New York's Cardinal Cooke supporting repeal of the law.

Of the two, Baird was much the more caustic. He directed a letter to President Nixon in which he made a series of allegations, accusing Nixon, among other things, of "a chauvinistic effort to force women back to the chains of sexual bondage" and "to produce more soldiers, more consumers, etc."

Those New York State Assemblymen, who argue that Mr. Nixon ought to have almost enough to keep him occupied without getting involved in the abortion row, have a point — up to a point. But this is the kind of issue on which President Nixon has the same right as any other citizen to express himself.

President Nixon has as much right to speak out against abortion, for example, as Bill Baird has to argue for it even though Bill obviously doesn't think so.

League of Women Voters Discriminates Against Men

While the lib ladies have asserted their right to go where the gents go and do what they do, we personally don't know of any men who are insisting they should be able to invade the feminine domains.

There are men who want to join strictly women's organizations. But we just don't happen to know who they are.

That's why at first we were a bit taken back when members of the League of Women Voters at their annual convention in Atlanta beat down a motion to admit men to their organization.

A big vote was cast in favor of admitting men to the LWV, but it fell short of the two-thirds needed for adoption.

At the moment men are treated as second-class citizens by the League of Women Voters. They are now admitted by the League as associate members but they are not allowed to vote.

One of the League officials, arguing at Atlanta in favor of accepting men, declared that one of the purposes of the League is to educate and that men "are people who need educating."

Men, she added, "are a good source of money." Mrs. Lucy W. Benson of Amherst, who was re-elected to a third term as president of the League, declared it is only a matter of time before her organization will be accepting men as voting members.

Don't write in and tell us this is all a lot of nonsense and that men really want to join the League of Women Voters because three men actually have court suits pending in their attempts to force their way into the League.

If the courts order them admitted, the ball game is over for the lib lady league members. It goes to show something, but we're not sure what.

A View of Campaigns By Famous Reporter

By The Late
MERRIMAN SMITH

The first principle of watching political campaigns and particularly presidential races is that most of what appears to be happening and most of what seems to be said is a sham.

Politics tends to generate a fair amount of mis-, half- and un-truths anyway. And campaigns magnify this natural tendency.

The presidential sweepstakes, for example, uniformly begin with the major contenders disavowing their candidacy. This is a bit of traditional showmanship which bears little relation to fact.

Once a contender admits his candidacy, he then usually feigns ignorance of anyone else in the race. President Johnson, for instance, said in 1964 that he had no opinion as to who might win the Republican nomination. This was at a time when Sen. Barry Goldwater was the acknowledged front-runner among the Republicans.

When the campaign actually starts, subtle changes seem to occur in the political dialogue. Politicians start calling other politicians "politicians" again, for example. Candidates start accusing opponents of making a political issue out of questions of public policy on which opinion is divided and which in short, are political issues.

Consider the number of times in 1968 that one candidate or another was heard to say that he did not intend to trifle with national interests by making the war in Vietnam a political issue. Then, for the next 15 minutes he usually talked about Vietnam.

'Flexible Sin'

A curious doctrine of "flexible sin" emerges in campaigns. In one election year, we hear pointed observations that if the Republican president would only stay in Washington instead of traipsing off to Gettysburg, we might not be in such a mess with Castro. The Republicans dutifully scream "dirty politics."

Two years later, Republicans imply that if the Democratic president would only stay in Washington instead of frittering away time on Cape Cod, we would not be in such a fix in Cuba. Democrats know the proper response, too, and cry "dirty politics."

Rhetoric in political campaigns is usually so consistently self-justifying and disingenuous that when candor makes a rare appearance the effect can be shocking. Rose Kennedy made a brief statement in 1968 that was really just a series of truisms but her mere statement of the obvious was big news in the campaign season because she had been frank enough to make it.

Asked about the family's financial backing of Sen. Robert Kennedy in 1968, his mother said: "It is our money and we are free to spend it any way we please. It's part of this campaign business—if you have money, you spend it to win. And the more you can afford, the more you'll spend. The Rockefeller are like us—we both have lots of money to spend on our campaigns."

Conventions

At the national conventions, campaign pettifoggery shifts into high gear. For instance, regardless of the predetermined outcome of any convention, there must be demonstrations. For the most part, these convention demonstrations are bought and paid for by state delegations to herald the sterling qualities of a native son who in truth does not have a chance of being nominated for anything outside his home precincts.

When a nominee is picked and the campaign goes on the road, the pattern of little white-living shifts, but continues. One of its first post-convention symptoms is the inflated crowd figure.

Invariably, most of the reporters traveling with a presidential candidate estimate the crowd at a political rally on their own and find that it is far under that of the ranking police official present. It is an old journalistic custom, however, to quote an authority for a political crowd estimate. Thus, the public is treated to some rather interesting figures.

When Sen. John F. Kennedy spoke in Detroit on Labor Day, 1960, the police estimated his crowd in Cadillac Square at about 50,000 to 55,000 persons. The Detroit News then did a rather unfair thing: unfair to the campaign year estimator.

The paper took a large photographic blowup of the crowd, marked it off into equal sections and counted every single person who was visible. The total, police count notwithstanding, was under 27,000.

Celebrities are solicited, sometimes hired, to add glitter to campaign platforms. Candidates start claiming that they have discovered some Irish, Jewish, or Italian ancestry in their family trees, depending on the audience. When FDR told an Al Smith dinner audience in New York that he thought he was part Irish, Fiorello H. LaGuardia was said to have remarked, "If Frank Roosevelt is Irish, I'm

This Week's Best Buy

Courtesy Massachusetts
Department Agriculture

Fresh, locally grown asparagus, one of our most popular spring vegetables, has come to market, reports the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture, and should be in good supply at most produce counters and roadside markets this weekend . . . assuming a few good warm days to mature the bulk of the crop.

Local asparagus comes in one-pound bunches about eight inches long. Asparagus has to look good to taste good. Tips should be firm and tightly woven together. Butt ends should show a half to one inch of white, with the rest of the spear green. If the entire spear is green, they could be over-mature, and may have a bitter taste.

Cooking asparagus is very simple, but some methods are better than others. One way to cook them uniformly is to simmer in an upright position.

The five or six spears together with twine, and stand the bundle in an old coffee pot or the bottom half of a boiler. Sprinkle with one tablespoon of salt, and pour in boiling water to depth of an inch to an inch and a half. Cover—the coffee pot with its lid, loosely, or the double broiler with its top half, inverted—and simmer for 15 to 20 minutes, or until the spears are crisply tender.

Lift out by catching the string with a fork. With the boiling water cooking the butt ends and the rising steam cooking the tips, you'll find you can eat the whole thing!

Fresh, local eggs still rate best buy status, with many markets offering sales of the large size as low as 49 cents. For a good, economical meal, try asparagus and eggs this week.

For a folder of tried-and-true asparagus recipes, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Mass. Dept. of Agriculture, 100 Cambridge Street, Boston 02202.

Fresh, juicy rhubarb from nearby farms is a best buy this week, as are dandelion greens. Massachusetts greenhouse cucumbers and tomatoes are available, but you'll have to pay for the special flavor.

Most of our roadside markets are now open, with excellent displays of colorful bedding plants, ready to set out in the garden.

In a continuing effort to make food distribution more efficient and economical for the consumer, management personnel of farm cooperatives throughout the East Coast are meeting this week in Boston. Under discussion will be changes in marketing procedures for many farm and dairy products.

The annual meeting, one of four in the United States, sponsored by Farmer Cooperative Service of the USDA, takes place at the Sheraton - Boston May 16 through 18.

a Chinaman with a haircut."

Spontaneous demonstrations begin to be laboriously organized. The famous "Bring Us Together" sign that President Nixon spotted in a crowd and made the subject of his post-election victory speech was not just a little girl's homemade plea. It was spray-painted the night before Mr. Nixon noticed it in a Deshler, Ohio gymnasium under the guidance of a Republican advance team.

Sky Pictures

About one-third of the sky visible from the U.S. has been photographed and recorded to a distance of approximately 350 million light years.

IN PLAY at the Chateau de Ville dinner theatre in Framingham is Toby Stone of Newton, a member of the cast of "Fiddler on the Roof" now playing. Toby is in her 19th week in the cast of Fiddler and was recently seen in the Boston production of "Hair."

Report Violations Of City Leash Law

Jonathan L. Hacker, Citizen Assistance Officer for the City of Newton, has voiced his concern over the influx of complaints being received regarding leash law violations.

Mr. Hacker's office, created under Newton's new charter, is specifically designed to directly receive at City Hall, citizen's complaints regarding municipal matters.

Mr. Hacker stated: "Violation of the leash law is a serious problem. Every possible municipal service that can curtail this occurrence is being utilized. The Department of Animal Control, under the direction of Chief of Police William F. Quinn, is working 24 hours a day, seven days a week. But the main responsibility of restraint lies with the dog owner, without his full cooperation, citizens will continue to suffer the effects of disruptive barking, property damage, sanitation violations, and the possibility of serious personal injury, as a result of a dog bite."

As of November 4, 1968, The Newton Board of Aldermen passed legislation putting the leash law into effect. Figures for 1971 indicate that Newton had approximately 5,600 licensed dogs. Records show that there were 1206 impoundings. It should be noted that this figure includes repeat violations by the same owner, and dogs that are unlicensed. However, the number of impoundings is high and calls for citizen's strict observance of the leash law.

For further prevention, citizens are urged to report to Animal Control, any stray dogs seen in their neighborhood. 244-1212.

Newton High Band Tour

Sixty members of the Newton High School Concert Band recently toured the Corning Glass Center in Corning, New York.

They then viewed the 10,000-piece collection of The Corning Museum of Glass which includes glass objects dating from 1500 B.C. The Museum's collection is considered to be one of the finest in the world.

The Hall of Science and Industry was also seen. Here uses and properties of glass in today's world are demonstrated and many exhibits of some of the latest developments in glass are also displayed.

Finally, they witnessed the hand forming and engraving of fine crystal in the Steuben factory where the complete manufacturing process of this exquisite glass is viewed by Glass Center visitors.

Earns German Prize At Bowdoin College

John H. Seeler, son of Dr. and Mrs. Albert O. Seeler of 170 Neholiden Rd., Waban, was one of three students at Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine to be awarded the 1972 Old Broad Bay Prize in German.

Seeler, a freshman at Bowdoin, received the prize for excellence in the language.

Architect Earns National Award

The American Institute of Architects' Guild for Religious Architecture announced recently that the firm of Architect Willoughby Marshall, Inc., is the recipient of a national Honor Award, given annually in recognition of a project judged to give architectural excellence.

In citing the University of Maine's Newman Student Center in Orono, the architectural jury noted its "consistent geometric form and color of furnishings, arranged for multiuse and changing moods of students, all of which was reflected in the form and scale of exterior elements."

This is the second time Mr. Marshall has been so honored by this professional group. In 1968, St. Peter's Church on Mt. Desert Island, Maine, received a similar award. Actively engaged in the practice of architecture for the past 20 years, Mr. Marshall, and alumnus of the University of Notre Dame, has his offices in Cambridge and resides at 164 Kirkstall Road, Newton.

Government Pays Health Bill For Most Over 65

Government pays for two-thirds of the health bill of people 65 and over, compared to one-fifth for people 19 to 65, and one-fourth for those under 19, according to Arthur H. Birkett, Jr., social security district manager in Norwood.

"According to a study of Medicare payment last year people's medical and hospital expenses in fiscal 1971," Mr. Birkett said, "the health care costs for people 65 and over totaled $18.7 billion. Government funds paid $12.7 billion, or 68 percent. More than half of that — $7.5 billion — was paid for by Medicare."

The bill for young people under 19 was $11 billion — of which 27 percent, or $3 billion, was paid for by Medicaid and other government programs. For people 19 to 65, the bill was $39.7 billion — of which 22 percent, or $8.7 billion, was paid for by government funds, the study shows.

Medicaid is the Federal-state program that helps pay the health care bills of needy people of all ages. Medicaid payment amounted to one-fourth of the total payments made from government funds. Health care payments by the Veterans Administration, the U. S. Department of Defense, and State and local agencies were included in the study. The study was conducted by the Social Security which administers Medicare. If you have any questions about Medicare you should telephone 423-3700.

Social Security Information

STUDENT AID

Students 18 and over who get monthly social security payments have an important "assignment" due before the end of the school year, according to Anthony C. Chiota, social security manager in Roslindale.

Full-time students in school who are 18 and over and are unmarried can get monthly checks from social security until they're 22 — if a parent gets social security benefits, or if a parent has died after working long enough under social security.

"About 380,000 students in college, high school, and trade schools get $52 million a month from social security," Chiota said.

A reporting card is mailed to each student beneficiary about three months before the end of the school year. The student's "assignment" is to fill in the card and mail it back to social security as soon as possible, Chiota said.

"This attendance report is used to determine if the student can continue to get monthly checks," Chiota said. "Any delay in returning the reporting card could mean a delay in payments for the student."

Any student who needs help with the report or information about his benefits can call social security. The telephone number is 423-3700.

Maneuver Squelches Approval of Licenses

Although proponents claim they just wanted to observe the legalities of the thing, a bid to grant interim bowling alley licenses to four Newton clubs failed Monday night.

The Franchise and Licenses Committee of the Board of Aldermen has been holding the licenses, which expired April 30, in order to investigate alleged discrimination.

The committee chairman, Alderman Harry Crosby, has called a special meeting of his committee to discuss the matter. The meeting will be held May 24.

Auburndale Club Inc., Hunnewell Club, Neighborhood Club of West Newton and the Windsor Club of Waban have the licenses in question.

Police said Tuesday that although the clubs are technically operating bowling alleys without licenses, no action would be taken against them until word was received from the Board of Aldermen that any or all licenses have been revoked.

Ald. Louis Egelson asked the board Monday night to grant a three month interim license to each club so that they would not be operating without a license.

Discussion on the matter was eventually cut off with a move by Ald. Ernest F. Dietz to charter the items.

Egelson argued that his motion "did not preclude Franchise and License Committee action."

But, he said, in effect "we are reducing the effectiveness of our licenses if we allow clubs to operate when their licenses have expired."

In addition, the alderman said, "if we want them to stop any discriminatory practices, I think we would be better advised to extend their licenses for less than a year and allow them to take voluntary action."

Crosby said his committee would go along with granting the interim licenses for the sake of legality.

Ald. Robert Tennant said he objected, felt the board should either take action to "grant or disallow" the licenses.

"Either we give licenses, or we don't. Either we make the laws, get behind them, and enforce them, or we don't make them at all," Tennant said.

A Walk For Development On Saturday

This Saturday (May 21) students of Newton South High School are planning a "Walk for Development." Walkers who participate must have sponsors who pay a certain amount of money per mile walked. The money that is raised will go to a cattle cooperative in Jefferson County, Mississippi and to a food producing sharecroppers organization in Ecuador.

The walk has been set up under the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation, started by the late John Kennedy.

Participating in the walk will be Representative Martin A. Linsky, a candidate for Congress in the Fourth District.

The walk has the full endorsement of Newton Mayor Theodore Mann.

Inter-Library Service Begun

This means, for example, the reader can borrow books in Newton and return them to the Watertown or even the Belmont Library.

Libraries which offer free reciprocal borrowing privileges and inter-library loans to neighboring institutions are encouraged to use the trucking facilities to speed the exchange of materials and resources.

Further information about these services can be obtained by calling the Newton Free Library (527-7700).

Aldermen Ask Consideration For The Relighting of Newton

A resolution calling for relighting in Newton including a switch from incandescent to sodium or mercury lamps has been proposed and is currently before the Public Works Committee.

The resolution was submitted by aldermen Lois Pines and Peter F. Harrington.

Cost of the project remains undetermined, but Ald. Pines did receive figures Monday from John J. Murphy of Boston Edison on the charge per year if some fixtures were replaced.

According to the alderman, there are 6,332 incandescent and 1,480 mercury lamps in Newton now. Cost per year for light in the city is $413,400 with an estimated increase to $472,510 based on no change but including new charges.

In a letter from Murphy, Ald. Pines said, replacement of 4,295 lamps, slightly more than half, to increase them from 2,500 to 7,000 lumens would result in an estimated yearly charge of $191,000 per year, or $206,000 per year under the new rate. The amount of light would be tripled while the yearly charge would only deviate by a few thousand dollars.

The figures missing are those for the cost of the switch.

The resolution was discussed recently at a committee meeting and Police Chief William F. Quinn, encouraging support of the program, pointed out the success of a street safety program promoted by the Massachusetts Council on Crime and Correction in its "To Stop a Crime, Light a Light" campaign.

The chief said that 12 times as many crimes of violence occur at night as opposed to during daylight hours and that over the past 15 months, breaking and entering of private homes has jumped significantly.

Sodium lighting, capable of producing six to nine times as much light as the incandescent and more than twice as much as mercury was also discussed.

Cost of installing sodium lighting was also not available, nor were Boston Edison rates for its usage.

The committee directed its chairman, Alderman Joseph McDonnell, to see what could be done to secure sodium lights for the city.

The proposed resolution, which remains in the Public Works Committee, asks the following:

That an analysis of the present lighting of the City of Newton be undertaken by the Mayor and that the Boston Edison Company be ordered to replace all existing street light with not less than 3500 mercury luminaries (excluding those lights currently equipped), so that Newton will meet Illuminated Engineering Standards and that adequate lighting be installed in all playgrounds, schools, parks, parking areas, community centers, business areas and known high crime areas where it is determined that the lighting is insufficient.

Mrs. Pines commented that the high intensity sodium lights shed so much light that less fixtures are necessary and that they use less power.

The alternative to sodium she said, is to at least upgrade to 7000 lumen mercury.

She agreed that it is the lack of cost figures on any changes impedes action on the proposal and noted that while federal funds may be available for the such a project, exact figures have not been gathered for that possibility either.

Mrs. Pines also expressed concern about a citizens' effort to "light a light."

The proposed resolution also asks that "an educational program be instituted in Newton to encourage homeowners to install private lighting on their own property and keep outside lights burning at night."

Annual Picnic May 20th On Hunnewell Hill

The annual family picnic, sponsored by the Hunnewell Hill Civic Association is planned for Saturday (May 20) at 2 o'clock on the Hunnewell Hill playground area. If weather is inclement the picnic will be held the next day (Sunday).

Mr. Herman Winick, chairman of the Association's Recreation committee has appointed Mrs. Paul Thomas as general chairman for the picnic program, assisted by a large committee.

The annual "clean-up" program will again take place on Saturday morning (May 20) from 9 o'clock until noon.

The last general meeting of the Association will be held on Wednesday evening (June 7) at 8 o'clock in the Pomroy House, corner of Church and Eldredge streets. All committees will present final reports for the season.

Mrs. Ralph Gilbert will welcome calls at 332-0253 from all who are interested in participating in a Food Co-op which has been active in the area. Mrs. Ray Locke, founder of the plan announces a new location for this weekly activity—47 Sargent street, Home of Mrs. Thomas Hinckley.

Oak Hill Community Joins In School "Discovery Day"

Memorial School and the entire Oak Hill Park community banded together under the guidance of the Creative Arts Committee to sponsor a Discovery Day held recently at the school.

The idea of giving the children an opportunity to see, feel and discover a part of the adult world of work proved to be an ambitious undertaking which required cooperation between teachers, students and parents.

The enormous time invested in planning and organizing this special event was plainly evident in the way the morning was smoothly synchronized - every child having selected the three choices of activities he preferred and moving from one to the other wide-eyed with the materials and ideas presented to him.

Sue Ulin and Maida Sheinfeld, chairman and co-chairman of this event, presided over the myriad of details necessary to make this first Discovery Day at Memorial School the overwhelming success it was, as reported by the 180 children who participated.

The bursting list of activities was made available primarily by participation from the residents of the Memorial School Community. A Mock Trial was held, supervised by Louis Zonderman, a practicing Boston Attorney, educator and president of the Meadowbrook Junior High School P.T.A. Children participated in the roles of defendant, prosecutor, and jury.

A Photography Workshop was led by Mr. Louis Sebok, Division Manager, Polaroid Corporation assisted by Larry Capodilupo, Military Sales Manager at Polaroid. The children were provided a chance to handle and examine all the parts of the camera, and to find out how cameras operate. Color photographs taken by the children were displayed in the school corridors.

An Architectural Workshop was carried out by Mrs. Anna Sebok, Structural Engineer and Bernard Feldstein, Architect. The children were encouraged to design a summer cottage, and introduced to the aesthetic, structural and planning problems of the practicing architect.

An Optics Workshop was provided by Dr. Natarajan Visvanathan, Astronomer, Harvard University, G. M. Visvanathan, Computer Programmer, Dr. Jim Elliot, Post-Doctoral Fellow, Harvard, and Dr. Elaine Elliot, Educator. A unique opportunity was provided to discover some highly specialized scientific equipment, including a Fabry-Perot computer, a Questar telescope, lenses, filters, prisms, oscilloscopes and light array switches.

A spectrum of sunlight produced by a grating was shown. An image of the sun was projected onto a screen so that sunspots could be seen. Stories to captivate the younger child's mind and imagination were told in a Story Hour run by Mrs. Barbara Boisvert, kindergarten teacher in the Boston School Department.

Yoga, as a system of health, was presented by Mrs. Steffi Shapiro. Mrs. Shapiro led a group of children outside in the sun on mats for their personal introduction to Yoga exercises, an unusual opportunity to try out the exercises that are relaxing as well as energizing. Mrs. Shapiro teaches Yoga at home in Oak Hill Park as well as at the West Roxbury YMCA and the Dedham Community Association.

Cardiology, an exploration into the fascinating workings of the human heart, was a workshop presented by Dr. Stafford Cohen, Cardiologist in charge of the medical intensive care unit of Beth Israel Hospital.

Dr. Cohen demonstrated the workings of a heart monitoring device, a cardiac pacemaker, a model of the human heart, and several heart x-rays to illustrate the function of the heart in our body and its relation to other structures and organs. The heart monitor was attached to a student and a group was given earphones in order to "tune in" to his heart beat as Dr. Cohen explained the heart sounds. Real devices implanted during heart surgery were available for the children to see.

Business Machines Shown
The workings of Business Machines was demonstrated by Mr. Ronald Kingsbury, Manufacturer's representative. The children tried out an electro-copying machine, a calculator, a mini-memo tape recorder and a security strongbox with an alarm. Souvenir pencils were given out.

Scientific Machines were demonstrated by Richard Brodie, a student at Meadowbrook Junior High School. The exhibit consisted of a Teletype remote terminal connected to the TELCOMP time-sharing computer service and a calculating machine.

The children were given a choice of several games which they could play with the computer. Mrs. Mary Ann Brodie made the endless arrangements to procure these machines for use on Discovery Day.

Mr. James D. Douvas of the Anderson-Jacobson Company, Saugus, donated the use of the portable Teletype machine with acoustic coupler. Another scientific demonstration, one which could be easily duplicated by the children at home was created by Dr. Allen Rubin, Physicist at Air Force Cambridge Laboratories, to enable youngsters to try out Galileo's experiment and to observe the workings of conservation laws.

Program of Music
A Discovery Day without music would be incomplete, and this was well provided by Mr. Joe Buckman with his guitar. Kim Buckman, a first grade student, shared her talented grandfather with the rest of the students of Memorial School for the morning while he sang and played folk songs by request.

Modeling Crafts, a sensory experience for kindergarten and first graders, was presented by Mrs. Lillian Newell, teacher, a specialist in art media for the young child. A workshop utilizing many modeling materials and supplies encompassing the range of possibilities was provided.

A Plexiglass Art workshop was presented by Mrs. Marika Barnett, freelance artist. Mrs. Barnett showed the children how to bend, shape and mold this new material. By choosing material of various colors, artistic effects can be produced.

The Pottery activity was led by Mr. John Collins, Art Teacher at Meadowbrook Junior High School, assisted by Mrs. Danielle Buckman, teacher. The properties of clay were discussed and the children learned how to model it into a small pot to be fired and returned at a later date. Mr. Collins showed how modeling tools could be improvised from sticks and nails.

Offer Theatre Games
A Theatre Games activity was offered to grades 4-6 in order to present the techniques of improvisation. The youngsters were shown how to express feelings and attitudes by presenting playlets. Mrs. Barbara Feldstein, librarian in the Newton School System, set the stage and the rest was left to the mood and responses of the individual children.

A Woodworking Workshop was carried out by Mr. Leon Sheinfeld. Mr. Sheinfeld introduced the children to woodworking tools and techniques and explained the functions of various wood fasteners. The youngsters were encouraged to build individual projects in this friendly, informal atmosphere.

Science Magic was presented by Dr. Michael Feld, Assistant Professor of Physics, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In Science Magic the children could see that the forces of nature are truly magical and that the study of Physics is a lot of fun.

One of several demonstrations was a metal ring made to float in the air above the table suspended by invisible magnetic forces. Liquid nitrogen, one of the coldest known substances, was used to freeze a pool of mercury into a hammer which in turn was used to drive a nail made of frozen rubber into a board.

When the children stood on a revolving platform and held a rotating bicycle wheel, the force of inertia sent them spinning.

When two clear liquids were mixed together in a large beaker, the mixture lit up with a brilliant blue light showing how chemical energy could be unlocked and changed into light energy.

Medical Room Feature
The Medical Room exposed the children to three different groups of people and their work in the field of medicine: doctors, nurses, and laboratory technicians. The laboratory demonstrated how blood is typed and what blood cells look like under an oil immersion microscope. Mrs. Ann Goldstein, laboratory technician at the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center, took charge assisted by Mrs. Helaine Scheinin, also a laboratory technician.

Three Physicians from different fields in medicine joined forces to prepare and apply plaster finger casts to 75 children. Each child had a private visit with the doctor to enable him to see and feel what was being done and the child was encouraged to ask questions. Mrs. Ina Seldman was the doctor's assistant.

A great deal of appreciation is due to these doctors who working so well with the children established the kind of rapport so basic to the future building of good relationships with people in medicine.

Included are: Dr. Paula Salmons practicing Pediatrician from Birmingham, England; Dr. Robert Gorn, Ophthalmologist, practicing in Brookline; Dr. David Heller Orthopedic resident at Carney Hospital, Boston.

Nursing Room Class

In the Nursing area the children were taught how to take a blood pressure, read a thermometer, and count a pulse. Five nurses in individual work stations demonstrated some of their responsibilities in the hospital situation. Vital signs were recorded, dressings applied, and arm slings effectively bound to traumatized shoulders. On duty for Discovery Day were: Mrs. Roberta Seifer, R.N., Mrs. Marie Hauer R.N., Mrs. Lillian Robinson L.P.N., Mrs. Anita Jackson, R.N., and Mrs. Sandra Rubin R.N. The Harvard Community Health Plan donated disposable covers to make disinfection of the thermometers unnecessary.

A long center table with a selection of interesting materials and equipment was available for the children to examine and try out. These were suture kits, intravenous set up, operating room instruments, syringes, disposable masks, gowns and gloves, dressing and bandaging materials of all kinds.

Mrs. Sybil Tonkonogy, Speech Therapist, answered the questions that arose here and hopefully allayed many fears in the children when she explained the place and use of these items. Charlotte Bailey and Ruth Rotman were nursing assistants in this area.

Many Lend a Hand

Dr. Olive Eldridge, Principal of Memorial School, was actively involved greeting guests and attending the activities. Mrs. Iris Kingsbury, Chairman of the Creative Arts Committee, assisted by Barbara Stewart, Elaine Hite and Cynthia Steinberg served coffee during the morning. Mrs. Gloria Rosenzweig directed personnel recruiting and manned the InterCom system broadcasting period changes and other vital information. Elaine Kaplan took care of labeling the rooms to facilitate the children's moving after each session while the tickets were processed by Elaine Gabriel, Caryann Feldman and Phyllis Stern. Others who contributed to make this Discovery Day at Memorial School such an important experience for the children include: Barbara Mintz, Sylvia Evans, Sue Skoler, Julie Gorn, Diane Wilcox, Arlene Crasnick, Richard Steinberg and Dr. Stanley Rosenzweig.

HOUSE REJECTS MOVE TO PAY HALF MBTA DEFICIT
THE HOUSE of Representatives Wednesday by a vote of 116 to 95 defeated a bill which provided that the state pay half the deficit incurred in the operation of the MBTA. Seeking to pressure the legislature to approve the state takeover of the MBTA deficit from the district's 79 cities and towns, Boston Mayor Kevin H. White led a move by the advisory board to reject an $8.8 million supplementary request by the MBTA's board of directors which would have provided the funds to continue the MBTA commuter rail service. Previous efforts several weeks ago, which lost, 109-102, and 112-102, would have had the state pick up all of the deficit, now borne by property taxpayers in the MBTA district. The measure which came to the floor Wednesday was accompanied by an adverse recommendation of the Ways and Means Committee.

STANLEY BOND DIES AS BOMB EXPLODES IN PRISON
STANLEY RAY BOND, who was paroled from prison to take college courses and wound up masterminding a bank robbery in which a policeman was killed, died Wednesday in an explosion — apparently caused by a bomb he was making — at Walpole State Prison. State corrections officials said Bond and William Lorenzen, 25, of Oakland, Calif., were in an unauthorized section of the prison foundry when the blast went off. Lorenzen was taken to Norwood Hospital while Bond was pronounced dead at the scene. Bond's death came less than 24 hours after the 27-year-old Cambridge man, formerly from California, had been granted a change in venue in his murder and bank robbery trial. Two Brandeis University coeds are still at-large in the holdup and are on the FBI's "Most Wanted" list.

NIXON, SOVIET LEADERS SIGN SPACE FLIGHT PACT
PRESIDENT NIXON, described as "gratified and encouraged" by the progress of his summit mission to Moscow, signed an agreement Wednesday for a joint Soviet-American space flight in 1975 and sped away to a country dacha for more talks with Leonid Brezhnev. Nixon and Brezhnev, general secretary of the Soviet Communist party, conferred for an hour and 50 minutes at midday, concentrating on European affairs, as further details emerged about the climactic strategic arms control agreement they are expected to sign Friday. The prospective agreement, still under last-minute negotiation by U.S. and Soviet officials in Helsinki, would freeze land and submarine-based missiles and limit each nation to two antiballistic missile (ABM) sites. American sources insisted that neither country would enjoy a long-term advantage under the draft formula. The space flight agreement, and another providing for continuing cooperation in science and technology, were signed in an ornate Kremlin hall amid a round of champagne toasts. Then a smiling Brezhnev took Nixon by the arm and escorted him outside to a waiting black limousine. With a motorcycle escort, the two leaders roared west over the Moscow River to the Borovikovo dacha where the late Premier Nikita Khrushchev once lived. The estate is now used by Brezhnev, who was Khrushchev's protege in his long climb to the top of the Soviet hierarchy.

PAT NIXON TOURS TWO MOSCOW ATTRACTIONS
FIRST LADY Pat Nixon toured two of the Soviet Union's prized tourist attractions Wednesday, the 32-story Moscow State University and GUM department store, but she complained, "I'm not getting to see the people." Surrounded by a swarm of bodyguards and reporters, Mrs. Nixon voiced her complaint during a visit to the university, a tiered yellow-stoned building with 45,000 rooms that towers over Lenin Hills and the South bank of the Moscow River.

U.S. JETS DESTROY TWO POWER PLANTS IN NORTH VIETNAM
U. S. WARPLANES destroyed two power plants in the Red River delta and also attacked fuel storage areas near the port cities of Haiphong and Dong Hoi in the first day of raids against industrial and economic targets in North Vietnam, the U.S. Command said Wednesday in Saigon. Raids against such targets were announced Tuesday by the U.S. Defense Department in Washington, and the command said the raids into the north Tuesday were the first in a series against targets other than military. A Pentagon spokesman said Wednesday the United States was sending additional B52 Stratofortress bombers to Southeast Asia for possible use in the escalated bombing campaign in Indochina. He would not rule out the possibility of B52s being used against North Vietnam. The command said 190 planes took part in the raids Tuesday.

RIVAL IRA WINGS NEAR SHOOTING IN ULSTER
MOUNTING Roman Catholic support for peace efforts in Northern Ireland has pushed the rival wings of the outlawed Irish Republican Army to the brink of a shooting war, Republican sources said Wednesday in Belfast. The threat of intramural violence came as an unusual lull settled over Ulster. A lone gunman shot and killed Andrew Brennan, 22, in the front drive of his home near the Roman Catholic Andersonstown area in Belfast shortly after 1 a.m. as his wife opened the door. Brennan was the 39th fatality since violence flared between Protestants and Catholics in August, 1969.

McGOVERN IN CALIFORNIA TO BATTLE HUMPHREY
SEN. GEORGE S. McGOVERN, buoyed by smashing primary victories in Oregon and Rhode Island, entered California Wednesday to join battle with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey for the Golden State's crucial 271 delegate votes at the Democratic National Convention. McGovern pledged in a prepared speech that if elected President he would appoint Mexican-Americans "and other Spanish-speaking Americans" to the cabinet, the judiciary, high sub-cabinet level posts, his personal White House staff and Latin American ambassadorships. The S. Dakota senator thus continued the almost total concentration he has placed in the past week on wooing minorities and rank-and-file labor—two sources of Humphrey's greatest California strength. Still nourishing his flickering Presidential hopes, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said Wednesday in Washington he would begin actively pursuing uncommitted delegates to the Democratic National Convention. "We are going to establish communications with uncommitted delegates as we already have with our committed delegates," he said.

WALLACE CHATS WITH REPORTERS FOR FIRST TIME
CHEERED by his showing in the Oregon primary, Gov. George Wallace visited Wednesday with an intimate group of reporters for the first time since he was wounded and told them, "They say I'm doing fine." Three network correspondents, a reporter for the Birmingham News, a cameraman and a light technician spent about 10 minutes in the governor's yellow-walled room while silent television film was taken of Wallace in his hospital bed at Silver Springs, Md.

Citizen Aid Helps Lower Crime Rate

Chief William F. Quinn announced that burglary totals for the first four months of 1972 indicate a reduction of 27 percent over the same period in 1971.

The Chief credits community assistance and awareness for much of the reduction. The Chief stated: "Citizens noticing something wrong or someone doing something suspicious, have called the Police Station, and as a result, have been responsible for a number of burglars being arrested."

He went on, "As a result, the climate for burglars has changed, and the word gets around criminal circles that the Newton community is not the best hunting ground."

Chief Quinn also stated that as a result of such calls, the efficiency of the uniformed patrol force and the detective bureau has increased.

Also, that the partnership of Police and citizens participating in the protection of the community with every available means, including: Auxiliary Police, Operation Identification, Crime Check, CRIME—(See Page 2)

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

Intriguing Fight Shapes Up For Louise Day Hicks Seat

One of the intriguing political battles which will be waged in the Democratic primary next September will be for the seat held in Congress by Mrs. Louise Day Hicks from the new ninth congressional district which has been drastically changed to make it as difficult as possible for Mrs. Hicks to survive there.

While such towns as Dedham, Needham, Norwood and Westwood are now included in the district which for years was served by John W. McCormack, the weight of the Democratic vote is still in Boston and such areas as West Roxbury, Roslindale and Forest Hills.

State To Investigate Realty Bias Charges

The Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination (MCAD) was asked Tuesday to conduct an investigation in Newton to determine whether any realtors are racially discriminating in the sale of homes.

The Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights made the request.

An MCAD investigator has been assigned to check out the committee's request in regard to 35 real estate agents in Newton working for 25 firms.

Committee Chairman Stephen Shugrue explained that a telephone test had been conducted in the city in which 120 calls were made to realtors and messages left with Newton telephone numbers for call backs, and the same procedure was used with 120 calls with Roxbury numbers.

"Of the 120 calls made from Newton exchanges," Shugrue said, "97 were returned and of the 120 calls made from Roxbury exchanges to the same list of realtors, 11 were returned."

The test, according to another committee spokesman, was done by selecting realtors at random from newspaper ads, but, she said, the testers made sure to call all of the "well-known firms" in Newton.

The committee declined to reveal the names of realtors that will be investigated by the MCAD.

Mr. Shugrue also said that the figures "raise serious questions concerning whether patterns of discrimination in the sale and rental of housing currently exist."

He said the figures were significant for two reasons: "They indicate that Newton's reputation as a liberal community may not be fully deserved, and they show that the excuse usually given to explain why Newton's population is 99 per cent white may be a myth."

"You often hear people say more blacks could live here," Shugrue went on to say, "if they really wanted to or if they could afford to. I think these figures imply that even if a black family were interested in moving here, they could be frustrated by some realtors in the early stages of their search for a Newton

No Collection On Friday Routes

The City of Newton has requested that people on Friday rubbish pick-up routes not put their rubbish out until Tuesday, May 30.

According to Mayor Theodore D. Mann, Local 300 has refused to work overtime to complete collections for the Memorial Day weekend and therefore Friday routes will not be done until the following Tuesday.

Options Found For Health Department

A new alternative was proposed Monday for the administrative structure of the Newton Health Dept.

Aldermen decided to investigate the possibility of sharing a health commissioner with Newton-Wellesley Hospital, or a regional health commissioner that would oversee several communities.

Action was taken after aldermen on the Legislation and Rules Committee heard a report from Dr. Derek Robinson, director of Community Operations for the State Health Department.

Robinson, describing Newton's public health program as "a conventional program you'd find in any community at the turn of the century," told aldermen that public health in the future will be "far more dynamic" and the days of "providing direct service" are on their way out.

He stressed the importance of having "dynamic" leadership in whatever structure of administration the city might choose, and characterized public health of the future as a referral medium with the director having a firm grip on types of services available, where people can go to get them, what funds are available for new, relevant programs.

Police, School Dept. Renew Bike Clinics

Chief William F. Quinn has announced the renewal of Bicycle Safety Clinics to be held in cooperation with the Newton School Department. According to the Chief, "increased interest at all ages in cycling created a demand for the renewal."

Sgt. Charles E. Feeley and Warren Huston have, for twenty (20) years, conducted "on-street-training programs" where children were taught how to ride properly, observing the rules of the road, and to recognize danger.

The program is unique in the U.S.A. and only the cities of Newton and Framingham, Mass. train children to ride in their own school districts, in situations where they would normally ride.

In most programs, training is done on playgrounds, and Sgt. Feeley and Mr. Huston felt that children were not being inculcated with a sense of awareness of traffic.

The new program teaches a greater use of the eyes in recognizing traffic dangers, the dangers of sidewalk riding, and the backing of cars from hidden driveways.

In order to inaugurate the program, Feeley and Huston had an orientation for Physical Education in the training techniques.

According to Feeley, fifteen (15) children, a Physical Education director, and one mother or father for each five (5) children, ride a minimum of three (3) miles observing stop signs, signals, or other traffic aids, and the youngsters are taught greater use of their eyes and recognition of dangers and how to handle them.

Chief Quinn stated that due

A Stop-Smoking Course June 4

A five-day plan to stop smoking which has been successful in other New England cities, will be brought to Norfolk County and Newton residents starting Sunday evening, June 4, by the Norfolk County-Newton Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Registrations are now being accepted at the Christmas Seal Association's office at 745 Westwood, (326-4081).

Age groups from High School to Senior Citizens are eligible to participate in the program, which will continue for five consecutive evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Director of the Five Day Plan to Stop Smoking is Walter Kloss of the New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham.

The program offers assistance with psychological and physical problems of breaking the smoking habit.

According to past experience 70 to 80 percent of those attending all sessions stop smoking for a time. By the end of the year, the experience has been that about 45 percent are non-smokers.

Churches-

Two major activities are projected by the American Baptist Churches of the U. S. for the coming year: "Key 73," which involves 100 groups and denominations in North America cooperating in evangelism; and the Fund of Renewal, which will seek to raise $7,500,000, in cooperation with the Progressive Baptist Convention, for assistance to minorities.

Dr. Bartlett was honored at an informal reception held at the First Baptist Church on Sunday following a morning worship service held with members of the First Church in Newton (U.C.C.) and the Newton Centre United Methodist Church.

Soloist At NHS Night At Pops

The 20th annual Newton High School Nite at the Boston Pops, Arthur Fiedler, conductor, will be held at Symphony Hall on Friday evening, June 2, at 8:30 p.m.

The featured soloist will be Mee Joo Kang, Class of '72, performing Mozart's Piano Concerto in B flat major. The Newton High School Concert Choir, under the direction of Raymond Smith and James Orent, associate conductor, Class of '72, will present a program of pieces by Berger, Luboff and Moussorgsky, with Frances Bayes accompanist and Cindy Hill, Roger Wellington and Robert Brown as soloists.

Next September she will enter M.I.T. to study architecture and music.

Students-

At the present time, there are 141 Metco pupils in the Newton School system, and the additional 200 will begin in the first grade, according to Aaron Fink, superintendent of schools. Fink stressed that the black children enter the Metco program at the primary level, in order to let them get "used to" a school away from their neighborhood at an early age.

According to Mrs. Katherine Jones, Metco Coordinator, the impact on the community overall will be a "stimulus to the school community to develop and use curriculum materials relating to the contribution of black Americans to American history and culture."

Mrs. Jones presented a slide-talk show to the School Committee Monday, a 15-minute viewing of photographs displaying scenes of integrated schoolchildren at work and play, and combining viewpoints of parents and teachers.

Mrs. Jones said that, since the Metco program began in 1966, "80 percent of its students have gone on to higher education."

Metco has hundreds of pupils in suburban Boston community schools, ranging from 30 in Arlington to 180 in Lexington.

Mrs. Jones stressed that a sense of unity was a goal strived for by the Metco personnel. "If students are getting a feeling of unity, this is a positive effect," she said. The additional Metco pupils will come either as volunteers from Roxbury or the South End.

Shortly before the approval of the motion, which followed a recommendation by both Fink and Dr. John M. Cullinane, director of Pupil Personnel Services for Newton, the superintendent added that the goals sought by Metco were good ones.

"We have to do a much better job in racial awareness among our students," Fink concluded.

City Republican Meetings Are Scheduled For June

The various Republican organizations of Newton are enjoying an unusual season of activity, it is reported. In addition to the Annual meeting of the Newton Women's Republican Club yesterday there are the meetings now being announced by the Newton Republican Club and the Newton Republican City Committee.

Next Thursday evening (June 1) at 8 p.m. the Newton Republican City Committee will meet to organize and to elect its officers as required by statute.

The newly elected ward committees of the city-wide organization have already met and elected their officers and the membership now elects the top officials of the City Committee.

The Newton Republican Club will hold its Annual Meeting and election of officers Tuesday evening, June 6 at 8 p.m. Notices for this meeting are now going out.

Following the business meeting the program of the Club's annual meeting will feature Republican candidates competing for the nomination of the Party in the contest for the seat in Congress representing the newly formed Fourth District.

Candidates invited to speak at the event are Rep. Robert Belmonte, Laurence Curtis, Rep. Martin Linsky, Avi Nelson, Guy Rosmarin, and Joseph Sylvano.

The Newton Republican Club is headed by Charles E. Aucoin, who will preside.

Reports of election results of Ward Seven and Eight will be made soon, Chairman Masow indicated.

Gifts Increase To 'Y' Building Fund

"The 'Y' Building Fund has really begun to develop momentum: we received $89,000 in new gifts last week," reported Robert G. Hennemuth, Chairman of the Corporations division of the campaign which seeks $3,000,000 for a new facility to serve the residents of Newton, Wellesley, Weston and other adjoining western suburbs.

Included in that record-breaking amount was a pace-setting $25,000 corporate gift from the Raytheon Company.

Mr. Hennemuth made the announcement at a luncheon recently attended by representatives of 27 major corporations in the "Y" service area.

Participants viewed a slide presentation, depicting the programs and problems of the "Y", followed by Mr. Hennemuth's outlining the need for new facilities, the benefits to be gained, and the special part that corporate gifts must play in the lively worthwhile community effort.

This first in a series of presentations to corporations employing 500 or more persons, will be followed by similar efforts in the two other corporation divisions: Group B — those who employ 100 to 500; Group C — 100 or less.

Associate Chairman Lewis M. Sherer, manager of the Marriott Motor Hotel, heads the "B" group, assisted by Captains John Boiardi (New England Telephone Co., branch manager); George A. Goodman (President, Nettie Greene, Inc.); and Walter P. Phillips (President, Phillips Art Publishers, Inc.).

Seniors' Busing A Success Here

Mayor Theodore D. Mann has stated that The Senior Citizens Busing Program, providing transportation for them to local shopping centers, has proven to be very successful. Initiated in early March, it has received great activity from Newton's Senior residents, and has also attracted the attention of local youth, to serve as volunteers assisting the riders.

Boys and girls from Bigelow Junior High have made this program one of their projects.

Stafford E. Davis, Executive Director for the Council on Aging, said that a great rapport has developed between the youngsters and their passengers. The bus makes a special trip once a week to pick up the students, who then help the shoppers to board the bus and later assist them by carrying their bundles up to their homes.

They work in two teams. Those participating are: Mike Lizotte, Steve DiBenedetto, Mike Necheles, Edith Rosenberg, Rick Olin, Ken Shulman, and Dave Rosenthal. Senior citizens in Newton not familiar with this program may obtain information by calling Mr. Davis at 244-4700, extension 301.

Miss Janet E. Goldston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Goldston of 197 Nehoiden rd., Waban, has completed work for a Bachelor of Arts degree from Stephens College in Columbia, Mo.

Federal Cases

The three 10-year-old Newton girls whose hopes to join teams in the boys' Little League were jolted by a judge in U. S. District Court will have something to remember later on in life — long after they've forgotten the pangs of their disappointment.

They were the cause of a "federal case."

Their civil rights were violated, it was claimed before U. S. District Judge W. Arthur Garrity, Jr., when officials of the Newton East Little League broke out the rules book and cited chapter and verse barring their participation.

Judge Garrity took the case in stride. He pointed out that he lacked jurisdiction to hear it. It's unlikely that the U. S. Supreme Court will ever get a chance to rule.

Actually the case isn't altogether unusual in recent years. We've had the Federal Court devoting considerable time to the disciplinary action brought by local authorities against a high school teacher who is alleged to have used a naughty word in class. We've had a couple of cases based on male individuals' objections to rules about how long their hair should be.

It's time for the public to recognize the fact that civil rights under the constitution can now reach deeply into our daily lives. The employer who thinks a bearded salesman might frighten away more customers than he beguiles would do well to have a civil rights expert on his legal staff. So would the school committee which would like to adhere to old-fashioned ideas about neatness of dress and personal grooming.

The case of the baseball-playing girls was amusing. No doubt they had many rooters for their cause.

However, it serves as one of the examples which will puzzle those of us who keep reading about the courts — both State and Federal — and their inability to keep up with the tremendous burden of litigation imposed upon them.

Don't Get Caught!

The U. S. State Department has found it necessary to issue a general warning to the large number of young men and young women who plan to visit Europe this summer.

The warning is simple. It's concerned with drugs ranging from marijuana, through the barbiturates right up to the most dangerous and deadly "speed drugs." The august State Department isn't seeking to be overly moralistic. Its down-to-earth advice to the young travellers-to-be is based in good part on the experiences it has known since the so-called drug culture began to make inroads in this country.

The department through its diplomatic offices abroad, particularly in Europe, found that as the arrests of our young people on drug charges began to rise, the foreign authorities were tough in such matters. Our consulates always seemed able to lend some sort of hand to Americans nabbed for other crimes but when drugs were involved — no one listened.

Courts acted swiftly. Sentences were lengthy. Jails were dungeons. Consuls were politely but firmly informed nothing could be done. There was no organization like the American Civil Liberties Union to go to bat for the violators.

It's ironic that many of the foreign countries which crack down with such swift, heavy-handed justice on tourist addicts, are not so effective in curbing wholesale drug-peddling gangs seeking a piece of the American contraband market on this side of the Atlantic.

Perhaps, they fear the results of the examples our youth offer might have a corrupting influence on their own teen-agers and twenty-year-olds. The Department of State plans to have circulars printed for distribution at American airports and it has even made provision for TV spot movies of interviews of Americans doing time in foreign prisons.

Here in the United States organizations can be formed at the drop of a hat to ease our own laws on drug use. College and university researchers still consider the pedlar, the villain on the scene but many openly advocate that the laws on drug use be eased or even completely eliminated, while there are those who believe the government itself ought to take over the sales.

Maybe, the European law-makers and law enforcement agencies could give us some lessons about this drug use business.

At least four or five major candidates will challenge Mrs. Hicks in the primary. City Councillor John Joseph Moakley at the time this is written is undecided whether he will seek the Democratic nomination for Congress in September or run as an independent in November.

Governor's Refusal To Call Election Causes Bitterness

Governor Sargent's action in refusing to call a special election to fill the vacancy in Congress caused by the resignation of F. Bradford Morse of Lowell, who is now working at the United Nations, has aroused some bitterness on the part of those Republicans who would like to run for the place formerly held by Morse.

The Governor's reason for declining to hold a special election is a reasonable one. He does not believe he can justify spending close to $200,000 for a special election only a few months before the end of the congressional session.

Another factor which could be motivating Mr. Sargent is that the Republicans may be hard pressed to hold the seat of the hard-working and extremely popular Morse.

Former Congressman Morse, incidentally, is maintaining his congressional office until the end of the year to provide any service the people of his district may desire.

Already in the field against Mrs. Hicks are State Senator Robert L. Cawley of West Roxbury; Boston School Committee Chairman James W. Hennigan of Jamaica Plain; Melvin Miller of Roxbury, publisher of a weekly newspaper for Blacks; and Hubert Jones, also of Roxbury.

Senator Cawley actually was the principal architect of the new Hicks congressional district. He headed the committee which divided the State into new congressional sectors, and he did everything he could to set up a district in which he felt he would have a good chance of winning.

Hennigan formerly served in the State Senate from the West Roxbury - Roslindale - Forest Hills - Jamaica Plain district.

Of all the candidates, Senator Cawley is taking the biggest gamble. He is giving up a reasonably safe seat in the State Senate to try for a place in Congress. If he runs and loses, he will be out of public life at the end of this year.

The battle lines in the Democratic congressional contest should be drawn in the fairly near future, with Councillor Moakley holding the answer to some questions. Moakley, incidentally, made a strong run against Mrs. Hicks in the 1970 congressional race.

A contest also is shaping up for the Republican nomination for the post now held by Mrs. Hicks. GOP Representative Richard W. Daly moved from Wellesley to Needham to be in the district and hopes to carry the Republican banner in next November's election against the winner of the Democratic primary race. Daly will be opposed by Ronald T. McDonald, a Norwood businessman, and former Representative George Johnson of Roxbury.

State Senator John M. Quinlan of Norwood considered the possibility of making a run for Congress as a Republican candidate but after studying the district, found that it is Democratic by a 4-1 margin and concluded that it would be a hopeless undertaking and probably a waste of effort and money.

Quinlan is one of the brightest young Republican prospects in the Greater Boston area. The manner in which the Hicks congressional district was revamped apparently has closed the door of Congress to him.

The Norwood Senator sought the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor in 1970, but his former fellow Dover townsman, Governor Francis W. Sargent, didn't want him as his running mate and exerted the political muscle to defeat him at the GOP State Convention.

Quinlan now evidently intends to remain in the State Senate until an opening develops to stand for higher office. Meanwhile, he is leaving the congressional battle to the Democrats, convinced in his mind that the setup would be too strongly stacked against him.

Daly was a political reporter and columnist for the Boston Herald Traveler before he became a member of the House of Representatives.

Ted Is Strongest Democrat Against Nixon in Nebraska

A poll conducted in Nebraska by the Omaha World-Herald showed that Senator Edward M. Kennedy would be the strongest Democratic candidate against President Nixon in the Cornhusker State.

Senator George McGovern placed slightly behind Ted Kennedy on the returns in another poll matchup contest with the President. He was the second strongest Democrat.

However, the survey indicated that Mr. Nixon would best either Kennedy or McGovern in Nebraska.

The returns gave Nixon 59 per cent and McGovern 27 per cent with 14 per cent undecided.

An unusual aspect to the straw vote was that only 43 per cent of the Democrats polled recorded themselves for McGovern. This would indicate that McGovern would pick up additional strength if he becomes the Democratic nominee but would be unlikely to overtake Nixon in Nebraska.

Democratic politicians, incidentally, will be obliged to treat Alabama Governor George Wallace with kid gloves as a result of the public sympathy generated for him by the shooting in Laurel, Maryland.

Some delegates from areas carried by Wallace in Presidential Primaries had been planning to disregard their mandates from the voters and record themselves for someone else at the Democratic national convention.

They will risk a wave of public resentment which could hurt the Democratic party if they do that now.

Most people would not want to see George Wallace nominated as the Democratic candidate for President despite the unfortunate shooting. But they would want to see him treated fairly and given what is rightfully his at the Democratic national convention in Miami.

Secret Service Men Declare Wallace Difficult To Guard

Secret Service men declare that Alabama Governor George Wallace was a very difficult — virtually impossible — man to guard and protect.

They point out that Wallace was disregarding requests and suggestions for his own safety when he was shot by a mentally sick would-be assassin in Laurel, Maryland.

A bullet-proof vest was made for Wallace, but he wouldn't wear it because it wasn't comfortable.

The Alabama Governor spoke to his audience from behind a bullet-proof shelter, but then he walked out into the crowd where anyone could step up to him, put a revolver against his body and pull the trigger.

All that doesn't mean that Wallace or any other candidate for President should not be able to walk in safely among his fellow citizens.

But we are living in an age of violence in the United States — an era when men and women believe they can take the law into their own hands and flout it at their will — a period when mentally disturbed persons can easily obtain handguns to wound and kill other people.

If we can't do anything else to curb this terrible violence and frightful disregard for human life, at least we can make it a violation of the law for anyone except an officer of the law to possess a handgun.

That should be done and done quickly. Anyone who has a handgun may use it to shoot someone else, and he may do it in passion or error. The penalty for possession of a handgun should be stiff enough to discourage it. That might help to reduce the horrible number of shootings in all forms of American life.

The time for listening to lobbies who don't want such controls is past.

Prof. Galbraith Should Be Picked As Senate Nominee

If Professor J. Kenneth Galbraith wants or is willing to accept the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate, the Democratic State Convention should give it to him.

Galbraith would make a candidate of stature and substance and would provide an interesting fight for Senator Edward W. Brooke.

He was one of the leaders in the Presidential Primary campaign of Senator McGovern and reflects the thinking of the wing of the Democratic party which presently controls the party in Massachusetts.

Some Democratic politicians such as ex-Governor Endicott Peabody and former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti probably would oppose making Galbraith the Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate because he has bolted the Democratic party at times in the past and supported a Republican.

But the fact is that the Democratic party in the Bay State needs a candidate to match against Senator Brooke, and Professor Galbraith would meet that need.

Polls which have been made indicate that Brooke is unbeatable, but if Galbraith is willing to make the Democratic fight against him, he should be encouraged to do it.

He should be able to make a stronger run against Brooke than any of the other possible challengers who have been mentioned, and if a Democratic tide is running he might produce an upset.

The Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate must be chosen at the State Convention in June, more than a month before the national convention at which the Democratic nominee for President will be picked.

However, the Democratic voters in Massachusetts already have expressed an overwhelming preference for Senator McGovern. Professor Galbraith is his man.

McGovern Does Not Project Image of Way-Out Liberal

Two of the top polling experts in the United States report that Senator George McGovern projects the image of an anti-War Middle-of-the-Roader who favors change, not that of a leftist.

They assert that the average voter does not yet view McGovern as a way-out liberal and is not concerned about his positions on such matters as amnesty for draft-dodgers, abortion, and legalizing the use of marijuana.

The polling pundits declare that a successful Presidential candidate must follow a course which is neither on the extreme left nor the extreme right but rather in the center. McGovern obviously has tried to change his course during the campaign.

While the average voter may not consider McGovern a way-out liberal, the average Democratic politician does, and McGovern will need some of the delegate votes controlled by political leaders in order to get the nomination of the Democratic national convention.

An old-fashioned politician such as Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago is vigorously opposed to the selection of McGovern as the Democratic nominee for President.

This is strange in a sense because Daley's No. 1 choice for President would be Senator Edward M. Kennedy if Ted were willing to accept the nomination.

Yet, Ted is just as anti-war as McGovern, is almost as much a liberal as McGovern, is sympathetic to the South Dakota Senator and will endorse his candidacy if he decides it would accomplish anything.

Most members of the U.S. Senate, incidentally, now believe that an endorsement is likely to do a candidate more harm than good. They feel that it does not swing any votes to a candidate and may antagonize anti-establishment voters.

Sitting Down in Middle Of Street No Help to End War

Those anti-war demonstrators, who cause inconvenience for other persons are probably defeating their own purposes.

Instead of generating support for the cause they are trying to promote, they arouse resentment and opposition to themselves.

How does it bring the war any closer to an end to sit down in the middle of a busy street and cause a traffic jam which ties up and delays people who may be just as much opposed to the war in Vietnam as the demonstrators violating the law? And the danger always exists that someone will be killed or seriously injured.

Some of the demonstrations, which are conducted in a law-abiding and non-violent manner, serve to show that there is public opposition to the war in Vietnam, but those which prevent people from going about their business accomplish nothing.

A number of anti-war spokesmen express the opinion privately, incidentally, that the North Vietnamese will in the near future accept the peace terms offered by President Nixon when he ordered the blockade of seven ports in North Vietnam.

They predict that North Vietnam will accept Nixon's terms, wait four months until United States planes and warships have been withdrawn and then overrun South Vietnam.

What the U.S. public reaction would be if that happens probably would depend on how the North Vietnamese conquerors treat the South Vietnamese and whether they slaughter them in cold blood.

Claims Governor Putting On Act

Editor, Newton Graphic

Governor Sargent was putting on an act when he twice vetoed a bill to give State employees a cost of living raise. He implied that it would be necessary to enact new taxes if the State workers were given an increase, but that a tax hike could be avoided if the State employees did not get a raise.

That is simply not true. Even if the State workers get no raise this year, State taxes will have to be raised next year to pay the bills for the expenses Governor Sargent has incurred.

The Governor has brought people here from as far away as California and appointed them to State jobs at fat salaries. In at least one case he arranged for an appointee to get additional income from private sources, an action which was immediately criticized.

But he has put on an act of fighting with the Legislature to block a modest cost-of-living raise for rank and file State employees.

Praises Newton School Committee

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I think too many Newton residents take for granted the outstanding community service performed for us by the members of the Newton School Committee.

They serve without compensation except for the reward of knowing they have done an excellent job for their fellow citizens.

They supervise what is undoubtedly the best public school system of any city in Massachusetts and one of the best in the United States.

At the same time they try to strike a medium between the school teachers who believe they should get more money and those taxpayers who feel the teachers already get too much money.

We should not let the work of the School Committee be an altogether thankless job. They deserve our gratitude.

Raise Money To Help McGovern Delegates

Editor
The Graphic:

In his last week's column James G. Colbert made an interesting comment about the difficulty of some of Senator McGovern's delegates to pay their way to Miami. I would hope that the office of Congressman Drinan would organize a fund to pay for transportation and lodgings for the McGovern group. However, even supposing that the plight of our Massachusetts delegates, who are mostly political amateurs, can be eased, Colbert's article touches on a deeper problem.

If participation politics is going to be a reality and not just a slogan, then politics must not be a preserve of the rich and the selfishly interested. It therefore becomes imperative to obtain funds, whether public or private, to cover different aspects of political campaigns. We have heard a great deal this year about the high cost of advertising. Actually, as Colbert's column pointed out, this is only one of the costs of political campaigns that needs to be studied.

Robinson gave examples of the types of programs he meant.

He mentioned an adequate program of sex education in the schools, pregnancy and genetic counseling for Newton residents; programs on alcoholism and drugs; emergency services; transportation for patients in need of rehabilitation therapy; home based services for the elderly; crippled or disabled; health education and monitoring; inspections of public buildings and restaurants; hospital liaison work.

Rhetorically, Robinson asked aldermen if their city had a program dealing with inspections for metallic based paint and its poisonous effects, if people could call the Health Department and receive information on what insecticides were safe to use and which were hazardous to health, or who is in charge of policing stores to make sure products declared unsafe have been removed from the shelves of city markets.

"These are services that can only be provided by someone with adequate knowledge, someone who can be a politician and someone who can use scare tactics occasionally," he said. "The way you administer the Health Department is not really that important," the doctor said. "But the calibre of the man in charge is."

Ald. Jason Sacks told Robinson that "everything you say is desirable, but the question is the availability of someone to do the job."

Sacks commented that he had served on a committee in 1968 that attempted to find a new man for the Health Department. The problem, he said, is finding a qualified man willing to work for a salary of about $25,000 per year.

Dr. Robinson commented

Let's Unite Behind Reason And Sense

Editor,
The Graphic:

Must we be super-patriotic or reasonable and sane? In light of the current offensive where An Loc has been captured by the enemy and Hue is about to fall to the North Vietnamese, it is the sane and reasonable reaction to unite behind a move to win the war or get out. One or the other.

To win the war will take an army. South Vietnamese do not have the army to win against the North. They have been defeated without direct U.S. ground support again and again, are falling back rapidly under the new enemy assault.

Now is the time to unite, but not behind Nixon. Rather behind our country and its popular support. It is time to unite behind reason and common sense.

If we must fight, then get an army into the foray. If it is to retreat, then do so. But this half attempt at bomb the North and let the South Vietnamese sink to defeat is not common sense. It is not even humane... toward the North or the South.

Certainly it is a difficult time for Mr. Nixon and our country's leaders, but when these leaders have lost all military acumen and common sense, then it is time to unite behind an effort to reestablish ourselves as common sense, realistic and reasonable men and women... Whether or not that includes victory or defeat.

that "community medicine is the thing at this time and suggested the city investigate a 'formal relationship' with Newton - Wellesley Hospital and 'not just a lone public health officer'."

On that basis, Robinson explained, the city and the hospital might split the salary cost.

He also suggested that a regional program might be more enticing to a qualified man.

Ald. Lois Pines suggested the possibility of hiring a part-time man to oversee the Health Department, a suggestion that will also be pursued under the committee action.

The merits of a medical versus a non-medical supervisor in the department were also discussed.

Robinson said there was a program in North Carolina that trained non-medical health commissioners and while he did not discount it, commented that "on the whole, physicians are not impressed with non-physicians."

The mayor's administrative assistant, James Salter told the committee that the mayor's office had been conducting talks with Newton - Wellesley Hospital over the last four months.

When suggestions are made, Salter said, "the answer comes: for the present no, but we're interested in the future."

The committee decided to appoint Ald. Sacks and Ald. Pines as a subcommittee to work with the mayor's office in investigating a program for a new administrator.

Father Drinan New Democratic Leader

Editor, Newton Graphic:

When slates of candidates for election as delegates to the Democratic National Convention were being organized in Massachusetts last winter, only one prominent Democratic officeholder was willing to risk his political prestige by standing as a delegate candidate pledged to Senator George McGovern.

He was Congressman Robert F. Drinan of Newton. He gave his support to Senator McGovern because Mr. McGovern was endorsed by the same kind of citizens' caucus which endorsed Father Drinan two years ago and started him on his way to Congress.

Father Drinan, in my opinion, deserves great credit for his political courage in heading the McGovern slate when virtually all the other top Democratic officeholders were pledged to Senator Muskie.

As is now well known, the result in the Presidential Primary was an overwhelming victory for Father Drinan and a crushing defeat for practically all the other Democratic leaders in Massachusetts.

Congressman Drinan, it seems to me, is the new Democratic leader in this State, at least on a par with Senator Edward M. Kennedy who is now favorable to Senator McGovern but who did not provide any leadership to the Democratic voters in the Presidential Primary.

Father Drinan will head a delegation of people, not of politicians, to the Democratic National Convention at Miami in July. It will be a delegation which will include intellectuals and blue collar workers, women and blacks, young people and representatives of minority groups.

It will be a delegation which will truly reflect the various cross sections of life in this State, and it will be headed by the new Democratic leader of this Commonwealth - Father Drinan.

home, which is the telephoned inquiry to a realtor's office."

Under Massachusetts law, the MCAD is charged with investigating complaints about violations of anti-discrimination laws.

The MCAD assigns an investigator to the complaint and if evidence of discrimination is found, a "conciliation conference" is usually held with the realtor in an attempt to settle the problem. If agreement cannot be reached, a public hearing can be called, and a realtor found guilty of discrimination can have his license suspended.

In declining to name the realtors involved, Shugrue said that his organization has worked closely with many Newton realtors who do not discriminate and that it would be unfair to assume that any particular realtor has discriminated pending the inclusion of the case.

Says Poor TV Job On Red Sox Game

Editor, Newton Graphic

The television photography in the second game of Sunday's Red Sox doubleheader in Yankee Stadium was the poorest I have ever seen in recent years. In addition to missing many of the action plays, the cameramen played on the shadows in such a manner that the viewer was unable to see the batter.

It seems to me that a station which spends much of its time voicing editorials on how the State and Nation should be run, should be able to do a better job televising an ordinary baseball game.

Good Public Spirit Shown On Saturday

Editor, Newton Graphic

I give great credit to the students, parents and teachers who pitched in last Saturday and painted and repaired furniture and fixtures in the Cabot Elementary School. They displayed a great public spirit.

But why was this necessary? Aren't we paying enough taxes so that the school department can do the necessary work to refurbish worn and shabby furnishings in a public school? Mrs. Mary Winslow, principal of the school, is quoted as declaring that she had been trying for five years to get repair work done in her school. If that is true, it is a disgrace to the City of Newton.

Backs McGovern; Blasts Colbert

Editor, Newton Graphic:

May I point out to James G. Colbert that we are supporting the George McGovern of 1972 for President of the United States, not the George McGovern of 1948.

Whatever mistakes Mr. McGovern may have made 24 years ago when he was a delegate to the Progressive Party Convention and supported Henry Wallace against Harry Truman and Thomas Dewey should be forgotten and forgiven.

Senator George McGovern is offering himself to the people of the United States as a candidate for President on the strength of his record against the war in Vietnam and his votes on key issues in the U. S. Senate.

It should be remembered that the people of South Dakota have elected and re-elected George McGovern to the U. S. Senate. If Senator McGovern becomes the next President, we can be sure the war in Vietnam will end as soon as he moves into the White House.

This is a plug for Volkswagen.

Volkswagen is the world's first plug-in car. No, we're not putting you on. We mean it. Every 1972 VW has a built-in system of sensor points spread throughout the car. They're in the critical areas, like the electrical system and the engine. And they all connect with a socket in the engine compartment of the car. When that socket is plugged into a computer, the computer automatically checks things like ignition, compression, wheel alignment. All without any chance of human error.

When it's done—and it doesn't take very long—the results are printed out in plain English. Sixty vital service checks. You can read them and discuss them right on the spot with the mechanic.

The world's first plug-in car comes into its own starting later this year when the computer comes on at your Volkswagen dealer's.

If you buy one now, you'll be all set when it happens.

Soil Tested by Mass. Dept. of Agriculture

Now you can bring or send soil samples from your lawn or garden to the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture in Boston for testing. This service is provided without charge by the M.D.A. in cooperation with the U. Mass. Suburban Experiment Station in Waltham.

Only one container of soil from your property is sufficient unless conditions are radically different from one area of your property to another. About one cupful of soil is all that is needed for a complete analysis.

First, with a trowel or small spade, dig a chunk of soil to a depth of 6 inches from each quarter and the center of the area to be tested. Slice a section of each chunk from top to bottom and mix your five samples together thoroughly.

Place this mixture (no more than a cupful) in a clean container that will not come apart or break in shipping or transit. An ice cream container is excellent. Glass jars require very careful packing to prevent breakage. Strong paper bags are O.K. if they are then packed in a sturdy box.

Be sure to label the samples (front yard, back yard, garden, lawn, etc.) and include your name and address with the sample. Be sure to pack it so it will not come apart in transit. You may then bring or mail your sample to: Soil Test, Massachusetts Department of Agriculture, 100 Cambridge St., Boston, MA. 02202.

A complete analysis of your soil sample will be sent to you by mail in about three weeks.

Speaking of gardens, healthy Massachusetts grown bedding plants are now available at most roadside stands throughout the state.

Gus Andrews Succeeds Ron Perry As Coach At Catholic Memorial

Ralph (Gus) Andrews has been named the new basketball coach at Catholic Memorial High School in West Roxbury. His appointment was announced this week by Brother William S. Henry, headmaster at the school.

Gus has served both as assistant to Ron Perry and as junior varsity coach for the past four years. He compiled an impressive record of 66 wins and 15 losses with the junior varsity team.

Before coming to Catholic Memorial he taught physical education at Fernald School in Waltham. He also was assistant basketball coach at Archbishop Williams High School.

These include annuals such as marigolds, petunias, pansies, phlox, hanging fuschia and geranium plants. Pepper and tomato plants for the vegetable garden are also in good supply, but should not be placed in the ground until Memorial Day when the danger of frost is over.

Best buys this week include asparagus, rhubarb and eggs. Massachusetts grown asparagus and rhubarb are always allowed to ripen to their peak of flavor in the ground, not on a truck. Eggs, of course, are very high in protein and rate as an excellent buy.

Gus faces the difficult task of replacing a "legend" in Ron Perry, perhaps the most successful high school coach the state has ever seen. "The pressure will be on me for sure," Andrews commented, "but I have confidence that the basketball program will continue as it did under Ronnie. I have to give Ronnie a lot of credit. I've learned a lot off him and I want to put into

The annual fix-it-or-move dilemma

Shape Up?

Add a family room

Remodel the basement

Put in a new bathroom

Ship Out?

Find a bigger house

Get a house with a finished family room

Get a house with all the bathrooms you need

In the long run, improving your present home can be a lot cheaper than moving.

On the other hand, some houses just don't lend themselves to major alterations. You're better off moving into another house that meets your needs now.

Shape up or ship out?

Your decision. But no matter which course you choose, Newton Savings Bank is ready to help. With a Make-It-Happen loan, or a mortgage loan.

We know your neighborhood. Chances are, we know you. We're right here where you live. You'll find our rates competitive. Because we want to do business with you.

Country Players In NE Drama Festival

For the fourth time the number, will vie for top honors in the Festival, co-sponsored by the Boston Herald-Traveler in association with its drama editor Samuel Hirsch. The Players, Newton's sole representative, are slated to perform on Saturday, May 27 at 7:30 p.m.

In order to obtain impartial judging, the four finalists will be chosen by a member of the Judging Team of the Canadian Dominion Festival, Dennis Peacock of Montreal. Winner of the "Best Production" award will be selected by special guest judge Stephen Slane, managing director of the North Shore Music Theatre. Host group are the Center Players of Springfield.

In their initial attempt in 1969, the Players' entry of Van Itallie's "War" received Honorable Mention and two of the five major awards, "Best Director" and "Best Supporting Actress," and, as a result of their notable showing, they were invited, and accepted, to make seven guest appearances with the Enter Actors Guild at the Fenwick Theatre, Holy Cross College, Worcester.

With their condensation of Genet's "The Balcony" in 1970, the Players were selected for the finals, and last spring, they were the only group to enter an original, unproduced one-act play into the competition.

This year's entry, an original and whimsical "who-dunnit" for youngsters, is staged and directed by Daniel Kosow of Chestnut Hill, with musical direction by Tim Thorman of Newton Centre. It has a book by Peggy Simon and Sue Lawless, with lyrics by Peggy Simon and music by John Clifton.

The yarn of mirth and mystery was produced originally last fall as the first of three productions on the Players' regular annual schedule. However, due to critical acclaim received in Boston and suburban newspaper and magazine reviews, and the many inquiries from organizations that followed, the Players agreed to tour again with the show this spring.

The chorus, under the direction of Ruth Boynick, includes Beth Gilboard, Ryna Jackson, McDonough, Susan Perlmutter, Lee Pinkofsky, George Rosen, Soni Tick and Susan Wolf.

Working on production are Mikki Krassin, stage manager; Sandy Deming, producer; Bertram Krassin and John Deming, scenic design; Dianne Floyd, wardrobe; Jimmy Sloane, sound; Margaret Annis, Anne Kosow and Lisa Thorman, props; Benjamin Berg, lighting technician; Michael Petievich, lighting assistant; Martin Cohen, Joe Colella, John Deming, Allyn Pinkofsky, George Rosen, Irving Sloan and Gene Tick, stage crew; and Andy Urban, practice pianist.

The Festival will raise the curtain with performances on Thursday, May 25, at 7:30 p.m. Competition will continue on Friday at 7:30 p.m. and two sessions will follow on Saturday, at 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Final presentations will be given on Sunday at 1 p.m. and the four top-ranking groups will compete for "Best Production '72" on Sunday, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Community theatre enthusiasts and the general public are invited to attend, but are cautioned that no one will be seated during a performance. Registration fee for the entire Festival is three dollars, or one dollar per single session.

The Newton Country Players are a non-profit, philanthropic association comprised of local residents who, as an avocation, are actively engaged in the development, expansion and assistance of theatre activity on community and educational levels. The theatre provides an opportunity for valuable experience and participation in creative art; also, a demonstration of what can be accomplished through a cooperative volunteer effort.

Jewish Women Hear Drinan In New York

Congressman Robert F. Drinan was the guest speaker at the Northeastern District Convention, National Council of Jewish Women, recently at the Concord Hotel in New York.

Congressman Drinan reported on the up-to-the-minute activities of the United States Congress. He stressed that foreign policy must dictate towards international peace through the immediate withdrawal of troops from Southeast Asia, the elimination of programs designed to increase our "overkill" potential, and better international communication regardless of philosophy of government.

He described in detail what the United States is doing to help in the emigration of Soviet Jews to Israel. Most exciting recent event in legislation last week is the favorable report out of the Foreign Relations Committee on the Soviet Jewish Refugee Assistance Act of 1972, which will furnish $85 million to absorb the anticipated 40,000 new immigrants from Russia to Israel. It is hoped that this bill will be enacted.

The Congressman also highly praised the tenets of the National Resolutions of National Council of Jewish Women, stating that they follow his own principles, and encouraged Council to continue to implement them.

Council's four priorities, not in specific order are: 1. Health, Education and Welfare; 2. Individual Rights and Responsibilities; 3. World Peace; 4. Jewish Security and Identification.

Controller Of Sacred Heart

S. Murray Simmons of Peabody has been appointed controller at Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

Simmons will be responsible to the Vice President for Business and Administrative Affairs for the general fiscal management of the college.

The new controller at Newton College has served as supervisor of accounting since last October. Prior to that time he was associated with Education Development Center in Newton, first as financial analyst and then as manager of project accounting.

Since 1967 he has also been a lecturer in accounting at the Northeastern University Evening Division.

He graduated from Lynn English High School in 1949, earned a B.S. in Business Administration from Boston University in 1953, and received an M.B.A. from Northeastern University in 1964.

Finishes Marine Combat Training

Marine Pvt. Nicholas J. McGrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas R. McGrath of 244 California St., Newton, has completed special combat training involving an assault on a heavily defended "enemy" position at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N. C.

He and other members of K Company demonstrated their offensive ability to a Norwegian Major General, a guest at Lejeune, and attacked and overran a simulated enemy position defended by several automated weapons and fortified bunkers.

Mrs. Rubin is a Candidate For State Representative

Mrs. Florence R. Rubin of 1504 Centre Street, Newton Centre, has announced that she is a Democratic candidate for the position of State Representative from the 13th Middlesex District composed of Newton Wards 4, 5, 6 and 8. She is seeking the seat recently vacated by Mayor Theodore D. Mann.

"As an active participant for several years in community and state affairs, I have become familiar with the concerns of the City of Newton and with the problems facing the metropolitan area in which we live," Mrs. Rubin said.

"Many of these problems, such as skyrocketing local property taxes and inadequate public transportation, can only be solved at the state level. I want to have the opportunity to use my time, energies and experience to deal with these growing problems through more effective state legislation."

Mrs. Rubin has had wide experience and held a variety of major offices in state and local organizations concerned with civic and government activities. As first vice-president of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts for this past year, she had the opportunity to work with state legislators and other top state officials on a number of important bills. During the past few years she has written and edited various papers on charter review and state governmental issues.

In addition, Florence Rubin recently was elected by Newton voters as a member of the Charter Commission and served as its Chairman. She has also served as President of the League of Women Voters of Newton, Treasurer of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts, a member of the Special School Buildings Commission, a member of the Mayor's Committee to analyze Local Fiscal Trends, a board member of the Hyde School PTA, the Weeks Junior High School PTA and the Newton South High School PTA. She is presently working with a committee of Newton aldermen to aid in the implementation of the new city charter.

Other positions she now holds include that of a Chairman of the Program Committee of the Newton Community Relations Commission, Director of Newton Junior College, and chairman of the Mayor's Advisory Committee Studying the Feasibility of Establishing a Department of Human Resources.

Mrs. Rubin received a B.A. degree from Cornell University and a Master's degree from Columbia University. She also completed a special graduate program in government at the University of Vermont. She has worked as a research chemist and taught chemistry, mathematics and history at public schools in New York and at Marycliff Academy in Winchester.

"An experienced perspective on a broad spectrum of state issues is one of the qualifications I would bring to the Legislature," Mrs. Rubin said. "Your representatives will have to take action on many important issues with which I am already involved."

"Money is the most serious problem facing the Commonwealth and property tax relief is a priority issue. Massachusetts needs a more equitable tax structure, a fiscal management system that will help us use the tax dollar more effectively, and increased aid to the cities and towns for education and other municipal services," Mrs. Rubin said.

"The need for reform of our courts and corrections system has become increasingly obvious during the past year," Mrs. Rubin added. "Massachusetts courts are not dispensing equal justice for all, and our prison system is not correcting the behavior of offenders. With the rising crime rate we must all be concerned about developing more effective corrections programs. At a recent citizens conference on the administration of justice, I was elected as part of a small group which is currently planning an active citizen effort to improve the quality of justice in the Commonwealth. "As a board member of this organization, I will be pushing for improvements in the selection, training and removal of judges, changes in courtroom procedures, and the transfer of funding for the courts from the counties to the Commonwealth. As a State Representative, I would hope to be able to translate public concern about the courts into effective judicial reform."

Florence Rubin's husband, Lawrence, is a physicist and Leader of the Instrumentation and Operations Group at the Francis Bitter National Magnet Laboratory, a basic research facility at M.I.T.

Their three children all attend school. Michael, 19, is a sophomore at Columbia University. Richard, 17, a senior at Newton South High, will be entering Brandeis University in the fall. Jeffrey, 12, is completing the 6th grade at the Hyde School and will be going to Weeks Junior High.

Openings Available For Centers' Nursery School

A limited number of openings still remain at the Newton Community Service Centers' Nursery School for the Fall of 1972, according to Anthony J. Bibbo, Executive Director of the Centers.

The program, supervised by G. Michael Gardner, according to Mr. Bibbo, is located at the spacious facilities of the First Unitarian Society at 1326 Washington Street in West Newton. The school year approximates that of the Public Schools.

It is a five-day week, Monday through Friday program, beginning at 9 a.m. until noon. Transportation is available. Children should have attained the age of three years, two months prior to the close of September.

Licensed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the program under Mr. Gardner's supervision is staffed by qualified teachers, assistants and students and maintains a desirable ratio of students to staff.

Generally the school is designed to provide an enriching childhood experience which is a continuation of their home environment. While stressing a pre-school education, the involvement of a variety of Newton's Community resources lends itself to the development of the whole child.

Applications are available by visiting the Newton Community Service Centers at 429 Cherry Street in West Newton or by phoning 969-5906 Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Annual Meeting Of Newton YMCA Is Held

The 95th annual meeting of the Newton YMCA was held May 17 in the auditorium at the "Y." YMCA Vice President Cooper Eastman served as master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Following a buffet dinner served by the "Y" Youth Department and the Leader's Club, the annual Business meeting, chaired by President Charles E. Smith, began. The first order of business was the election of directors for terms expiring in 1975 and trustees for terms expiring in 1976.

Elected directors of the Newton YMCA were William D. Barry, Dr. Lloyd M. Caplan, Frank A. Day, Cooper Eastman, Edward R. Eastman, Richard E. Graham, R. Bradford Hayward, Robert G. Henemuth, James H. Rogers, and the Rev. Thomas C. Whitehouse.

Youth representatives elected to the board were: George Domeniconi and Helen Moffet. Elected to the board of trustees were: Ernest G. Angevine and Howard Whitmore.

Next, the nominating committee, headed by Champe A. Fisher, presented nominees for clerk and treasurer of the association. Elected clerk was Eldred M. Peterson and Treasurer Sidney A. Marston.

Those present heard the 1971 financial report given by Robert Nickerson, a progress report on the "Y" building fund campaign by campaign steering committee chairman Cooper Eastman, and Charles E. Smith's president's message.

Following the business meeting "Y" executive director Chester L. Mosher gave recognition to three retiring directors, the Rev. William G. Berndt, Arthur A. Marr, Jr., and William E. Hopkins.

This year there were two recipients of the annual award for service, the first was presented to Mrs. Charles E. Rice was elected assistant treasurer.

Mosher, Mrs. Smith has given much time and energy to the Newton YMCA throughout the years. Most recently she has served a president of the Newton YMCA Women's Auxiliary, and during her presidency the Auxiliary held a number of very successful events which provided the "Y" with fund for equipment, college scholarships, camp scholarships, and a handsome gift to the "Y" building fund.

In accepting the award, Mrs. Smith paid tribute to all of those who had worked so hard and long with her to make the programs successful.

The second service award was presented to Mrs. Ann E. Graves by associate executive director Leonard D. Garfield.

Mrs. Graves, over the past year, has given the Newton YMCA countless hours of volunteer time and effort of a clerical nature and has been of tremendous help with the many things an organization like the YMCA must do to keep records up to date and its membership informed.

The speaker of the evening was Rabbi Earl A. Grollman of the Beth El Temple Center in Belmont and was introduced by the "Y" director, Bertram Martenson. Rabbi Grollman's presentation "The Most Difficult Subject in the World" dealt with the manner in which our society handles the tragedy of death.

Feeling that this was an area with which very few people are able to cope, Rabbi Grollman has devoted much study to this subject, especially dealing with the manner in which children are told about a loved one's demise.

At the close of the annual meeting the Newton YMCA Board of Directors held a brief meeting to elect the other board officers who would complete the slate. Re-elected were President Charles E. Smith and Vice President Cooper Eastman. Francis J. Rice was elected assistant treasurer.

Newton Recreation Department Events

Tennis Clinics

The Newton Recreation Department is planning both adult and youth tennis clinics for next month according to Recreation Supervisor William J. Barry. Instruction will be by members of the New England Lawn Tennis Association. Youth programs will be held in the afternoon while the adults clinics will be scheduled for the evening. Dates, times and locations will be announced soon.

Softball Leagues

All three Divisions of the Twilight Softball League are going well despite the ten or twelve rainouts so far. These games will be rescheduled, according to Barry. He also notes that the many one-run victories, four 1 to 0 shutouts, indicate the balance in the League this year.

Swim Registration

Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney announces that the advanced swimming program registrations held at the Mason-Rice School went extremely well and that the Department has received commendation from several parents whose children will participate in the Crystal Lake Swimming Program later this year.

Mini Bikes

Improvements on the two mini bike tracks off Winchester St., Newton Highlands, are being made, Bill Barry reports. Registration continues for use of the half mile and three-quarter mile trail. Last week there were 20 mini bike enthusiasts taking advantage of the program. Barry emphasizes that the parents of the young people using this facility can be assured all safety measures are observed.

Summer Activities

Senior Recreation Supervisor James E. Murphy reports that a total of 8,693 Summer Activities Schedules have been mailed to homes in Newton. The concerted effort to advise Newton people of the Recreation programs available during the Summer months was supported by over 80 Senior Citizens who live in the city's housing projects, Parker House, Horace Mann Apartments.

Three students from the Newtons have been placed on the Dean's List at Lasell Junior College in Auburndale with a 'B' average or better; they are:

Beverly J. Gerson - daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. David L. Gerson of 441 Lowell ave., Newtonville.

Maryanne Green - daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Deluca of 12 Orchard ave., Waban.

Debbie J. Mitush - daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vasil G. Mitush of 108 Thurston rd., Newton.

President Smith thanked out-going Treasurer Robert Nickerson for his fine past services and expressed his pleasure that Mr. Nickerson would continue as a director of the "Y."

South Baseball Team Streaks To Three Straight Victories

The week started badly for the Newton South baseball team. Bedford bruised South's ego with a seven-run first inning explosion and burst past the Lions into first place in the dual county league, but then the South diamond nine righted itself with three straight victories.

Bedford came out swinging and chased Lion hurler Paul Cormier in the first frame. The Whalers belted out 10 hits, including two doubles and two triples to leave the Lions reeling. South tried to climb back in the contest with a score in the bottom half of the first and two more in the third on a two-run homer by shortstop Noah Young, but still trailed 9-3 after three. South added a run in the fourth and two more in the sixth, but never really threatened to take control of the game.

Young and Ned Moan provided the entire offense for the Lions. Young also had a single, while Moan stroked two run-scoring singles.

Cormier was relieved by Jim Kavanaugh in the first inning, and Kavanaugh was replaced by Mark Fogel later on. Fogel turned in the best job. He didn't allow a run and struck out six.

After the dismal effort against the Whalers, South perked up again and ran off three consecutive wins. The first win was a very satisfying one. It avenged the Lions' only other loss this season, a 4-0 defeat by Westwood. This time Newton was on top, 5-1.

Tip Westwood

And of course, Newton South proved it can still win with mirrors. The Lions employed their favorite offensive weapon, the bunt, to take Westwood. Between heads up base-running and perfect squeeze-bunting, Newton South players on the basepaths make the opposition nervous. The usual result of their nerves is an error, either mental or tangible, and South often gets more runs than it deserves out of a ball hit five feet from home plate. That, exactly, was the situation versus Westwood. Rick Hyman earned an RBI in the first inning on a bunt and the Lions got a second score on the play when a Westwood fielder threw the ball into right field.

The other three Lion runs also came across on sacrifice bunts. Rich Izen collected two runs batted in and Elliot Low claimed the other as Westwood displayed a perfect imitation of the keystone cops.

So Newton South scored five runs on two hits, both singles. The hits came off the bats of Young and Moan again, but neither drove in a run.

While the Lion batters were creating havoc in the enemy infield Ken Lourie coolly fired a three-hitter for his third victory of the season. Laurie was very sharp, fanning 10 and walking only four. He allowed one run in the second inning.

The Lions nipped Wayland, 2-1, in a make-up game for their second win of the week. Two things won the game for South. The first was really a he-relief pitcher Jim Kavanaugh, and the second is really an old friend and getting to be more beloved than any he, or she, for that matter, could be — what else? — the bunt.

Wayland looked tough in the early going. The game was scoreless till the third when two consecutive singles and a walk off Newton South starter Steve Schertzer persuaded coach Neil McPhee to send for Kavanaugh.

Kavanaugh struck out the first batter he faced, but then walked a man to force in the lead run. But that was all the Warriors could muster.

The run looked very big for a long time, though. And after four complete innings it was still 1-0, Wayland. The Lions fought back in the top of the fifth. Robbie Shahan was safe at first on an error. McPhee replaced him with Rich Izen, who proceeded to dance off first and rattle the Wayland pitcher into throwing a pick-off attempt into the Atlantic Ocean. Izen was on third by the time the ball was retrieved. Man on third, less than two out. What does Newton South do? What else? Russ Small laid down a perfect suicide squeeze bunt, Izen flew down the basepaths and scored, 1-1. The winning run came in the seventh inning when Wayland handed the game over on a platter — an error. Pete Miller scored the game-winning after he reached base on a single.

South's usually prolific offense managed another mighty four hits in all. Loew, Shahan and Small joined Miller in the safety circle.

Kavanaugh allowed only one hit and one other base on balls in five innings of beautiful work. He whiffed six men. Wayland twirler Russ Moody pitched a very strong game, giving up four hits and striking out 11 batters.

It was very difficult to recognize the teams on the field the next day as the same two who had battled to a 2-1 decision on Thursday. They didn't look anything like each other.

Bomb Wayland

Newton South unleashed its new, hitherto unused secret weapon — hitting — to demolish Wayland, 17-5 in the Lions' wildest game of the year.

The last time Paul Cormier pitched he was driven to the showers by a seven-run first-inning. This time, his teammates reasoned, he deserved a better fate, so they opened the game with an eight-run outburst and followed up with three more in the second inning, just to make sure Cormier felt secure.

Don't get too excited. The Lions did pound out 17 runs, but they still didn't get an extra-base hit, which must be some kind of a record. The Lions had their fun with 13 singles, 11 walks, and four errors, for a total of 28 base-

South Lacrosse Team Defeats Medford 4-2

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Something good finally happened to the Newton South High lacrosse team — it won. After six straight losses the Lions recorded their third victory of the campaign over Medford High, 4-2. The win followed closely on the heels of a very discouraging 6-0 defeat suffered at the hands of Framingham North.

The Lion stickmen exploded for their second opening period goals against the winless Mustangs and then fought back a stiff challenge from the losers.

Rick Gordon, Mike McDonald, and Roy Linn tallied the early scores and then watched as Medford came back frighteningly fast with two goals of its own in the second stanza.

It was a 3-2 game, South, in the third quarter when Linn, the team's top scorer, blasted runners. For once the suicide squeeze didn't pull out the game.

Young crashed three hits, Small and Shahan added two and Loew, Ron Izen, Jon Rosenberg, Hyman, Moan, and Cormier each batted safely once. Rosenberg, Hyman, Moan and Shahan each cracked two RBI's and Young scored three runs himself.

Cormier was not overpowering on the mound, but was just good enough to win. He would have had to have been pretty bad that day not to be good enough to win. He ended up allowing ten hits, though.

Hopefully the Lion bat attack will get to be a habit.

With three games remaining on the schedule, South trails Bedford by one game. The three contests left are against Lincoln-Sudbury, Lynnfield and Acton-Boxboro but even if South wins them all Bedford has to lose at least once for the Lions to grab a piece of the Dual County League title. Regardless the Lions will be in the state tournament. It would be much nicer, though, to go as the number one representative of the Dual County League, rather than as its second fiddle.

his second goal to tie the contest. The defense, backlined by goalie Gary Ross, did the rest.

Framingham North peppered Ross with 19 shots and scored in every quarter to constantly thwart any Newton South comeback efforts after North's opening period 3-0 barrage.

Framingham, paced by two goals from both Carl Carney and Irv Hollis, notched single goals in the second, third, and final periods of play. Ross ended up with 13 saves.

The Lions, 3-6 on the year, have two more games this spring. This week they play Brookline and Lincoln-Sudbury, Lincoln for the second time. On April 21 South dropped a 4-3 decision to Lincoln to begin its losing streak. This time things may be different.

HS Tracksters Beat Rindge; Losing to Weymouth So.

By DAVID SOLOMON

Newton's track team took part in two romps last week, but in only one were the Tigers the winner. Weymouth South bombed Newton, 90-49, and then later in the week Newton beat Rindge Tech 93-47.

Newton won only four events against Weymouth, but in the 880 Co-captain Dave Douglas set a league record with a 1:56.8 time. Mark Seliman won the javelin with a good throw of 162 feet, three inches. Jim Shaw won the 100 in 10.5 seconds. Bob Womboldt won the low hurdles in 21.5 seconds.

Weymouth swept in the shot put, and set new school records in the shot, the mile, the relay and the pole vault.

Other Newton placers were Dave Douglas second in the triple jump, Paul Magliocca second in the long jump, Jim Shaw third in the long jump, Bill Seaward third in the high jump, Bill Fulton second in the high hurdles, Gary Fagelman second in the discus, David Egelson third in the discus, Peter Waxman third in the 100, John Womboldt second in the pole vault, Paul Magliocca second in the 220, Jim Schepser second in the 440, Bob Carleo second in the mile, and Co-captain Ken Gorfinkle third in the two-mile.

Against Rindge, things were reversed, as the Tigers won 11 of the 16 events. Newton also had two sweeps.

Bill Fulton won the high hurdles for Newton, and Mike Bates was second. Bob Womboldt won the low hurdles, and Mike Keefe was second. Dave Douglas won the 440 and Rosenthal took third for Newton. Douglas' time was 50.6 seconds. Bob Carleo won the mile in 4:47.3. David Kingsbury was second, and Brian Carey third. The two-mile was won by Ralph Gott, with Juan Sanchez taking second. Peter Dion was the shot put, and Mike Wargin took third. Mark Seliman won the javelin with a toss of 161 feet, three inches. In the high jump there was a tie between Ben Press and Bill Seaward, both of Newton, for first place. They jumped five feet, four inches. Paul Magliocca won the long jump, and Jim Shaw was third. Dave Douglas won the triple jump, and Bob Womboldt was 2nd. Joe Benn won the pole vault, John Womboldt was second, and George Hebard was 3rd for a Newton sweep. Newton lost the relay.

The Tigers finished up their regular season with a loss to Brockton on Saturday. Their final record was 5-3. This week is the Class Trials on Saturday. Monday the 29th will be the Class Championships, with the State Meet coming on June 3.

South Golf Team Still Undefeated

The streaking Newton South golf team smashed Lincoln-Sudbury, 6½-2½ for the second time this year, to remain undefeated and atop the Dual County League standings.

South, 7-0, picked up another half-game on defending champion Wayland last week, when the Warriors were tied, 4½-4½ by Acton-Boxboro.

Brian Corcoran posted the day's low score of 40 to spark the Lion win. Corcoran and his teammate Jeff Schneider accounted for 2½ points out of the winning total.

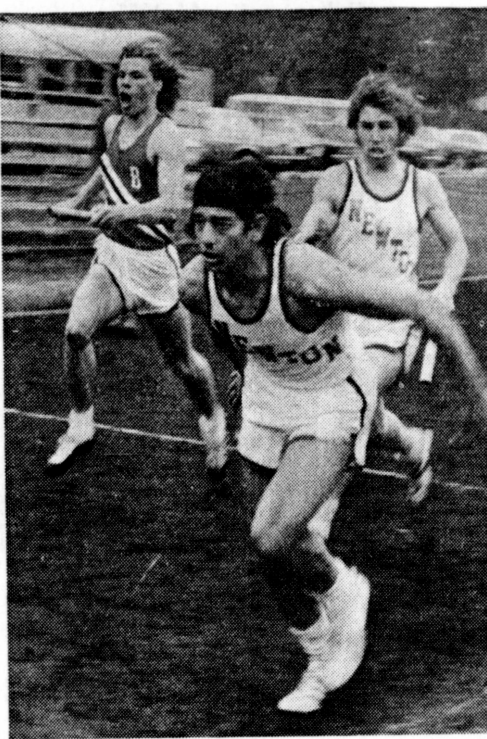

The duos of Jim Rosenberg and Bob Sherman and Steve Owens and Paul Hoffman, each tallied two points.

The Lions still have four matches remaining on their schedule and some of them are very tough. This week they will face Weston and Wayland. Two victories would virtually assure South of the league title. Then the following week South must face Bedford and dangerous Acton-Boxboro, a team which they beat by only a 5-4 score two weeks ago.

On Wesleyan Baseball Team

Pete Hicks of Newtonville recently set what is believed to be a new school record for fewest strikeouts in college baseball.

Hicks, a student at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn. finished the 1972 season with a .393 batting average, and appeared at the plate 65 times before going down on called strike. He plays third base.

South Runners Slaughter Lincoln-Sudbury 91-40

LEWIS H. FREEDMAN,
Ass't Sports Editor

It could be said that the Newton South High Track Team had its ups and downs, last week. The Lions peaked when they clobbered Lincoln-Sudbury, 91-40, for their second win of the year and then floundered as they were slaughtered, 95-36, by Acton-Boxboro.

The South triumph over Lincoln was the squad's biggest in at least three years. Everybody participated in the victory as the trackmen wracked up 13 first-place finishes, including the relay, eight seconds, and seven thirds. The Lions tallied sweeps in the low hurdles, and triple jump.

Co-captain Howie Haimes was the key man in the victory. Haimes earned a triple win by capturing the 100-yard dash in 10.8, the 440 in 54.3 and the long jump in 18-3, good for 15 points.

His co-captain Charley Applestein also had a notable day. Applestein, who has been steadily improving in the discus, won that event again with a good toss of 134½, took the shot-put in 41-11 and placed third in the 180 low hurdles, for a total of 11 points.

Chuck Linda and Mike McKinney were also double victors for the Lions. Linda topped the 880 field with a 2:12 run and edged the triple jump group with a leap of 35-8. McKinney captured his specialties, the 120-yard high hurdles in 17.7 and the high jump a 5-10, one of the best jumps of his career.

The trackmen also featured three single event winners. Howie Fruttkoff ran a good race to win the mile in 4:58. Dae Lelehook copped the 220-yard dash in 24.8 and Jim Paglia skimmed the 180 lows in 23.8. The Lion relay team also recorded its first win of the season. The team of Scott Barron, Dan Pearlman, Barry Kaplan and Josh Mann covered the 880 yards in an unpressed 1:41.

Though the 65 points derived from first place finishes were plenty South was aided heavily by good back-up finishes. Matt Williams, high hurdles and low hurdles, Mann, 100, Byron Ress, 2-mile, Mark Meyers, 220, John Mason, triple jump, Al Frankel, pole vault, and Meyers, a tie in the long jump, all scored second place points.

As well, single points were added to the total by Rich McMahon, 880, Charley Horioke, 2-mile, Barron, 440, Bruce Brown, discus, Kaplan, shot-put, and Meyers in the triple jump.

The results of the Acton-Boxboro meet were not nearly as happy. South didn't have nearly as good a time, either in the field or on the track. The quality of the winning marks in every event was very good.

The only Lion first-place winners were Haimes in the 440 in 55.2, McKinney, with the second best high jump of his career at 5-11. (His best was indoors at 6-0.) and Applestein, who unleashed the best discus throw of his life and one of the best in school history—138 feet, 6 inches.

Acton had some very impressive performers. Denny Shuttle showed where he got his name by shutting over the high hurdles in an exceptional 15.3 and then exploded for a fantastic 21.4 clogging in the 180 low hurdles. McKinney, who had a great day, blasted a very good 16.3 in the highs but found himself starting at Shuttle's dust. McKinney added a third in the lows, again behind Shuttle.

Haimes scored twice with seconds in the 100 and long jump, besides his quarter-mile victory, but had trouble with Acton speedster Jack Webb. Webb scored a 10.2 100 and then recorded a 23.8 220.

The remaining Newton South points were tallied by Mann, third in the 100, Fruttkoff, second in the 2-mile, Linda, third in the 880, Barron, second in the 440, Kaplan, third in the shot-put, Scott Teracono, third in the pole vault, and Lelehook, third in the 220.

Newton South is now 2-31 on the season.

Tiger Golfers Win Pair 9-0

By DAVID SOLOMON

Two weeks ago Newton golf coach Jim Ronayne commented that Newton would have to beat Brockton to win the Suburban League. But Newton didn't and they still may.

The Tigers lost to Brockton 6½ to 2½ at Brae Burn, Newton's home course on May 15. Dan Curtis and Bill Tramanazzi won one point for Newton, and Mike Bove and John Carvelli earned one and a half points.

The match hurt Newton, but because they came back to win two successive matches by shutouts, they are still in first place.

On May 16, the Tigers shutout Weymouth North 9-0. Dan Curtis and Paul Johnson, Jim Coleman and John Carvelli, and Mike Bove and Jim Johnston each had three points apiece. Johnston had the low score in the match, a 38.

On Friday, Newton white washed Waltham, 9-0. Curtis and Johnson, Coleman and Carvelli, Bove and Kevin Ball were the winning combinations for the Tigers.

YMCA Chickamini Pool Open For Youths June 24

On Ripon Golf Team

Jim Curtis, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Newell H. Curtis of 70 Summer St., Newton, scored an 88 in a recent golf match at Ripon College in Ripon, Wis., against Beloit. Ripon won the match 439-445, and Curtis was the third highest scorer.

Tiger Net Team Seeded 1st In E Mass Team Tournament

By DAVID SOLOMON

Newton's tennis team almost lost its first Suburban League match in a long time last week. With three of their top players not competing the Tigers barely beat Arlington, 3-2. Coach George Jessup noted that "perhaps we were looking past this match and our other easier contests."

The Tigers were saved by a decisive point in second doubles by Steve Freeman and Robert Low. They won 6-0, 6-3. Other victors for Newton were Tom Fentin in second singles, 6-0, 6-1, and Joe Mitchell in first singles 6-4, 6-2, and Rich Yanofsky and Matt Schreiner lost in first doubles 6-4, 8-6. Newton had beaten Arlington 5-0 the previous week.

The netmen had three other league matches last week. Against Weymouth South on Tuesday the score was 5-0. Carl Kravitz won first singles

6-2, 6-1. Joe Mitchell won second singles 6-1, 6-0, and David Solomon took third singles 6-2, 6-4. In the doubles Steve Shulman and Steve Freeman won 6-0, 6-0, and Rich Yanofsky and Matt Schreiner won 7-5, 6-3.

On Wednesday the score was 5-0 against Waltham. Kravitz won first singles 6-0, 6-1. Rich Birmingham won second singles 6-0, 6-2, and Mitchell won third singles 6-0, 6-0.

After the Arlington match, on Friday Newton beat Brockton 5-0 in a league playoff match. The top teams in the league play a round robin at the end of the regular schedule to determine final places. Joe Mitchell played first singles and won 6-1, 6-2.

Steve Freeman won second singles 6-3, 6-4, and Rich Yanofsky was victorious in third singles. His scores were 6-7, 7-5, 7-6.

Tom Fentin and Matt Freeman is 3-1.

Schreiner won first doubles 6-2, 6-1, and David Solomon and Steve Shulman won second doubles 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Newton has now won fifteen straight matches since an opening-day loss to Newton South. The E Mass Team tournament begins next Tuesday and Newton was seeded first, Framingham North second, Weston third, and either Needham or Wellesley fourth. Newton will play Hingham in the first round, and either Needham or Wellesley in the next.

Joe Mitchell and Rich Birmingham are still undefeated with 14-0 and 12-0 records, respectively. Co-captain Tom Fentin has a 12-1 record, and co-captain David Solomon has a 11-21 mark. Carl Kravitz has a 7-5 individual record. Steve Shulman is 11-5. Rich Yanofsky is 11-3. Matt Schreiner is 7-2, and Steve Freeman is 3-1.

Jack Starr Returns To Lead South Netmen To Five In Row

One week ago things didn't look too bright for the Newton South tennis team's defense of its state title. The Lions had suffered a discouraging 3-2 loss to Weston to drop out of contention for the Dual County League crown and coach Bob Franke just couldn't find the right solid combination for his seven-man line-up.

However, last week the Lions looked awfully good. South swept past five opponents, three regularly scheduled teams and two make-ups of rained-out matches. In order, South blitzed Acton-Boxboro, 5-0, Bedford, 4-1, Westwood, 5-0, Wayland 5-0 and the Warriors again, 4-1.

South also received some unexpected help from a player thought to be sidelined for the season. Jack Starr returned to line-up and appeared completely recovered from a knee injury which was supposed to keep him out of the year. Starr helped solidify the line-up and put an end to Franke's juggling act. Starr's comeback is a tremendous morale boost for South as well as his physical presence on the court.

Acton-Boxboro tumbled back appearance in this match and teamed with Rich Karol, 6-0, 6-1, and Mike Kaitz for an impressive and very convincing 6-0, 6-1 triumph in first doubles.

Another new face for South was that of Jeff Lovin, a sophomore in his first varsity action. Lovin played with Rich Kaitz, 6-0, 6-2 were invincible in the doubles slots.

Bedford was the next victim. Surprisingly, the one point the Lions lost was in first singles. Mescon went down in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4 to Paul Shimelfyne, a player he beat the first time around. Karol and Charness scored in second and third singles, respectively, and Oppenheim, teamed with Altman, and Cornblatt and Kaitz, also won for the four points.

South tamed Westwood for the second time by a shut-out, 5-0 score, last week, but Westwood must have been flabbergasted by the line-up that did it in. South had a very new look on the court. Jim Cornblatt was the only regular overwhelming decision over in the starting line-up. It didn't matter. South's destruction of Westwood could hardly have been more complete. Karol occupied first singles and doubles contests versus the handled it to the tune of 8-6, 6-0. Mark Altman won second singles, keeping possession of games while Altman lost in Franke's juggling act. Starr's comeback is a tremendous morale boost for South as well as his physical presence on the court.

By DAVID SOLOMON

Newton's baseball team had its first winning week of the season, but a loss on Friday ended any mathematical hopes for the Tigers to make the E Mass Tournament.

Newton beat Rindge Tech and shutout Waltham to give them a 7-5 league record before falling victim to Weymouth South.

Newton had not beaten Rindge Tech in two years until they squeaked by them 3-2 on May 16. Rindge scored first in the third, and going into the sixth inning held a 2-1 lead. Newton scored single runs in each of the last two innings. In the sixth a line single by Russ D'Argento scored Bill Vello from third base. Then in the seventh Ed Beckler singled and Paul Goldman walked. Dave Boyajian singled in the winning run.

Paul Goldman relieved Paul Austin in the third inning, and picked up his fourth win of the season. Goldman struck out seven and walked two. The Tigers outhit Rindge, 6-5.

Against Waltham on May 17, Newton ended the Hawk's eight game winning streak. Junior Ed Beckler pitched his first complete game ever, and got his first win of the year.

The regulars were back in the line-up the next day and now coach Franke has the line-up he wants for the rest of the season and the state tournament.

"Explorer Day" Gives Children Chance To Examine Adult World

New words, hobbies and ideas will be on the agenda June 3 when children at the John Ward School in Newton have an opportunity to venture into the world of adult occupations and interests on "Explorer's Day."

The event is sponsored by the John Ward PTA. The day's adventures will take "explorers" to more than 30 places in which parents have offered to act as guides to their respective "worlds." The students will have an opportunity to learn how to hook a rug, and make pottery, batik, won-ton or crochet designs.

They will also be able to take trips through hospitals with demonstrations of special equipment and a session on X-Ray reading in store for them.

Eager scientists will have a chance to study the workings of the heart when they have an opportunity to dissect a cow's heart and are introduced to the staff of a community newspaper and local radio station.

The mysteries of being backstage will be revealed to those interested at Symphony Hall and so will the inner workings of the projection booth of a movie theater.

The more adventurous explorers will also be allowed to find out how things work in the cockpit of an airplane and the control tower at Logan Airport.

A boat trip to George's Island will be used to provide background into the Civil War. The Garden City will not be the day's finale.

Emergency Ward Treatments Mirror Change of Seasons

It was a wild weekend, May 13-14, at Newton-Wellesley Hospital — just under 200 people coming to emergency for help, 109 of them packed into the 24 hours between 7 a.m. Saturday and 7 a.m. Sunday.

While there were some life and death and some very serious situations, including four coronary arrests and some admissions involving more than the usual emotional trauma — a good share of the emergencies reflected the season. It is something to note.

In the winter months, the emergencies are winter-related: skidding cars, fractures from slips on ice or skiing, coronaries and snowblower accidents. The mishaps by and large also involve an older age group.

But come spring and the out-of-doors weather, and things start happening to kids — they get hit in the mouth with a baseball, step on nails or broken glass, fall off bikes, or their bikes tangle with cars, or they are allergic to bee stings. Also, there are more cars cruising around just for the ride, and with longer hours of daylight, there is more time for out-of-door accidents to happen.

On Saturday, 33 people were brought into emergency between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m.; 62 between 3 and 11 p.m. and 14 on the late shift from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. Eight-five were treated in emergency during Sunday, with four surgical procedures that night — but these figures are more "normal." Of all of these people, 13 were admitted to the hospital.

The emergency monthly statistics are broken down by major and minor accidents, surgical and medical admissions. The major emergencies are admitted to the hospital, the minors are those that get treated and discharged.

Last month, 41 major accident cases were admitted, there were 13 major surgical admissions and 127 major medical. Minor accident cases totaled 1,253; there were 182 minor surgical procedures and 340 minor medical cases.

All the emergency skirmishes on the past weekend suggest that Johnny Q. Public should enter the balm weather season with caution. Good road conditions invite speeding and with more joy riders on the road, just as much caution is needed, maybe more, than on those snow covered or ice slick winter roads. And don't forget, added to the good weather hazards are the kids on bicycles.

The emergency people who do all the patching up would probably be the staunchest supporters of anti-litter and clean-up campaigns because every day they see the results of that broken discarded coke bottle and all the other potentially lethal debris we carelessly throw around.

The emergency unit can be, and was on more than one occasion during the past weekend, just as tensely dramatic as its television counterpart. Unlike television, it can also have its dull moments. And quite unlike television, it ministers as well to a lot of grubby little nicks and bruises and minor catastrophes of life that aren't exciting enough to be immortalized on the screen but are quite important enough to you if you are the member of the community looking for emergency help at your community hospital.

Volunteers Needed For Newton Research Project

The Massachusetts Department of Mental Health and the Massachusetts Mental Health Association have issued a call for volunteers to help with an in-depth inventory of all the mental health and related resources in Newton.

Mental health and related community resources have grown considerably in number and scope over the past several years in response to community needs. Because of this growth, it becomes increasingly difficult for both the public and the professional to acquire accurate information about the many services available.

For this reason, the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health and the Massachusetts Mental Health Association are cooperating in the compilation of a Resource Directory for the entire State.

Volunteers are needed for a total of approximately ten hours, at their convenience during the day, and will interview Directors and representatives of agencies in order to obtain accurate and useful data about the services in this community. Please phone the Area Office of the Department of Mental Health at 969-5917 as soon as possible to join the interview team.

There will be a brief training meeting for volunteers on Friday, June 2, at 9:30 a.m. at the Area Office in the Grace Church, 76 Eldredge Street, Newton Corner. Information and a sample questionnaire will be distributed prior to the meeting.

Convalescent Center News

The Newton Convalescent Center, 25 Armory Street, West Newton, has published its latest issue of the NCC NEWS. Highlight of the paper was a story about residents Joe Melody and Patrick McGowan of Newton, who were reunited at the Center after not seeing each other for 59 years.

On May 12 Stephen York of Holbrook, student at Boston University, gave a piano concert. He played a large selection of classical pieces.

Upcoming events will be the second annual picnic to Ware's Cove in Auburndale. Residents will have lunch cooked on outdoor barbeque pits by the Charles River.

On May 26 Andy Caroselli of Watertown will perform for the monthly birthday party. Residents whose birthdays will be celebrated are: Mrs. Minnie Liner, Mrs. Vallee Barnes, Mrs. Antonia Curatolo, Miss Viola Eastman, Cesidio Dalcandro, Sidney Grell, Miss Ruth Kierstead, and Miss Mary Riley.

June 8 is the evening for the second "Cabaret" night at the Center. Charlie Chaplin films will be shown while refreshments are being served. On Sunday, June 25, the third annual cook-out will be held in the parking area. Residents and their families will be on hand for a barbeque lunch and an afternoon of fun and entertainment.

Good road conditions invite speeding and with more joy riders on the road, just as much caution is needed, maybe more, than on those snow covered or ice slick winter roads. And don't forget, added to the good weather hazards are the kids on bicycles.

The emergency people who do all the patching up would probably be the staunchest supporters of anti-litter and clean-up campaigns because every day they see the results of that broken discarded coke bottle and all the other potentially lethal debris we carelessly throw around.

The emergency unit can be, and was on more than one occasion during the past weekend, just as tensely dramatic as its television counterpart. Unlike television, it can also have its dull moments. And quite unlike television, it ministers as well to a lot of grubby little nicks and bruises and minor catastrophes of life that aren't exciting enough to be immortalized on the screen but are quite important enough to you if you are the member of the community looking for emergency help at your community hospital.

Volunteers Needed For Newton Research Project

The Massachusetts Department of Mental Health and the Massachusetts Mental Health Association have issued a call for volunteers to help with an in-depth inventory of all the mental health and related resources in Newton.

Mental health and related community resources have grown considerably in number and scope over the past several years in response to community needs. Because of this growth, it becomes increasingly difficult for both the public and the professional to acquire accurate information about the many services available.

For this reason, the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health and the Massachusetts Mental Health Association are cooperating in the compilation of a Resource Directory for the entire State.

Volunteers are needed for a total of approximately ten hours, at their convenience during the day, and will interview Directors and representatives of agencies in order to obtain accurate and useful data about the services in this community. Please phone the Area Office of the Department of Mental Health at 969-5917 as soon as possible to join the interview team.

There will be a brief training meeting for volunteers on Friday, June 2, at 9:30 a.m. at the Area Office in the Grace Church, 76 Eldredge Street, Newton Corner. Information and a sample questionnaire will be distributed prior to the meeting.

Mr. Finn has long been active in the growth of Brandeis. He is the Greater Boston jewelry trade chairman for the "Brandeis 25 Annual Giving Program" campaign which seeks $10 million annually in unrestricted funds by the time the University celebrates the completion of its 25th academic year in June of 1973. ## Registration For Voters To Be Held Today

Mayor Theodore D. Mann has announced that voter registration will take place today (Thursday, May 25) at Newton South High School from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

It is hoped that students will take advantage of this service being brought directly into the schools, thus enabling them to register without interrupting their schedules by having to go to City Hall.

Mayor Mann stated that a committee has been working to develop a program for senior high schools to help acquaint the prospective voters with the offices, election procedures, and government structure in Newton.

Alan W. Licarie, Executive Secretary of the Newton Election Commission and director of the committee, stated that the need to inform voters of all ballot aspects is very much in existence and that the number of blanks left on ballots due to the lack of knowledge on the part of the voter, is high.

The committee's aim is to incorporate this learning program into the Social Studies curriculum. It would encompass full explanation pertaining to: Office of the Mayor, County Offices, State Offices, Board of Aldermen, School Committee, the Charter, Referendum Procedures, Initiative Petitions, the procedure of obtaining Absentee Ballots.

The committee is made up of North and South students; Margaret Smith and Mrs. Rose Simon, from the League of Women Voters; Dr. Wayne Altire, Social Studies Department Head, Newton South; and Paul Weisberg, representing the Social Studies Department, Newton High.

Guest speakers from local government have been invited to attend, in order that they may be questioned as to their opinion for the most effective way to implement this program into the curriculum.

Dr. Altire has consented to develop, over the summer, subject matter which might result in this course being introduced into the social studies programs.

Leash Law Violations Are Rising

Spring is running rampant in Newton and so are many dogs.

Citizen Assistance Officer Jonathan L. Hacker said recently that the number of complaints on leash law violations has been increasing. He asked that Newton residents cooperate with law enforcement and leash their animals.

There are 6,000 dogs licensed in the city, and the city can prosecute violators of the leash law.

The fines are apparently too low to deter some people from allowing their dogs to run freely, but the Police Department is considering filing legislation to have the minimum fine raised from the present levels of $2 for the second violation up to $10 for the fourth violation and all violations in excess of four.

In order to prosecute, the dog officer must witness the violation, a procedure which Hacker said is time consuming and sometimes gives people a chance to leash their animals before the dog officer arrives. 1971 police records show 1,206 impoundings under the law.

Impounded dogs go to an animal hospital in Newton Highlands. The cost of keeping the animal at the hospital must be paid by the owner if the dog is licensed in Newton. The city picks up the tab for stray dogs.

Students At Warren Act 'Like It Is'

May 12 marked the second time in two years that the black students of Warren Jr. High School surpassed their own expectations in their production of "Like It Is."

Along with their white classmates in the black studies class (who worked as ushers, stage and light crew and ticket takers) the METCO and Newton black students combined their talents to thrill and move the 400-plus audience as they presented their version of the trials and progress of the black man from his African beginnings to the present day.

The story, told through poetry, dance, song, and drama, was the product of the imagination of Linda Jordan, Warren's first black 8th grade class president; and its production, this year came about through the determination and energy of Othelne Neisler, black studies teacher.

The audience, divided equally between white and black was unanimous in its praise of the "class" and professionalism of the participants — this due in large measure to the coaching of Helen Butler, Brandeis drama student.

A result of the show's success has already created a demand for an annual event of this type at Warren.

Receives Award For Excellence In Architecture

The American Institute of Architects' Guild for Religious Architecture announced recently that Willoughby M. Marshall, a Newton resident, is a recipient of a national Honor Award, given annually in recognition of a project judged to have architectural excellence.

In citing the University of Maine's Newman Student Center in Orono, the architectural jury noted its "consistent geometric form and color of furnishings, arranged for multiuse and changing moods of students, all of which was reflected in the form and scale of exterior elements."

This is the second time Mr. Marshall has been so honored by this professional group. In 1968, St. Peter's Church on Mt. Desert Island, Maine, received a similar award. Actively engaged in the practice of architecture for the past 20 years, Mr. Marshall, a graduate of the University of Notre Dame, has offices in Cambridge, and resides with his wife and family at 164 Kirkstall Road, Newton.

Newtonite Is Appointed

Attorney Norman Holtz, of Newton, is shown with his son, Herbert, and Governor Francis Sargent who recently appointed him a commissioner with the Mass. Commission Against Discrimination.

Job Bank Acclaimed By Youths And Adults

Newton Job Bank, established in response to requests from Newton's High School students, continues to receive praise by both the youth seeking employment and adults and businesses offering jobs, according to Anthony J. Bibbo, Executive Director of the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc., the administering agency.

In commenting on the program, Mr. Bibbo stated that the success of the Newton program has become widespread throughout other communities and it is serving as a model in many cities and towns. The program is funded through the city of Newton through the Newton Youth Commission, headed by Hank Barry, Chairman. Stafford E. Davis provides the professional leadership for the Youth Commission.

Martin Cohen, who has been with the program since its inception, is the Senior Counselor for the Activity. He is assisted by Miss Mary Carlinne Voss.

The process of this free service, according to Mr. Cohen, includes the following steps:

1. Youth seeking employment files an application at 429 Cherry Street in West Newton.
2. Employer seeking youth list openings via the phone or in person. Job bank staff request allowing for three days notice.

3. Job Bank staff then match the appropriate youth and job.

4. Both employer and employee are requesting to file a simple evaluation at the conclusion of the work arrangement.

Presently, a push is being made to seek summer employment for Newton's youth. Both short and long term jobs are sought. Tasks may vary including in the long list: grasscutting, babysitting, window washing, stock boys, pet care, delivery service, store clerks, and numerous others.

To list a job or for additional information on Newton Job Bank, please phone 969-5908 Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Electricity At Franklin Sparks Debate at School Board Meeting

Electrical problems at The Franklin School caused heated debate at the School Committee meeting Monday night, in a session involving allegations of a "communication gap" between school officials and their staff, and occasional interjections by Franklin School parents in the audience.

The entire problem stemmed from what Mrs. Eleanor S. Rosenblum, Member from Ward 2, called "an overload on the main electrical system" at the Franklin School building on Derby st. Last week the problem necessitated the calling in of electricians to perform emergency repairs.

The action prompted talk of potential electrical fires arising from the overload, and several concerned parents were in the audience Monday at the School Committee meeting, worried for their children who attend classes at Franklin.

Mrs. Rosenblum made allusions to a "total lack" of communications in certain cases, that there was "no interaction" on some instances "between staff and the school. We have some things to answer for in our own department," she stated.

Admitting that "Franklin is a problem," John E. Gilleland,

Assistant Superintendent for Business Services, claimed that he "didn't like the allegations." He went on to assert that the Franklin project could be alleviated by a capital outlay. "We went to the aldermen," Gilleland said, "and they voted $35,000 for this. We requested the money be turned over to the School Committee and it was turned over to the Building Department."

Alvin Mandell, Member from Ward 8, said that Boston Edison should "be called in to see the load demand" at Franklin. He went on to say that much of the modern educational equipment was taxing the load now. "We're being victimized by the educational process," he continued.

Chairman Manuel Beckwith ordered Gilleland to prepare a complete report on the Franklin problem, including "a list of people involved" with the electricity situation, which the Assistant Superintendent must have available at the next School Committee on June 12.

A man in the audience, apparently a father of a Franklin pupil, excitedly requested that copies of the report be made public. This demand would be met according to Superintendent Aaron Fink.

An estimated 1,300 friends and members of the family paid their respects to the Francis A. Tesoro family. Mr. Tesoro and his children Vincent, Maria, Frances and Frank Jr., perished in a tragic fire that swept their Waban home at 35 Amherst st. last Tuesday.

More than 300 children, school friends of the Tesoro children, gathered at the church an hour before the mass began. They also walked the one mile to Newton Cemetery for graveside services.

Msgr. John L. Parsons, pastor of St. Philip Neri, celebrated the mass, attended by the only survivors of the blaze, Mrs. Marie Tesoro and her son Michael, 16.

Also present for the service were Msgr. William A. Granville, pastor, and Rev. John W. Corcoran of Sacred Heart Church in Newton Centre, and Rev. Charles J. Bourque of St. John's Seminary in Brighton.

Newton's Orchestra Will Perform in Boston June 4

The Newton Symphony perform in concert at the Boston Esplanade. These free outdoor concerts at the Hatch Shell provide the public with a marvelous opportunity to bring their entire family to enjoy good music in a relaxed and informal atmosphere on the banks of the Charles.

The orchestra is already rehearsing for the appearances in its usual rehearsal quarters at the Meadowbrook Jr. High School. The open rehearsal on June 3 will be tantamount to a concert, with very few stops expected to be made. The "Arlington" or "Charles Street" MBTA stops make the Hatch Shell easily accessible; parking is provided next to Storrow Drive with access to the Esplanade by footbridges over the drive.

When picnicking is the order of the day anyway, Newton families would do well to picnic on the Esplanade so as to take advantage of the Park Commission's offering.

In the event of bad weather, rain dates have been set. Should it rain on June 3, the open rehearsal would be held on Sunday afternoon, June 4 at 2 p.m. Should it rain on the evening of June 4, the concert will be held on Monday, June 5, at 7:30 p.m. If in doubt as to whether any event is postponed, call Mrs. Clapper at 244-0011.

The Esplanade Concert will be the last appearance the Newton Symphony will make this season. It very recently gave a most successful concert, featuring Joseph Silverstein as violin soloist in the performance of two violin concerti.

The orchestra is already planning its next season during which Mr. Silverstein will give an American premiere performance of a concerto by the American composer Alexander Goehr.
